Barred in Missouri by Democrats.

INDIANA.

The Republican state committee of Indiana voted last night to consider an inquiry into charges that the votes of thousands of aliens helped elect Gov. Henry F. Schricker, Democrat, over his Republican opponent, Glen R. Hillis. (Details on page 8.)

WASHINGTON.

The Washington state legislature will meet jointly today to canvass the vote by which Mayor Arthur B. Langlie, Republican of Seattle, defeated C. C. Dill, former United States senator, for govrnor. (Details on Page 8.)

WEST VIRGINIA.

The senate today will face a seating contest when two West Virginians will claim the right to succeed Senator Matthew M. Neely, who resigned to become governor of West Virginia. (Details on page 8.)

Jefferson City, Mo., Jan. 13 [Special].—Republican Governor Elect Forrest G. Donnell appealed to the state Supreme court today for a writ of mandamus to compel Morris Osburn, speaker of the house, to issue a certificate of election which would permit him to be inaugurated.

Forrest G. Donnell.

This action was taken after the Democratic controled legislature prevented Donnell's inauguration. Meanwhile Gov. Lloyd C. Stark, a Democrat, will remain in office. Other state officers—all Democrats—including the lieutenant governor elect, Frank G. Harris, were permitted to take office without question.

Donnell was barred from inauguration by a joint session vote of 101 to 78 after a Democrat controled joint committee recommended such action. The move to keep Donnell out of office after he had defeated Lawrence McDaniel, his Democratic opponent, by 3,613 votes, according to official election returns, was started by C. M. Hulen, Democratic state chairman.

Charges Widespread Fraud.

Hulen told the legislature he had made an investigation in various parts of the state and found evidence of widespread vote frauds. More than 1,819,000 votes were cast in the election last November. The legislative resolution which barred Donnell from office today also authorizes opening of ballot boxes wherever the Democrats desire.

A court decision on Donnell's petition for a writ probably will not be forthcoming for two weeks because of the time required for hearings, preparation of briefs, and consideration of the case by the court.

Stark will stay in office under a provision of the constitution which provides that "a governor shall serve until his successor is duly elected and qualified."

Gov. Stark commenting on the refusal of the legislature to seat Donnell as his successor said:

"All the able constitutional lawyers I have talked with agree that the duly elected governor should be seated as required by the constitution and the contest, if any, then can be carried out according to the constitution."

Charges Evasion of Duty.

Donnell's petition to the Supreme court charges that Osburn is evading his constitutional duty by refusing to accept the official election returns and declare him entitled to office. Osburn countered with a statement that Donnell's election was indicated only by the official returns and not by an official count, altho he did not question the returns in the cases of members of his own party.

Republicans gained 13 seats in the Missouri house and two seats in the senate last November as a result of increasing rural revulsion against the Democratic political machines in Kansas City and St. Louis. The house now contains 85 Democrats and 65 Republicans. Five Republicans and 28 Democrats have been seated in the senate.

In the joint legislative session which barred Donnell from office, 70 Republicans and eight Democrats voted to declare him elected. Five Democrats did not vote and the other 101 voted against him.

ROOSEVELT AIDS READY TO LIMIT TIME OF POWER

Other Concessions Also Discussed.

BY ARTHUR SEARS HENNING.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Jan. 13.—Seeking to quell the storm of protest at the dictatorship features of President Roosevelt's bill to supply unlimited arms and munitions to Great Britain, Greece, and China, administration leaders today opened the way to modifying amendments.

Speaker Sam Rayburn [D., Tex.] said he "certainly wouldn't oppose" a time limitation on the enormous powers the bill proposes to grant the President "if the limit ran concurrently with the emergency."

"As to setting a definite time, such as 90 days or six months or some other specified period," he added, "that's another matter."

Representative John W. McCormack [D., Mass.], majority leader of the house, said that "some suggestions" for amendment of the bill "have been from the constructive angle" and broadly intimated that the administration forces are ready to make concessions to the opponents of the unlimited grant of warmaking powers to the executive.

Loan Security Suggested.

Senator Walter F. George [D., Ga.], chairman of the senate foreign relations committee, said that while he "unqualifiedly" approves the objective of the proposed legislation he ventured the opinion that the President would not object to an amendment providing that "reasonable security" be given by the borrowers of armament. Such security, he said, might take the form of goods needed by the United States, such as tin and rubber.

[American interests are negotiating for the purchase of "direct" British investments in United States properties which may total 850 million dollars. Details on page 21.]

The senate committee will decide on Wednesday whether to begin consideration of the measure at once or await action by the house, the foreign affairs committee of which will open hearings on it on Wednesday. Noninterventionist members of the senate committee will contend for the regular order which would be to await receipt of the bill from the house.

Two to Lead Senate Fight.

The Republican and Democratic noninterventionists will have a bipartisan leadership in the senate battle. Senator Burton K. Wheeler of Montana, who led the successful fight against Mr. Roosevelt's scheme to pack the Supreme court, has been chosen as the Democratic co-leader. The Republicans will pick either Senator Arthur H. Vandenberg of Michigan or Senator Robert A. Taft of Ohio.

Representative Sol Bloom [D., N. Y.], chairman of the house foreign affairs committee, announced the beginning of hearings on Wednesday. The first witnesses are to include Secretary of State Cordell Hull, Secretary of War Henry L. Stimson, Secretary of the Navy Frank Knox, and Secretary of the Treasury Henry Morgenthau Jr. Bloom plans to rush the hearings to completion in three days and report the bill to the house for action the first of next week.

Revised Version Introduced.

Representative Kenneth F. Simpson [R., N. Y.] introduced in the house a revised version of the administration bill, differing from the President's measure in only two particulars. It would limit the grant of power to two years and it would confine the loans immediately made to the British commonwealth of nations and Ireland. Loans could be made to other nations only by concurrent resolution of congress.

The Simpson bill represents the views of Wendell Willkie, with whom the New York congressman said he had conferred by telephone before offering the revised draft of the administration measure.

Simpson Explains Position.

Simpson said that if his amendment prevails the President, to lend armament to China or the De Gaulle "Free French" faction, would be required to ask congress for the authority. Granting Mr. Roosevelt unlimited power to select the countries, he said, is "the one phase of this bill which comes nearest to giving President Roosevelt the right to de-

HUNDREDS JOIN ANTI-WAR DRIVE

America First to Send Protests to Capitol.

Hundreds of letters, telegrams, and telephone calls, all demanding rejection of President Roosevelt's dictatorial aid to Britain bill as a threat to American democracy, poured into the offices of the Chicago chapter of the America First committee yesterday.

Mrs. Janet Ayer Fairbank, vice chairman of the Chicago chapter, termed the response "more than gratifying." She said more than 2,100 protests were received yesterday, "and we expect a deluge tomorrow."

Extra Operators Called.

Extra switchboard operators will be on hand today in the chapter offices at 80 E. Jackson boulevard to receive calls from persons who want to keep the United States out of the European war. The telephone numbers are Wabash 5473, 5474, 5475, and 5476.

The names and addresses received at America First headquarters will be sent to the congressman of the district in which each person lives, attached to a protest against the bill.

"The immediate reaction to this measure that is almost certain to lead the United States into war proves that the great majority of the American people will make themselves heard when their liberties are threatened," Mrs. Fairbank declared.

They Tell Their Friends.

"Almost every one who calls tells us that his friends are writing or wiring their senators and congressmen. Some are asking their friends to telephone five others urging protest letters and telegrams."

Miss Harriet E. Vittum, head of the Roll Call of American Women, said its 10,000 members in 42 states have been asked to send letters to their congressmen calling for the defeat of the bill.

The 60,000 members of Joint council No. 25 of the international teamsters' union were asked to join in the protest by Leslie G. Goudie, president.

Anti-War Legislators Want Gag on Ex-Envoys Removed

BY CHESLY MANLY.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Jan. 13.—Senate noninterventionists expressed hope today that two Roosevelt ambassadors soon would be free of the diplomatic muzzles which have enjoined their silence on the European war and the part this country should take therein since the Presidential election last November.

John Cudahy.

Altho Joseph P. Kennedy, ambassador to England, submitted his resignation last Nov. 6, and John Cudahy, ambassador to Belgium, resigned on Nov. 28, President Roosevelt kept diplomatic gags upon them by deferring acceptance of their resignations. Cudahy's resignation was accepted on Dec. 30, but the effective date is Jan. 17, which is next Friday.

Needs a Successor.

Acceptance of Kennedy's resignation was made contingent upon the appointment of his successor, who thus far has not been named. His friends, however, assert that he is champing at the bit, yearning to tell what a disaster it would be for this country to enter the European war.

The senate noninterventionists are convinced that the dispatch of Harry L. Hopkins to London as Mr. Roosevelt's private emissary or Col. House, was concerned in some way with the efforts to keep Kennedy's mouth closed. They believe that Hopkins was sent on his unofficial mission either to obviate the immediate necessity of appointing an ambassador, which would unmuzzle Kennedy, or to gather from British sources information to be used against Kennedy if he should break his silence.

Anxious for War Bill.

The administration is believed to be especially anxious to keep Kennedy quiet until congress has disposed of Mr. Roosevelt's war powers bill. The noninterventionists, on the other hand, are determined to get him before the senate foreign relations committee if possible while the bill is under consideration.

Kennedy was an administration hero last October when he returned from London to his home in Boston, Mass., and made a campaign speech for Mr. Roosevelt, professing the solemn conviction that the President, if reelected, would keep the country out of war. On Oct. 30, Mr. Roosevelt fulsomely acknowledged his gratitude for the speech of "my ambassador" and made another pledge "to you mothers and fathers—your boys are not going to be sent into any foreign war."

Smear Campaign Waged.

Since the election, however, the administration propagandists have waged a concerted smear campaign to destroy Kennedy in the popular esteem. Not even Col. Charles A. Lindbergh has sustained a greater barrage of vilification. Among the milder epithets hurled at him are "appeaser," "pro-Nazi," "anti-Semitic," and "defeatist."

Kennedy has reiterated his belief that the United States should stay out of the European war. His views on such questions as the desirability of a negotiated peace, which side is likely to win if it is fought to a finish, and what the consequences will be in England regardless of the military decision, have been expressed only in private conversations with the exception of an interview which he later repudiated. The Boston Globe on Nov. 9 quoted him as saying in an interview that "democracy is finished in England."

Recall of Cudahy.

Ambassador Cudahy's experience has been even more mysterious in some respects than Kennedy's. In August, 1940, he was rebuked by the state department and ordered home after British and American newspapers quoted him as saying in a London interview that 8,000,000 people in Belgium would face starvation unless Britain should relax the blockade and permit the entry of food from the United States. Cudahy also defended the surrender of the Belgian army by King Leopold and commended the conduct of the German soldiers in Belgium.

23,000 WRIGGLE AT PACKED-TIGHT INAUGURAL BALL

BY MARCIA WINN.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Springfield, Ill., Jan. 13.—They must have thought it a command performance, the 23,000 persons who received invitations to the governor's inaugural ball.

That was the only interpretation Edwin L. Ryerson Jr., chairman of the ball, could place on the vast crowd that filled the armory here tonight and overflowed by the thousands to dance on the marble mosaic corridors beneath the rotunda of the state house itself.

"Every one's come who got an invitation," Mr. Ryerson observed, as he gazed incredulously out over the heads of the throngs who, packed closer than any sardine that came out of a can, gazed in turn back at the stage where he, a throng of other dignitaries, Wayne King's orchestra, and Eddy Duchin's orchestra sat.

Mrs. Barr's Explanation.

As good an explanation of it as any was offered by Mrs. Richard J. Barr of Joliet, wife of the dean of the Illinois senate. She came on crutches, wearing beneath her turquoise crêpe dinner dress a plaster cast, fashionably dressed in a zippered suede stocking, which concealed a broken right leg. Some one remarked that it took courage for her to come.

"Courage?" repeated Mrs. Barr. "It would have taken courage to stay home. We don't inaugurate a Republican here every day."

The governor's party was delayed some 45 minutes in its scheduled arrival at the ball by another surprise. This took place at the executive mansion, where the governor and Mrs. Green held a reception. They expected a few hundred callers. They received uncounted thousands who lined up four abreast and hundreds deep in the mansion driveway, to be admitted into the mansion in groups of 20.

Leo M. Boyle Officiates.

Adjt. Gen. Leo M. Boyle presented each caller to the governor and Mrs. Green.

Mrs. Green, smiling and vivacious, wore a bouffant white net evening dress, the bodice shimmering with gold and silver sequins. It had a deep square neck and brief cap sleeves. She wore 16 button gloves. Her flowers, white camellias and violets ["because they're the state flower," she confided], were pinned to her white seed pearl bag.

All the state officials were in the receiving line and all were dressed to the hilt. Only two of the men dared to appear in dinner jackets and black ties; all others were in white ties and tails. Most of the women wore extremely décolleté dresses.

Dancers Just Sway.

At the ball, all accepted modes of dancing were ruled out by 10 o'clock. There was no space. One daring young thing, barely clad in pale blue taffeta, managed a hula-hula on the shoulders of four strong young men, and a few others danced in the dark recesses backstage or in the exits usually reserved for ambulance space, but no one danced on the floor. They swayed in a multitudinous daze.

Two thousand persons had seats in the balcony. Some who wisely came equipped with opera glasses were fortunate. They, for instance, could get good views of the governor's two young daughters, Nancy, who is 13 years old, and Gloria, who is 9. They wore long, pale pink dresses, clasping old-fashioned lace-edged clusters of pink carnations.

Gaiety in Corridors.

The overflow dancers at the state house probably were the real winners of the evening. Not only was the music of the ball properly relayed to them by public address system, but also the marble floor had been freshly waxed, the marble corridors were interminable and—no one asked to see your invitation. You just walked in, and danced.

A few were there in evening dress, but the majority, who danced with imagination, abandon, and vigor, were young and in sweaters or short skirts.

"Gee," said one, "why can't they do this oftener than every four years?"

INAUGURATION PICTURES.
Turn to the back page for a full page of pictures on the inauguration of Dwight H. Green as governor of Illinois.

BY PARKE BROWN.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Springfield, Ill., Jan. 13.—Gov. Dwight H. Green of Illinois tomorrow will appoint 8 of the 10 members of his cabinet and at least two of his personal aids.

Today, as he described it, was the biggest day in his life. It opened with his inauguration, a formal ceremony in the state armory in which he described his hopes and plans for his four year administration.

Taking office with the new Republican governor were these other Republicans: Hugh W. Cross, Jerseyville, lieutenant governor; George F. Barrett, Chicago, attorney general; Arthur C. Leuder, Chicago, auditor of public accounts, and Warren Wright, Springfield, treasurer.

Hughes Only Democrat.

Secretary of State Edward J. Hughes was the only Democrat. He was sworn in for his third term, the only member of the Democratic administration to survive the November election.

Gov. Green pledged economy in all state departments, urged immediate removal of the sales tax from food, and lashed out at bosses and scandals in high places.

As commander in chief, he met the officers of the National Guard. A huge reception at the mansion followed, and then, running far into the night, came the most pretentious inaugural ball in the state's history.

Time for Hard Work.

As Gov. Green left his box in the armory—where thousands still were dancing to the music of big name bands—and went to spend his first night under the roof of the mansion, he said that he knew full well the time had come for work, hard work, and plenty of it.

Green will walk into the governor's office in the capitol building in the morning for the first time. His first job will be signing the papers necessary to send to the senate the nominations of four of his department heads.

The same number of appointments are expected to be ready for a postmidnight session of the senate, held at that hour because it will mark the arrival of the third legislative day, which will permit passage of emergency appropriation bills for relief, old age assistance, and blind pensions.

Replace Stelle Appointees.

These eight appointments will include directors of the departments of public works, finance, public welfare, conservation, mines and mining, insurance, agriculture, and registration and education—posts now held mostly by Democrats appointed by Gov. John Stelle, who served since Gov. Henry Horner's death last October.

For the present Gov. Green will not name his directors of labor and of public health. The former post is held by Martin Durkin, a Horner appointee. It is understood Green intends to study the union situation in Illinois before selecting Durkin's successor. The department of health is under the direction of Dr. Roland C. Cross, a Stelle appointee, and Green has not selected his successor.

Chapman to Be Secretary.

The new governor was uncommunicative as ever about his selections, a fact taken as further support of a widely spreading conviction that it is his purpose to let his actions speak for themselves, and not to announce his decisions in advance.

Only one appointee became known with certainty. National Committeeman Werner W. Schroeder, accompanied by Harry S. Canfield, who is to handle the administration's pub-

WHEELER WARNS FILM MAKERS ON WAR PROPAGANDA

He Threatens Corrective Legislation.

Washington, D. C., Jan. 13 (AP).—Senator Burton K. Wheeler [D., Mont.] wrote Paramount News today that "the propaganda for war that is being waged by the motion picture companies" might make necessary some legislative restriction "unless the industry itself displays a more impartial attitude."

The senator sent a copy of the letter to Will Hays, who supervises the motion picture industry.

Wheeler told a press conference that "the motion picture industry is doing a terrific job of war propaganda," and added that he had information that "the administration is encouraging propaganda pictures."

Accuses Mr. Roosevelt.

Mr. Roosevelt, Wheeler said, is "using every agency at his command in trying to whip up the emotions of the people and make them war minded."

The text of Wheeler's letter follows:

"Will you kindly inform me when, if at all, you intend to carry my answer to the President's most recent fireside chat? And what, if anything, you are going to do about carrying both sides of the controversy on pending legislation which directly involves the question of war or peace?

"This question is so important that I believe the people should insist not only on equal radio coverage for both sides of this highly controversial question, but that newspapers and the motion pictures should do the same.

Threatens Legislative Action.

"The propaganda for war that is being waged by the motion picture companies of this country is reaching a point at which I believe legislation will have to be enacted regulating the industry in this respect unless the industry itself displays a more impartial attitude.

"Many complaints are coming to me and to other members of congress to the effect that the motion picture industry is carrying on a violent propaganda campaign intending to incite the American people to the point where they will become involved in this war. As you well know, the motion picture and newsreel is one of the great agencies for molding public opinion of this country, and if we are going to preserve this nation as a democratic republic, it is highly essential that both sides of each question be presented.

"I sincerely hope that you will call this to the attention of your people as I am fast coming to the conclusion that legislation should be enacted to remedy the present situation."

Bulk of U. S. Plane Output Sent to Britain, House Quiz Reveals

BY WILLARD EDWARDS.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Jan. 13.—Airplane manufacturers told the house naval affairs committee today that they know of no additional authority which President Roosevelt needs to increase aid to Great Britain so far as the production of fighting aircraft is concerned.

Burdette Wright.

Plane factories are expanding as rapidly as possible and are sending most of their output to the British at present, the committee was told.

Moreover, Burdette Wright, vice president and general manager of the Curtiss airplane division, Curtiss-Wright corporation, asserted that mass production of airplanes in this country cannot be obtained until types are standardized. And standardization does not appear to be imminent, he declared.

Blame Red Tape for Delay.

The committee, headed by Representative Carl Vinson [D., Ga.], is inquiring into the causes of the bogged down defense program. It has been told that government red tape, resulting in long delays in the actual awarding of contracts; the tardy expansion of plane factories, and a shortage of skilled labor and machine tools are among the causes responsible.

Asked when a real expansion of the aircraft industry would be effected, Wright estimated that it would be six to nine months before actual production of planes would be stepped up. His own plant, now turning out the equivalent of eight pursuit planes a day, will be on a 40 planes a day basis by July, he said.

Asked About Speed-Up Steps.

L. R. Grumman of the Grumman Aircraft and Engineering corporation was asked whether he knew of any action congress might take to speed the production in his plant. He said he had no recommendations. He was then asked by Representative James W. Mott [R., Ore.] whether the President needs any additional grant of authority to increase the number of planes his company would be able to send to Britain.

The witness replied that his plant at Beth Page, N. Y., soon will reach a production of 40 fighters a month for the United States navy and that this is the maximum for which the navy would be able to supply engines during the next 18 months.

The differences between this figure and maximum production of his plant, Grumman said, would be taken up by planes for Britain, for which the British are able to supply American engines. He said his company recently completed one order for Britain and is negotiating a new one.

Expansion Nears Completion.

Grumman said his company would complete a $3,500,000 plant expansion in March for the production of 286 United States navy torpedo bombers, for which the design has not been completed. It is now completing an order of 55 aircraft carrier fighters for the navy and will start on a new order of 497 immediately. All the planes now being delivered, he said, embody improvements ordered by the navy after air observers had returned from Britain.

Wright said his company has navy contracts for 300 scout observation planes and 678 scout bombers. Plant expansions in Buffalo, Columbus, O., and St. Louis will cost $24,100,000. It will be next December before his company will begin deliveries to the navy because the contracts were not awarded until last December. A six months' delay was caused, he said, by the navy's decision to order a new type of plane.

Suggests Survey of Industry.

Commenting on the admitted lack of skilled labor in the aircraft industry, Chairman Vinson asserted that production in nonmilitary industries must be cut down in order that the labor may be made available for military items. He indicated the committee would also recommend a government survey to determine the number of skilled laborers in nonmilitary industries who could be drafted by the aircraft industry.

Representative Melvin J. Maas [R., Minn.] proposed creation of a director of aircraft production with powers approaching those of the British plane production chief, Lord Beaverbrook.

"A survey of the aircraft industry," Maas said, "shows that the one thing above all others which has caused great confusion is the number of government agencies handling aircraft procurement. There should be one man in authority at the top."

The house voted down a motion by Representative Andrew J. May [D., Ky.] to transfer the administration bill from the foreign affairs committee to the military affairs committee of which he is chairman. May said that while wholly in accord with the measure he believed it should receive thoro consideration, a veiled suggestion that it is scheduled to be railroaded by the ardently interventionist Chairman Bloom.

Various proposals dealing with the national defense program were introduced in the house.

Allen Sponsors Proposal.

Representative Leo E. Allen [R., Ill.] sponsored a resolution directing the appointment of a select committee of 15 to investigate all contracts and expenditures made by the war and navy departments during the 77th congress. Noting that military expenditures will probably approach 25 billions in the next five years, Allen recalled the squandering of taxpayers' money during the world war.

Representative E. E. Cox [D., Ga.] introduced three bills. He proposed that congress create a joint committee to keep members currently advised of government operations in connection with the national defense. Another measure would provide for formal ratification by congress of the 50 destroyer deal with Britain, and the third would establish a national defense administration to take the place of the office of production management established by the President's executive order.

PRINCESS FACES ARREST BECAUSE SHE WON'T LEAVE

Deportation Warrant Is Issued.

Washington, D. C., Jan. 13 (AP).—The justice department said today that immigration agents had served a deportation warrant on Princess Stephanie Hohenlohe-Waldenburg in Palo Alto, Cal.

The princess, who entered the United States on Dec. 22, 1939, traveling on a Hungarian passport, was granted one extension of her visitor's visa but was denied a second. She had agreed to leave last Saturday, the department said, but she notified immigration officials on Jan. 6 that she was suffering from a nervous condition and was unable to travel.

Suffering from "Hysteria."

Two officers of the United States public health service later certified she was suffering from "hysteria," and apparently was too ill to travel.

"However," the justice department added in its announcement, "the princess' own physician stated to immigration service officials that she was obtaining and taking sedatives which had not been prescribed, and this was largely responsible for her physical and mental condition. He indicated that she would continue in that condition so long as she continues to take sedatives."

Princess Hohenlohe has been characterized in the British house of commons and elsewhere as a Nazi sympathizer. She has denied having any part in Nazi propaganda and has retained an attorney to fight such accusations.

Arraignment on Friday.

Arrangements were made with the attorney, Joseph J. Bullock of Redwood City, Cal., for service of the warrant, the justice department said, and the princess will be arraigned on Friday at the immigration station in San Francisco. Bail of $25,000 will be asked.

CANAL SOLDIERS WARNED TO AVOID 'HASTY' REMARKS

PANAMA CITY, Panama, Jan. 13 (AP).—United States military personnel in the Panama Canal Zone was instructed today to avoid giving information to visitors from the United States which might be used for "unfavorable" public statements by the visitors on their return home.

An announcement from the office of Lt. Gen. Daniel Van Voorhis, commander of the Canal Zone department, disclosed that he recently wrote the war department concerning publication "of unfavorable military and political information relating to this department and the Republic of Panama." It added:

"We should be ever mindful that a little knowledge is a dangerous thing; that flippant and hasty remarks may be taken seriously and may result in the wrong interpretation by the listener and in unfavorable publicity."

Only general officers authorized by department headquarters will be permitted to answer questions concerning types of material and the amount and quality of ammunition in the Canal Zone.

NO WAR LEADER CALLED IN U. S. CAMPAIGN QUIZ

New York, Jan. 13 (AP).—Verne Marshall, chairman of the No Foreign War committee, was subpenaed today to appear in Washington tomorrow before the federal grand jury investigating campaign expenses.

In disclosing here that he had been subpenaed, Marshall said he did not know why, but "assumed" it was because he was the committee chairman.

"It should be emphasized once more," he said, "that the purpose of the No Foreign War committee is to prevent the United States from being dragged into Europe's endless economic war, which has nothing whatever to do with the ideals of true democracy, and to prevent the lending, leasing, or giving away of our national defenses, so long as the President continues to warn us of the imminent peril of aggression upon us."

COL. M'CORMICK TELLS LOUISIANA PURCHASE DEAL

Emissaries Hypnotized by French, He Says.

The Louisiana purchase and the events leading up to it were described last night by Col. Robert R. McCormick, editor and publisher of THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE, in an address over W-G-N and the Mutual Broadcasting system. The address was made on the Chicagoland Concert hour.

Col. McCormick said American anger flamed after the Spanish government sought to make trouble for France by abrogating the treaty which allowed American produce to pass thru New Orleans. As a consequence, American emissaries were sent to Europe to buy New Orleans from France and to try to buy the Floridas from Spain.

"Ensued one of those incidents which were to become commonplace in our diplomatic history," Col. McCormick said. "Our emissaries were completely hypnotized. The French diplomats persuaded them not even to see the Spaniards. Instead of buying New Orleans and Florida for 10 million dollars, or less, from Spain, they were sold Louisiana by France for 15 million dollars."

TEXT OF ADDRESS

"We have seen that when La Salle descended the Mississippi river from Lake Michigan to its mouth, he claimed the entire watershed for his king. Fur traders followed him and trading posts were established thruout the region, of which the principal one, St. Louis, was strategically located near the confluence of the Illinois and Missouri rivers with the Mississippi, as upon a crossroads of two great highways.

"La Salle then went to the gulf coast by sea, only to be murdered by his followers. It remained for Le Moyne to found the city of New Orleans after other efforts at settlement had failed; for d'Iberville to organize the colony.

"When France ceded Canada and Louisiana east of the Mississippi river to Great Britain in 1763, she secretly gave New Orleans and everything west of the river to Spain.

Florida Conquered from British.

"The only event of historical importance during the period of Spanish sovereignty was the military genius displayed by Gov. Bernardo de Galvez, a young man in his 20s, who marched an army into Canada as far as St. Joseph during the revolutionary war, and conquered Florida from the British.

"Americans now moved into the Northwest Territory, Kentucky, and Tennessee; developed the fur trade; felled the forests, and produced a surplus of foodstuffs for export. Their only avenue to the world was down the Mississippi river and thru New Orleans.

"The Spanish colonial authorities who had worked harmoniously with the Americans during the revolutionary war favored this trade and allowed the transfer of freight from river to ocean bottoms for shipment to Spanish, French, or American ports.

Seek to Dominate Valley.

"The Spaniards, still thinking imperially, sought to dominate the valley and even encouraged American settlements west of the Mississippi, as at New Madrid. The settlers, in turn, having their communications with the world thru New Orleans, and cut off from the original states by the mountains, formed various projects for western governments—to the consternation of the United States authorities in Washington.

"Meanwhile the French monarchy fell; the Directory succeeded the revolution; and as order came out of chaos, France's imperishable desire for a colonial empire revived and found expression in the imperious mind of First Consul Bonaparte. This ingenious French soldier-diplomat traded an Italian duchy to Spain for Louisiana.

"However, before the transaction was consummated, war became imminent, and Napoleon calculated that American money would buy war supplies, and that Louisiana in American hands would embroil that country with Britain, so he instructed his ministers to sell Louisiana to the Americans for 50 million francs.

Treaty Is Abrogated.

"By this time the Spanish government had become dissatisfied with its Italian duchy in which French generals gave the law and collected the taxes, and sought to make trouble for France by abrogating the treaty which allowed American produce to pass thru New Orleans.

"American anger flamed. The federalist minority, seeking to capitalize the situation, clamored for a march on New Orleans and, as has often happened, forced a policy upon the party in power.

"Jefferson was constrained to send Monroe to Europe as ambassador to buy New Orleans from France; also to try to buy from Spain the Floridas, between whom and the United States were many controversies and much friction.

Emissaries Are Hypnotized.

"Ensued one of those incidents which were to become commonplace in our diplomatic history. Our emissaries were completely hypnotized. The French diplomats persuaded them not even to see the Spaniards. Instead of buying New Orleans and Florida for 10 million dollars, or less, from Spain, they were sold Louisiana by France for 15 million dollars.

"It is interesting to note that the king of Spain, having delayed signing the treaty with France until shortly before France delivered possession to America, the outraged French prefect utilized his brief reign to reinstate French law as it had been before the reforms of Napoleon, and this is still the law of Louisiana.

"The treaty with France provided that French wines should always enter Louisiana free from duty, which part of the treaty became a scrap of paper in 1920 when national prohibition was enacted.

Largest Single Acquisition.

"When the treaty was ratified by the senate and the payments appropriated by congress, the republic came into possession of the largest single acquisition in its history—a land running from the subtrópics to the subarctic, from the Mississippi river across the Rocky mountains, from fertile river bottom to barren mountain top, and desert; farming country, grazing country, mining country.

"To the west of this domain a new frontier a thousand miles long had been created, over which the restive American pioneers gazed hungrily at the lands of the dying empire of Spain. To the south of the old states, the Floridas remained filled with intrigue and disorder.

"How this explosive condition burst into a whole series of wars, we shall begin to explore next week."

THE CONCERT HOUR

The highlight of the musical part of the concert hour was the singing of four Scotch folk songs by Marion Claire, soprano, accompanied by the W-G-N chorus and concert orchestra under the direction of Henry Weber.

The medley was composed of "Ye Banks and Braes of Bonnie Doon," "Loch Lomond," "The Campbells Are Coming," and "Annie Laurie." Miss Claire also sang Mendelssohn's "On Wings of Song" and Sir Arthur Sullivan's devotional "The Lost Chord."

The concert opened with the orchestra playing Jules Massenet's overture from "Phadre." Other orchestral numbers included works by Moritz Moszkowski and Anatol Liadow. The program was directed by William A. Bacher. John Wiegel was the announcer.

Stranded Liner Is Close to Shore

(Story in adjoining column.)

[Associated Press Wirephoto.]

LINER REMAINS AGROUND; 200 TAKEN ASHORE

Cutters Fail to Pull Huge Vessel Free.

West Palm Beach, Fla., Jan. 13 (AP).—Coast guardsmen, working in a moderately high sea, removed the last of 200 passengers from the grounded luxury liner Manhattan tonight and brought them safely ashore. The crew of 556 remained aboard.

The nearest thing to a mishap ended happily when guardsmen grabbed a woman who nearly fell overboard while being lowered to a surf boat.

Plans were made to have the tug Willet, using kedge anchors to take advantage of swells lifting the ship, attempt early tomorrow to pull the 24,000 ton Manhattatn free.

The coast guard cutters Vigilante and Mojave tugged for several hours today in a futile effort to free the steamship.

The passengers were taken off 20 at a time in a coast guard surf boat and transferred to the Vigilante for conveyance to the Palm Beach inlet dock.

Accommodations for Passengers.

The Seaboard Airline railway was commissioned to take back north any who wished to return, with temporary quarters arranged for the others at the Palm Beach Biltmore hotel.

The passengers, bound on a pleasure cruise from New York to San Francisco, Cal., by way of the Panama canal, displayed little excitement.

Sightseers in hundreds of automobiles from the swank Palm Beach winter resort area jammed the ocean highway for a glimpse of the Manhattan, which loomed close to shore.

The ship presented a colorful picture, with a huge flag painted on her side for identification as a refugee vessel, and with red, white, and blue stripes on the two funnels. The Manhattan was used previously to ferry war refugees from Lisbon, Portugal, to the United States.

Cause Is a Mystery.

Why the Manhattan struck bottom last night in clear, relatively calm weather, no one was prepared to tell. Most southbound vessels hug the southeast Florida coast to avoid bucking the gulf stream. Whether the boat hit an uncharted reef or wandered off course were points which remained to be cleared up.

In New York the United States Lines, offering no explanation for the mishap, said that the liner would be brought back to New York as soon as she is refloated.

WHEELER CALLS WILLKIE AS WAR MINDED AS F. D. R.

Washington, D. C., Jan. 13 (AP).—Senator Burton K. Wheeler [D., Mont.] said tonight that Wendell L. Willkie "is just as war minded as President Roosevelt," and then suggested that the chief executive appoint him secretary of state or ambassador to Great Britain "so we will have a completely war minded administration."

Wheeler referred to Willkie's statement endorsing generally the administration's aid-to-Britain legislation.

Off to London in Two Weeks.

New York, Jan. 13 [Special].—Wendell L. Willkie's tentative plans for his trip to England within the next fortnight provide for two traveling companions, it was reported today. The state department is understood to have approved passports for them. The two are John Cowles, Des Moines and Minneapolis publisher, and Langdon K. Thorne, sportsman and director of several corporations. The defeated Republican Presidential candidate announced plans for first hand observations in England yesterday in supporting the dictatorial "lend-lease" bill with "certain modifications."

ORDER MEXICO CITY POWER OFF 2½ HOURS DAILY

MEXICO CITY, Jan. 13 (AP).—Effective today, all light and power service in Mexico City and the federal district will be cut off between 11 a. m. and 1:30 p. m. daily and all stores, business houses, and factories will be required to close at sundown.

The orders, dictated by the ministry of national economy after a survey of the district's water resources for power production indicated the capital might suffer a total "blackout" unless electric consumption were reduced, brought many protests.

An unusually light rainy season and overtaxing of power facilities were responsible for the shortage.

REPORT SHORTAGE IN INDUSTRIAL HEALTH EXPERTS

The number of industrial health specialists in the country is inadequate, the third annual Congress on Industrial Health was told yesterday by Dr. C. O. Sappington, of Chicago, as it opened a two day session in the Palmer House. He added that the requirements of an industry expanding under defense needs is so great that it "will probably take a whole generation to provide the necessary number of properly and adequately educated specialists, after first building up the required teaching staffs."

A nationwide survey showed that only 1,283 of the 120,000 physicians who answered questionnaires can be considered "actually competent" in the field of industrial medicine, Dr. Sappington said.

Studies showing that twelve industrial workers must be kept in good health to maintain one effective combatant in the armed forces were cited by Dr. Irvin Abell, chairman of the health and medical committee of the Council of National Defense, and of the committee on medical preparedness of the American Medical association.

BLOCKADE HELPS BRITAIN'S FOES, FRENCH ASSERT

Say 'Collaboration' of Europe Is Forced.

BY DAVID DARRAH.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

VICHY, France, Jan. 13.—French public opinion is beginning to react strongly to the English blockade, with winter making the plight of the country more desperate.

The question is being raised whether the blockade is not defeating its own purpose and driving the European continental nations into closer collaboration and "autarchy." The blockade, it was said by diplomats, may turn attention here more and more toward Russia and the possibility of getting supplies from there.

Bitterness is particularly centered on Prime Minister Winston Churchill as the author of the blockade and he is now outspokenly called France's "famisher."

Doubts Blockade's War Worth.

These considerations are dealt with today by Lucien Romier in Figaro. In an article entitled "Reflections on Blockade," he says it is doubtful if a blockade is an effective weapon of war and declares military decisions never are reached by inflicting suffering on civilians, but only by successes of armed forces in the field.

"For eight months we conducted a war almost without diminution of comforts and yet were defeated," he says.

Lays Woes to 1918 Blockade.

Napoleon's continental blockade did France more harm than good, Romier adds, and goes on to say, "It is notoriously a fact that memories of the blockade suffered in the world war determined the conceptions and calculations of Germany in striving for its redressment. This, in turn, had its influence on the calculations and conceptions of other states in adopting their policy. In many aspects autarchic and totalitarian doctrines are the products of the blockade of 1918."

This passage appears to be a warning to the English not to drive the French too hard. The writer adds:

"The blockade is a direct violation of the natural law of exchanges of goods. If you suppress exchanges of goods you drive nations to seek means to replace their lines of dependence.

Cites a Peril Ahead.

"One of the striking paradoxes of contemporary history is the fact that England, the mother of liberalism, is the great promoter of the blockade system, which surely kills liberalism. If the present blockade of continental Europe must last a long time there is no doubt that the mutual dependence of the European states on one another will become more and more close and the autarchic unity of our continent will be realized merely by the force of circumstances.

"And there is no doubt that the former equilibrium of relationships with other continents will thereby find itself upset—an event which will not be without grave surprises for other continents."

All Jews in Netherlands Given 6 Weeks to Register

THE HAGUE, the Netherlands [via Berlin], Jan. 14, Tuesday (AP).—All Jews must register within six weeks in an official "list of populations," under a decree issued today by the German commissioner for the Netherlands. Persons having only one Jewish grandparent will be classified as Jews, the decree held, and a grandparent who belonged to a Jewish congregation will be regarded as a full blooded Jew.

BRITISH WARSHIP HALTS 2D FLIGHT OF FRENCH SHIP

MONTEVIDEO, Uruguay, Jan. 13 (AP).—The 8,000 ton French freighter Mendoza was reported steaming back to Montevideo tonight from an apparently frustrated second attempt to run home thru the British Atlantic blockade.

A report from Punta del Este, 100 miles east of Montevideo, said the Mendoza was seen returning to this port after she had put out from Maldanado bay about noon today. The vessel had not arrived in port tonight.

The British auxiliary cruiser Asturias, whose challenge of the Mendoza last night drove it back, had been reported lying outside the mouth of the River Plate, ready to give pursuit again.

The Mendoza first left here last night with a cargo of chilled beef, canned meat and wool.

Uruguayan Foreign Minister Alberto Guani was reported to have protested the halting of the ship within the Pan-American neutrality zone. Guani himself said he was waiting to determine where the interception occurred.

British officials said the Mendoza's representatives had not asked for a navicert, the naval certificate which would let her pass the blockade. They added that if the Mendoza had succeeded in cracking the blockade four other French merchantmen now at Buenos Aires would have been ordered out in an effort to duplicate the feat.

BRITISH CONTROL AIR IN THIRD OF LIBYA, THEY SAY

Claim 560 Italian Planes Already Destroyed.

CAIRO, Egypt, Jan. 13 (AP).—Royal air force squadrons ranging far ahead of Gen. Sir Archibald Wavell's land forces have gained control of the air as far as Bengasi, or over a third of Italy's North African colony, British sources said tonight.

A string of airdromes and landing fields in the vicinity of beleaguered Tobruk were abandoned so speedily by the Italians that they had no time to destroy them, the British said.

R. A. F. flyers were said already to be using these fields as bases for heavy attacks on Tobruk like those credited with playing a major rôle in the fall of Bardia.

Mass Around Tobruk.

The British say that Gen. Wavell's land forces are massing around the port of Tobruk with little or no harassment from the air.

British bombers are said to have carried on large scale day and night attacks on Benina, large air supply base outside Bengasi, 280 miles west of the Egyptian frontier. A large number of aircraft on the ground at Benina were reported to have been set afire or destroyed.

From Bengasi eastward to Bardia and south 150 miles to the oasis of Giarabub, the British claimed air domination.

It is only a question of time, they said, until Giarabub falls. They added that it has escaped bombing by the R. A. F. in deference to the Senussi sect of Moslems whose sacred relics are there.

Destroy 560 Planes.

To date, the British claim they have destroyed 560 Italian aircraft in Africa against a loss of fewer than 100.

British forces, in collaboration with those of former Emperor Haile Selassi of Ethiopia, continued guerrilla warfare on Italian columns across the Egyptian Sudan-Ethiopian frontier. A British patrol was reported to have routed Italians in the Metemma area east of Gallabat.

Nazis List Church Property Damaged by British Bombs

BERLIN, Jan. 13.—Catholic priests in western Germany have submitted a list of church property destroyed by British bombers to the presidency of the German episcopate, it was reported today. The damage inflicted in 1940 was estimated at "many hundreds of thousands of marks," not including the value of historical pictures and other objects which "cannot be estimated," it was said.

Italy's Days in Ethiopia Are Numbered, Says Haile Selassie

LONDON, Jan. 13 (AP).—A Reuters [British news agency] dispatch from Khartoum, Anglo-Egyptian Sudan, today quoted Haile Selassie as saying the "time is not far distant" when he would lead an army of Ethiopian patriots against the Italians who drove him from his throne.

Haile Selassie.

He declared he was pleased with the progress of training of his army and added that revolt among his tribesmen was making great headway.

"The days of my former Italian ally who betrayed my country are numbered," he was quoted as saying. "They built fine roads but killed and enslaved thousands of my people, altho they failed to break their spirit. I look forward to the liberation of Ethiopia and the establishment of a just and constitutional government."

Soldiers Desert Italians.

He said royal war drums were beating nightly and "hundreds of my former soldiers now forced to fight for the Italians understand the message of the drums and are now deserting and rallying to the standard raised at Gojjam by the faithful commander, Ras Mongasha."

The belief grew among observers that Britain may soon attempt a major drive against Italian forces in Ethiopia with the aid of native rebellions.

An Italian defeat in East Africa appears so highly probable that the British government is ready not only to grant safe conduct but "facilities" for the removal of women and children from Italian possessions, the authoritative British press association said.

If Rome accepts, the British propose that these noncombatants should travel to Italy by way of Djibuti, French Somaliland, or from ports in Italian Somaliland and Eritrea, the agency said.

Say French Refuse Aid.

The British middle east command, in a communique issued at Cairo last week, told of an uprising of Ethiopian "patriots, encouraged by support from the royal air force," compelling an Italian garrison to flee the post of Gubba, 20 miles from the Anglo-Egyptian Sudan frontier.

At the same time, the Fascist forces were reported to have withdrawn from another frontier post north of Kassala, near the Eritrean border.

TURKS CONFIDENT BULGARIA SHUNS PRO-NAZI LINEUP

British Military Mission Reaches Ankara.

ANKARA, Turkey, Jan. 13 (AP).—Turkey's official radio and press today accepted a statement by the Bulgarian premier, Bogdan Philoff, that his people desire to remain neutral, as proof that the premier has not committed Bulgaria to a pro-Nazi policy in the Balkans.

Philoff's speech was hailed by the semiofficial Turkish party organ, Ulus, as "drawing the line between the Balkans and war." The official radio said that "at least for the present" there will be no change in Bulgarian foreign policy.

[The Budapest, Hungary, radio, in a broadcast heard by NBC in New York last night said the Turkish foreign minister, Sukru Saracoglu, had a "very long" and "significant" conference yesterday with the German ambassador, Franz von Papen, at Ankara.]

The Russian press was quoted by the radio to show that the new German-Russian trade pact had no political significance.

"German leaders only wish to assure the German public there will be no repetition of the 1914 blockade terror," the radio added, "and hope the pact will be accepted by their people as an answer to American announcements on aiding Britain."

British Mission Arrives.

Staff officers of Britain's middle east command have arrived here for two days of military discussions that will begin tomorrow.

Observers said the discussions might affect the course of the war in the Mediterranean, the Balkans, and Africa. Turkey wants to regain the Dodecanese Islands, which Italy holds, in the eastern Mediterranean, and has manifested great interest in Greek and British successes over Italy in the Mediterranean area, as well as promised United States aid to Britain.

Nazi Meets Bulgar Chiefs.

SOFIA, Bulgaria, Jan. 13 (AP).—Germany renewed diplomatic activity here tonight amid indications of a stronger Russian stand against possible transit of German troops thru Bulgaria for an attack on Greece or Turkey.

The German Minister, Baron Herbert von Richtofen, called on Premier Bogdan Philoff and Foreign Minister Ivan Popoff in conferences considered important in the wake of a denial by Tass, Russian official news agency, that Russia had given consent to German entry into Bulgaria.

German circles hinted that Philoff and Richtofen might shortly go to Berlin together.

BANDIT ROBS SALESMAN.

Harold Harrison, 3556 Carmen avenue, a liquor salesman, was robbed of $125 by an armed man who forced him into an alley as he was about to get into his automobile at Madison street near Hoyne avenue last night.

BRITISH RAIDERS STRIKE DEEP INTO SOUTH GERMANY

Bomb Bayreuth, Scene of Music Festival.

BERLIN, Jan. 13 (AP).—British raiders bombed Bayreuth, scene of the annual Wagner music festival, and other unspecified places early today in southern Germany. The Nazi air force carried out overnight fire setting raids on London and the English south coast, the high command reported.

Arrow locates bombed town.

Today's communique said only that the British dropped "some bombs," but authoritative quarters said the damage they did was minor. The Bayreuth festival house and the villa where Composer Richard Wagner is buried were said to have been untouched.

Bomb Southwest Town.

LONDON, Jan. 14, Tuesday (AP).—The German air force concentrated a major assault on a southwest coastal town last night and early today, unleashing high explosive bombs and dropping thousands of incendiaries.

Three towns in South Wales, another in west England and the Liverpool area also were attacked. Icy weather which had gripped the Dover strait since Christmas broke last night, but a dense mist over the calm sea dimmed the brilliance of a full moon.

London, the objective of a smashing "fire raid" Sunday night, was free of alarm long past midnight, and all England had a quiet day yesterday during daylight hours.

The first bodies were brought out yesterday from the ruins of a London subway crossing hit by a German bomb Saturday night. Workers still probed the ruins for additional possible victims and cranes swung tons of débris from the gaping crater.

Strike Across Channel.

A British air offensive by day and night, aimed at the axis partners' shipping and oil resources and at German troops in trenches across the English channel as well, was reported yesterday by the air ministry.

The daylight attack on Sunday on troops entrenched near the beach was the fourth in succession by British bombers and fighter planes and it was coupled with night bombing forays on the harbors of Brest, Le Havre, and Lorient and the reported firing of oil storage and processing plants in Porto Marghera, Italy, near Venice; Regensburg, Germany, and Ostend, in German occupied Belgium.

Regensburg, a Danubian port where oil from Rumania is refined and stored, was attacked for the second time. Returning pilots said bombs collapsed the boiler house of one factory and set off flames.

"Sea level" attacks on Nazi naval forces, an air ministry news service statement said, swept the decks of two torpedo boats 800 yards off the French coast, a large schooner and other small vessels.

Britain to Outline Its War and Peace Aims Soon, Official Says

BY LARRY RUE.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Jan. 13.—A belief that the British government soon will make a statement of its war and peace aims was expressed by D. M. Foot, member of parliament and undersecretary of the ministry of economic warfare, as he addressed the Scottish Liberal club in Edinburgh today.

"In the last war a statement of that kind was not made until January, 1918," he said. "We shall not wait three or four years in this war before making a declaration. What matters is not so much the particular shape of the frontiers after the war as the actual issues involved in the war."

Foot's statement regarding frontiers gives the first indication of how Britain hopes to reconcile its original war declaration, which was the restoration of Poland to its prewar stature. This obviously cannot be done now without war against Russia.

Believe Hopkins Seeks Answer.

Opinion here is inclined to believe that one of the major points which Harry Hopkins, President Roosevelt's personal representative in England, hopes to obtain is a clear cut idea of what the British new order will be like and how, with or without American help, it can be permanently enforced in Europe.

Hopkins was received by King George VI., but, as usual, refused to discuss what was said during the royal audience, which lasted more than a half hour.

One of the problems between the United States and Britain undoubtedly will be to reconcile the great divergence of requirements of both countries, due to their dissimilar economic positions. Trade rivalry, it is hoped here, might be solved by quota methods, but even this raises a fine distinction between the needs of a country normally importing two-thirds of the food consumed against those of America, producing surpluses.

Profit Is Big Question.

Recently a high government authority, in describing to THE TRIBUNE the vast possibilities of Anglo-American coöperation to control world output and prices of basic commodities, admitted that one problem which would have to be ironed out would be the extent to which private enterprise would be permitted to profit from such a consortium if only the governments themselves were able to finance it.

TRIBUNE WRITER TELLS STORY OF GREEKS IN BATTLE

Labor Up Slopes; Charge Among the Trees.

BY SAM BREWER.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

ON THE GREEK-ALBANIAN FRONTIER, Jan. 11 [Delayed]—Advances in the last four days have given Greek troops control of the important and strategic crossroads at Klisura. One road leads to Berat, one of Albania's most important road centers.

I have just returned from a tour with the evzone [mountaineer] troops. I saw the tremendous difficulties they overcome and the skilfull way in which they drive the Italians from the ridges into the valleys and leave them no choice except to retreat up the valleys or be cut off by flank attacks.

At the most advanced point on the road where the car could go, I left it in a gully, well covered with branches, as the Greeks do with all vehicles on the roadside. From there we climbed 1,600 feet in a mile and a half to the mountain village where the commander had his headquarters. To reach the fighting front meant another two and a half hours of scrambling and slithering up slopes.

Discover Italian Bodies.

A week earlier the Greeks had fought their way up these same slopes against machine guns, mortars, and grenades to a height of 3,000 feet. When we took a short cut over a projecting ridge, we found dead Italian machine gunners, which the burial parties had not yet discovered among the underbrush. They were lying among scattered ammunition clips and grenades which they had had no time to use.

The path winding around the mountainside was trodden into a quagmire. Mud which came halfway up our calves seemed to be semi-liquid until we tried to lift our feet and found them firmly gripped. Every step is an effort. That is the kind of terrain where we saw Greek troops charging uphill to sweep aside mortars and machine guns on ridge after ridge, with rockets soaring to announce each successive goal reached.

Up those same trails the patient mules plod constantly with provisions and ammunition to keep the fight moving.

A Rest for Observers.

Reaching the front line means a rest for observers. The men who move up with them are merely starting the worst of the day's advance. They attack before daylight under artillery barrage and take full advantage of the half light to terrorize the Italians.

The battle opens with the roar of heavy artillery hidden back in the valleys hurling its shells high overhead and lighter guns barking from positions closer up.

Lower down the ridge the infantry moves forward to the trees. Flashes of red fire among the trees, followed by puffs of smoke, show where they are charging Italian mortars. You can see the mortar fire increasing and hear the constant tapping of machine guns.

"Our guns fire quick bursts," a Greek said. "You can tell the Italians by their slower and steadier beat."

Firing Over the Ridge.

On the near side of a lower ridge you can see a Greek crew firing a captured Italian mortar, lobbing three inch mortar bombs over the ridge.

Scattered Italians in green uniforms appear in a clearing. At the top side of the opposite ridge they run together for a moment, then, as Greek khaki clad figures appear across the clearing, they give up the site. The green figures fall into line and file off into the woods. A few minutes later they appear on the path below, shuffling along, carrying a few wounded, and guarded by a couple of Greek soldiers.

As the morning mists clear away, planes appear—enemy aircraft. As long as visibility permits, they come over in waves, strewing light bombs across the ridges and valleys where they think the Greeks are, and planting occasional salvos of heavy bombs over what they hope are artillery positions.

Ignore Danger of Bombs.

It is a nasty feeling to watch a shower of bombs pouring out of an airplane which you feel is just about in position to hit you. Another few seconds and they will be overhead and beyond hitting you.

The Greek officers ignore them. "Sit still and don't worry about them" is their motto. When you are with Greek officers you have to do the same and pretend you have no desire to flop in the bottom of the trench.

When they get thru bombing they sweep down just below range of the antiaircraft and machine guns to spatter the road with machine gun fire. Airplanes don't seem to halt the Greek advance, nor even slow it perceptibly. The Greeks push doggedly on over ridges and somehow get their guns up there with them.

See Wounded on Road.

Coming back after the battle you see the price in the helpless and wounded men journeying down the mountainside in silent agony, except when some unusual jolt wrests a long low moan from one of them. Those who cannot sit up cling on the backs of pack mules. The others lie on stretchers carried by four comrades who, despite their best efforts, slip and stumble in the greasy mud and against the rocks lying in it.

Along the road you see them again. The bad cases are in ambulances, rolling as slowly as possible over the ruts. Other cases, who by all normal standards should be in there, are walking to make room for those worse off.

A boy with both feet frostbitten hobbles along on two sticks. Another with his head bandaged leans on the shoulder of a comrade. There is nothing wrong with their spirit.

PREDICTS BRITAIN WILL GET ALL SHE NEEDS FROM U. S.

OTTAWA, Ont., Jan. 13 (AP).—Col. Henry Bankhead, commercial attaché to the American legation, told a Rotary club meeting today that Great Britain "will get everything she needs from the United States—including the kitchen sink. Some time ago I forecast the United States would go to the aid of Britain," he said. "At that time the odds were 60-40. Soon the odds will have disappeared and the United Kingdom will have everything, within reasonable exceptions, we can give."

ITALY SHAKES UP WAR STAFF THIRD TIME IN 2 MONTHS

Reports Enemy Warship Hit in Mediterranean.

ROME, Jan. 13 (AP).—After two months of trying to hold off Greek attacks, Gen. Ubaldo Soddu relinquished command of Italian forces in Albania today to Gen. Ugo Cavallero, Premier Mussolini's current No. 1 military chieftain, in the third army shakeup since Nov. 10.

An official announcement said Gen. Soddu, 57 year old veteran of every one of Italy's wars since 1900 and 11 Duce's undersecretary of war when he was sent to Albania, "has been relieved because of his health."

Italian authorities insisted that the situation behind the lines in Albania was satisfactory.

Veteran of Three Wars.

Gen. Cavallero, himself a veteran of three wars, retains his position as chief of staff, a post in which he succeeded Marshal Pietro Badoglio, who resigned "at his own request" in a high command shakeup on Dec. 6.

This latest overhauling of the Albanian command came as Italy credited the new German-Italian air offensive in the Mediterranean with the ninth bomb or torpedo hit on British warships within four days.

Today's war bulletin said an Italian plane had torpedoed "a big enemy ship" in the eastern Mediterranean.

This brought to nine the number of British men o' war listed as bombed or torpedoed since Friday. At least one of them, a cruiser, was declared to have been left in a sinking condition. One of the others torpedoed was identified as a battleship of the 31,000 Malaya class.

The axis air offensive is aimed at closing the Mediterranean to the British at the sea's middle, where British convoys pass thru the Straits of Sicily.

Seek New Air Bases.

The possibility of the axis powers enlarging that threat by gaining air bases in French owned Corsica and Tunisia is envisioned in some foreign circles. Tunisia is on the coast of Africa, opposite Sicily, and the Island of Corsica is off the Italian west coast.

Altho nothing has developed in axis quarters to indicate such a move, some observers regard it is a logical maneuver. Since long before the war's start, Italy has claimed rights in both Corsica and Tunisia.

With British forces widely dispersed in Africa, aiding Greece and obliged to reassure Turkey, some quarters express the belief that occupation of Tunisia might prove as easy for the axis as Tangier did for Spain.

Diplomatic negotiations with the French presumably would have to be carried out by the Germans. As for the possibility of resistance by Gen. Maxime Weygand, commander of French forces in Africa, the axis powers have indicated their readiness to meet any situation raised there by his forces.

Tell of Military Activity.

The Stefani, Italian news agency, correspondent on the Albanian front reported "intense" activity of patrols along the entire front. He reported attacks and counterattacks upon local objectives in some sectors by both the Greeks and Italians.

Military activity on Italy's land fronts was summed up briefly by today's communique, which told of continued artillery activity around besieged Tobruk in Libya.

It acknowledged British air raids last night on Turin, Venice, and Catania. One person was killed and several were injured at Venice and "some damage" was reported at all three places. Two British raiders were reported downed over Catania and Venice.

INDIANS ATTACK BRAZIL FRONTIER MARKERS; KILL 2

RIO DE JANEIRO, Brazil, Jan. 13.—Two members of a Brazilian commission marking the frontier with Venezuela were killed when their party was surrounded by Indians in the upper Amazon jungles, it became known here today. About 100 Indians attacked the camp, shooting poisoned arrows that wounded several persons. Rifle fire forced the Indians to retreat, but they encircled the camp. A call for help was sent out on the party's portable wireless. Troops and medicine were rushed to the camp by planes.

GREEKS HIT FOE'S CRUMBLING LINES SOUTH OF VALONA

Believe Greatest Offensive of War Is Starting.

ATHENS, Jan. 13 (AP).—Greek soldiers, reporting scant resistance, stabbed deeper into Italian defense positions south of Valona today and Greek spokesmen expressed the belief this might prove the greatest offensive of the war in Albania.

Altho they claimed Fascist lines were crumbling at some points, authorities in Athens still lacked confirmation of reports from the Jugo-Slav frontier that Tepelini, fortified mountain town guarding an Italian-built highway to the port of Valona, had fallen.

Gives a Jumping-Off Place.

Capture of Tepelini would give the Greeks a jumping-off place for a renewed thrust toward Valona, sole southern Albania port remaining in Italian hands.

A companion drive northward along the coast was said to have brought the Greeks within 30 miles of Valona. New gains were claimed also for forces which swept on northward from Klisura, a strategic central front point taken last week.

Troops by Sea and Plane.

In the Pogradetz sector, where bitter hand to hand fighting was reported, the Greeks claimed capture of many pack mules and resultant menace to Fascist supply lines. They contended the Italians would be unable to bring up more pack animals thru snowbound mountain passes.

A government spokesman said the Italians had strengthened their lines with reserves poured into Albania by sea and air but that news from the front showed the situation as "very satisfactory" for the Greeks. More prisoners and many abandoned Italian wounded men were captured by Greek patrols, he added.

"Italian wounded and prisoners belong mostly to troops sent to Albania recently by ship and plane," the spokesman said.

licity, called at the governor's office for the printed forms on which appointments are prepared. Later George Schuppe, secretary to Stelle, who was awaiting the arrival of some one to take over the offices, said he had been told that his successor will be John W. Chapman of Chicago.

Chapman was the Republican nominee for city clerk of Chicago in 1939 on the same ticket that carried Green's name at the top as candidate for mayor. Years earlier he served as a member of the Chicago city council.

Two others considered certain of appointments are Gilbert E. Keebler, Chicago real estate man and a close friend of the governor, and Richard J. Lyons, Green's opponent last year in the governorship primary.

Keebler is to be administrative auditor, an official of the department of finance known as the financial "eyes of the governor." It is believed Lyons will be named administrative assistant to the governor, a post which would make him the liaison man between the chief executive and members of the general assembly.

The best opinion is that Rodney H. Brandon of Batavia and Frank G. Thompson of Mount Vernon will be in the cabinet, the former as director of public welfare and the latter as director of public works.

With the temperature just above the freezing point, the modest parade, reduced in its military proportions at Green's request, traversed the business section of Springfield and reached the armory exactly on schedule. From that point, with Adj. Gen. Leo Boyle in charge, the program was on the dot.

The invocation was pronounced by the Rev. Duncan Browne of St. James Episcopal church of Chicago before the customary ritualistic proceedings started with the series of announcements of arrivals, including those of the ladies of the inaugural party, the justices of the Supreme court, the joint legislative committee and the incoming and retiring state officers, each group marching in turn up the center aisle to the stage.

Honored by Veterans.

After the new officials took the oaths, a diamond American Legion button was presented to Green by State Commander William F. Waugh with an explanation that Green is the first legionnaire to occupy the governor's chair in Illinois.

At this moment one of the hundreds of flash bulbs used by news photographers exploded with a decided "pop." Green and Waugh both laughed.

"I thought for a moment that we were on the other side," said Green.

The allotment of time for the other five officials who took the oath of office was brief, so far as the ceremonies were concerned, but each was the center of separate activities of his own thruout the rest of the day.

INAUGURAL NOTES

Springfield, Ill., Jan. 13 [Special].—Chicago's 47th ward organization outdid competitive groups in the parade with a two man green elephant, pall bearers carrying a coffin labeled "prepared for the Democratic machine in 1942," and 50 marchers.

Mrs. Wayland Brooks came back from Washington for the inaugural, sweeping in with the ladies of the inaugural party in a black dress, a black hat with trailing black osprey plumes, and 16 button gloves.

Mrs. John Stelle, known to her many friends as "Willy," smiled happily thruout the entire inaugural, and was the recipient of Tito Schipa's gallant bow as he concluded each of his songs. She wore a black silk dress embroidered with sprays of jet, an off-the-face black hat, purple orchids, and short white kid gloves.

The cold wind caused spectators along the parade route to keep their hands in their pockets. This was hard on the souvenir peddlers, who said they took a trimming on their purchases of Green balloons, pennants, buttons, and feathers.

Green Pledges Economy and End of Parole Scandals

BY PERCY WOOD.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Springfield, Ill., Jan. 13.—In his eagerly awaited inaugural message, Illinois' new Republican governor, Dwight H. Green, approached the problems of government in a new light and in recognition of scandals which rocked the preceding Democratic administrations. His first official utterances promised sweeping reforms.

To the throng which crammed the state arsenal for his induction today the governor pledged adherence to four broad, overall principles, as well as recommending a score of specific corrections of individual situations neglected or ignored by his Democratic predecessors.

Four Broad Principles.

Early in his initial state paper—which was much shorter than the average inaugural document—Green stated the principles which he said guided his approach to the detailed topics in the message. They were:

1. Uncompromising honesty and integrity in government.
2. Strict economy and efficiency.
3. Coöperation between labor, industry, agriculture, and all other elements of the state's economic life.
4. Freeing the citizenry from machine rule and political despotism.

Then, detailing his objectives one by one, the new governor called for the elimination of parole scandals; recommended legislation to enable private capital to rehabilitate slum areas; pledged to encourage industry by the reduction of taxes, wherever possible; suggested the reapportionment of both congressional and senatorial [legislative] districts; repeated a campaign pledge by asking for elimination of the sales tax from food purchases, and called for the formulation of a state safety program to decrease traffic accidents.

Hits Parole Scandals.

Each of these and other matters received extended comment in the body of the message.

Under the subheading of "prisons and paroles," the governor asserted that "the long chain of scandals that has broken down the morale of the parole system must end."

Administration of prisons and parole raise numerous problems, he said, and continued:

"Among them are the indeterminate sentence for prisoners, the fixing of minimum and maximum terms by judges and the rehabilitation of men with criminal records.

"Prisons must be efficiently and fairly administered by able men. I will designate as members of the parole board men of high standing in their communities, whose entire background and experience will assure honest, capable and efficient administration of the parole law. Prison discipline must be enforced firmly without the destructive influeence of favoritism, graft, and political preferment.

Must Protect Society.

"In discharging their duties, members of the parole board should give primary consideration to the protection of society against the hardened criminal. There will be no leniency that will endanger the safety of the public. I shall recommend that the general assembly enact a statute requiring members of the parole board to give their entire time to the duties of their office. They will be protected against political favor or pressure.

"I shall welcome an analysis by law enforcement officers, state's attorneys, the Chicago Crime commission, and like agencies directed toward the improvement of the administration of prisons and the parole law. This is one of the most important matters facing us and I ask the general assembly to give it earnest study."

Then followed the governor's recognition of efforts being made by Chicago business men, architects, and others toward elimination of slum areas by permitting private capital to clear them.

Would Encourage Capital.

"The unsanitary and congested slum areas and underprivileged districts of our great industrial centers are breeding places for disease and crime," he said. "Private capital seeks the opportunity to enter upon a program for slum clearance and rehabilitation of blighted areas. Action awaits only the enactment of enabling legislation.

"The general assembly and other agencies of state government should, with proper safeguards, aid the entrance of private capital into this important field by every means at their disposal.

"Slum areas depreciate property all about them, decrease real estate values, reduce tax revenues, and bring a train of other economic and social evils in their wake. They stand as a challenge to modern progress in government. All proper efforts to remove this menace must have our strong support."

Will Aid Small Business.

The governor's message held out a friendly hand to small business men and to industry. He said that the former total a bloc of 157,000 in the state who have "suffered severely" in the last 10 years from "oppressive taxation and the competition of large scale enterprises."

"We should seek all opportunities to help the small business men," the governor continued. "I shall invite representatives of business, small and large, to present their plans for improving their economic condition. No effort will be spared by this administration to aid them."

For those in the larger economic fields, Green had this word:

"Our administration will make every effort to encourage existing enterprises and attract new industries. We must encourage industry by reduction of taxes wherever possible and by other measures. No steps will more effectively promote the free functioning of private capital and individual enterprise."

Urges Reapportionment.

The governor met the old problem of reapportionment, which for almost 40 years has aligned downstate against Chicago, in this fashion:

"The law requires that after each federal decennial census, the congressional and senatorial districts of the state shall be reapportioned on the basis of population. There has been no reapportionment since 1901.

"I suggest, therefore, that in the performance of your duties, you reapportion under the present law, or, insofar as senatorial [legislative] districts are concerned, give consideration to a constitutional amendment having for its purpose some other equitable method of reapportionment."

The last phrase seemed to suggest that if the legislature should get into its customary deadlock over giving Chicago its rightful majority, control of both houses—which it will if the subject is pressed—some compromise may be reached whereby Cook county would be given control of one house, downstate retaining a majority in the other.

Horner Plan Fails.

The late Gov. Henry Horner proposed this solution in his first inaugural message in 1933, but nothing came of it. The last serious roll call on senatorial reapportionment was taken during the 1931 session, when downstaters again defied the constitution and refused to vote to give Chicago a majority of members of both houses.

At one point in his message Gov. Green emphasized that his administration will be devoted to "assiduous economy." Enlarging on this he said:

"The operations of government concern every citizen. Despite their wealth and economic resources the people of Illinois are reaching the limit they can pay for government without seriously impairing their standard of living. They cannot safely bear the burden of extravagance and inefficiency and at the same time carry the crushing load of national defense.

"We must eliminate all waste from the operations of the government. A minute study of every department should be made, so that unnecessary employés may be eliminated and uneconomical activities abolished. We must economize.

Hits Pressure Groups.

"The pleas of pressure groups for special appropriations are sometimes difficult to resist. Ironically, the very organizations which one day loudly clamor for economy will on the next vociferously demand financial assistance for the interests they represent. Such obstacles must not deter us from the compelling necessity of organizing our government on an economical and efficient basis."

The new governor elaborated on his campaign pledge to work for abolition of the sales tax on food, starting this section of his message by saying that the levy bore most heavily on those in poor circumstances.

"It has been estimated," he continued, "that families on relief or partially employed spend at least one-half of their incomes for food. The burden of the tax on food thus falls most heavily on those least able to bear it.

Asks Immediate Action.

"The voters of Illinois have indicated their desire to remedy this situation. Our statutes should represent the will of the people. We must resort to every legal means to repeal the tax on food. This is so essential to the well-being of a substantial portion of our people that I recommend it to your immediate attention.

"If the general assembly looks with favor upon this recommendation, I urge that in drafting the necessary legislation, the utmost care be exercised to avoid constitutional objection and to preserve a continuity of income from the remaining taxable items. Also we must recognize that the exemption of food from the retailers' occupation tax will require readjustment in our revenues and greater economy and efficiency in the operation of state government."

Outlines Traffic Safeguards.

The governor announced, at another point in his address, his belief that highway accidents are mounting so rapidly as to demand a state-wide safety program. He recommended the construction of grade separations and by-passes, the widening of arterial highways, and the development of safety devices as some of the measures which could be taken to lessen the toll of deaths and injuries.

In declaring for a strengthened civil service as "a blow to bossism," the governor revealed, however, that he is a little suspicious of some of the "blanketing" of employés under the protection of the law by the outgoing Democratic administration.

"The blanketing device," he said, "has been used to make wholesale certifications of employés without regard to their qualifications. Another subterfuge has been the appointment and repeated reappointment of public servants for so-called temporary periods.

"These appointees thereby acquire permanent positions without meeting the requirements of the civil service laws. A third evil is the active participation of civil service employés in politics.

Demand for Efficiency.

"We will not tolerate these or any other infractions of the regulations. Civil service shall never be a shield for inefficiency or indolence. Only those who are able and willing to perform adequate and sufficient work should be retained. The new administration will comply with the civil service statute and expects the same conduct from the beneficiaries of that law.

"It is my intention to request the civil service commission to review all civil service certifications to determine whether appointments have been made after proper notice and adequate examinations. If it is found that the law has been violated, I will redirect examinations. If necessary I will request this general assembly to enact necessary legislation to protect the integrity of the civil service system."

Labor and capital, Gov. Green said at another point in his message, quoting Abraham Lincoln, are not conflicting elements.

Urges Industrial Harmony.

"Never before," he added, "has there been greater need for complete understanding between capital and labor. In the present national emergency all elements of society must work in harmony to maintain vital production."

Industry, the governor said, must recognize that labor is entitled to safe and sanitary working conditions and to a fair and adequate wage, while labor, on its part, "should accept its obligation and duties to industry and to the public."

"Acknowledgment of these mutual responsibilities," he continued, "will promote the welfare of labor and industry, reduce unnecessary strife and insure adequate production."

The governor announced he will recommend formation of an organization "which will mobilize the representatives of business and labor for a campaign to create jobs," and said the body will function in every county of the state, serving as "a clearing house for reëmployment ideas and plans, encourage business firms to institute necessary and deferred plant maintenance, find methods which will induce employers to stabilize and extend employment, urge home owners to support a rehabilitation campaign, study ways and means of reducing relief expenditures and direct the occupational training and retraining of the unemployed for jobs in private industry."

Five Point Farm Program.

Turning to the farm problem, the governor proposed a five point program: elimination of governmental extravagances, reduction of the public debt load, abolition of graft and corruption to reduce taxes, expansion of reforestation to preserve soil against erosion, and the prevention of contagious diseases among domestic animals.

To further this program, Green said he will appoint a director of agriculture "who will be thoroly experienced and qualified to meet the difficult problems of agriculture. He will seek the advice of the recognized representatives of our farm population."

The governor mentioned the booming southern Illinois oil fields, but did not suggest that their output be taxed.

"One of the most vital and irreplaceable natural resources of our state is a bounteous supply of oil," he said. "This treasure must be carefully conserved. Our duty to coming generations, as well as the immediate advantage of our people, must be seriously and impartially considered by the general assembly. I urge that your study of the problem of regulation and conservation be continued."

Oil Tax Battle Foreseen.

Oil taxes are certain to be proposed during the legislative session, and many look for it to become one of the live topics during the coming months.

Green's campaign issue of antiboss rule was reflected in his address by a severe attack upon machine politics.

"There can be no compromise between democracy and machine rule," he said. "Machine rule is a return to autocracy. It has been the greatest obstacle to progressive government and to economic recovery in our state. I have devoted much of my public life to the fight against government by political bosses. My struggle against them was based upon sincere conviction that autocratic machine rule is a menace to our free institutions."

The governor pledged that there will be no Two Per Cent clubs for the collection of campaign funds from state employés during his administration.

"One of the evils of machine rule," he said, "has been the exaction of tribute in the form of political contributions from the men and women on public pay rolls. During past years a 2 per cent levy has been made upon the salaries of state employés. No one has the right to demand or receive any portion of such earnings. There will be no percentage levies or percentage clubs under this administration."

PERRY ASKS RUSH ACTION ON SIFTING OF STELLE'S ACTS

Wheaton Democrat Puts Demand Before House.

BY PERCY WOOD.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Springfield, Ill., Jan. 13.—Even before John Stelle had retired officially as governor of Illinois—in favor of the incoming Republican, Dwight H. Green—an inquiry into Stelle's 100 day conduct of the state government was demanded today by a member of his own party—Representative Joseph Sam Perry [D., Wheaton].

Joe Sam Perry.

Perry introduced a resolution in the house calling for appointment of a committee to determine the truth or falsity of allegations he said were commonly reported. The allegations follow:

1. That Stelle used his influence to defeat legislation for the conservation of Illinois' oil supply because of his own "extensive" interests in oil leases and in a refinery.

2. That Stelle was "extravagant and wasteful" of taxpayers' money while filling the late Gov. Henry Horner's unexpired term.

3. That Stelle "coöperated vigorously" in a legislative investigation of the Horner administration, but that after Horner's code departments had been scrutinized, the inquiry was "mysteriously discontinued or silenced in such manner that none of the activities of the said John Stelle have been investigated or examined."

Asks Committee of Seven.

Perry asked that a committee of seven be named, consisting of four Democrats and three Republicans—despite the G. O. P. control of the house of representatives. Perry asked that the committee be given power to look into Stelle's public affairs as lieutenant governor, as presiding officer of the senate, as acting governor, and as governor. The resolution provided that the committee report its findings to the house as speedily as possible.

Speaker Elmer J. Schnackenberg referred the document to the executive committee, the membership of which he is expected to appoint before the house starts serious work on Jan. 28.

Relief Measures Passed.

Before moving from its chamber to the arsenal for the joint session attending Gov. Green's inauguration, the house unanimously passed five measures appropriating $30,125,000 to cover deficiencies in the old age assistance, relief, and blind pension funds until July 1.

Then these measures were rushed across the third floor corridor to the senate, where they were advanced to second reading. They are scheduled to be moved to third reading tomorrow and to be passed just after midnight tomorrow night.

Moves for Reapportionment.

At a late session of the house, Representative James J. Barbour [R., Evanston] took the first step toward reapportionment of the senatorial [legislative] districts of the state, a problem which has failed of solution since 1901.

In a joint resolution, Barbour proposed the appointment of a committee of 12 representatives and six senators, divided evenly between Cook county and downstate, to draft a reapportionment bill based on population figures from the 1940 decennial census.

AGREE TO INQUIRY INTO ELECTION OF GOV. SCHRICKER

Indiana G.O.P. Group to Hear Charge.

Indianapolis, Ind., Jan. 13 [Special].—The Indiana state Republican committee late tonight voted to consider an inquiry into charges that thousands of aliens helped elect Henry F. Schricker governor of Indiana. Schricker, who won by 3,478 votes, was inaugurated today. He was the only Democrat elected to state office in the November election.

The committee met in a secret session in the Claypool hotel, and heard charges preferred by former Judge Virgil E. Whitaker of Hammond. Judge Whitaker last week presented a legislative petition asserting that Schricker was elected over his Republican opponent, Glen R. Hillis, by fraudulent votes, including those of thousands of Lake county aliens who were not entitled to vote.

What Legislature Can Do.

Judge Whitaker, in announcing his fight against Gov. Schricker, said he was acting under Article 5, Section 6 of the Indiana state constitution. This section, adopted in 1851, but never before used, provides that contested elections for governor or lieutenant governor shall be determined by the general assembly in such manner as may be prescribed by law. To that end, Whitaker prepared his legislative petition.

Indiana authorities have punctiliously followed the letter of the law. Schricker's election was certified by the Republican secretary of state, James M. Tucker, and any attack on his election must follow prescribed rules.

Will Report Back Monday.

At the conclusion of Whitaker's talk, Chairman Arch Bobbitt, Republican state chairman, appointed a subcommittee to confer with Whitaker and to report back at the committee's regular meeting next Monday. Members of the subcommittee are James Fulton of Hartford City; Ralph Gates of Columbia city, and Mrs. Francis Mann of Indianapolis.

To what extent the state committee will participate in the inquiry was not indicated officially, but it is expected to give "moral and financial support."

Meanwhile, Schricker today became Indiana's 35th governor. He is 57 years old, and a former small town editor and banker. For the last four years he had served as lieutenant governor. Sworn in with the new governor was Charles M. Dawson, Republican, of Indianapolis, new lieutenant governor. It is the first time in 125 years that Indiana's governor and lietenant governor are of opposite political parties.

Crowds at Inauguration.

The inauguration was attended by large crowds. Samuel Jackson, attorney general, acted as master of ceremonies. Schricker was introduced by the retiring governor, M. Clifford Townsend. Both Schricker and Townsend pleaded for the coöperation of both parties to further national defense.

Schricker promised to make his administration efficient, and promised to coöperate with the Republican assembly. "We must respect each other's views," he said.

BURGLARS LOOT SCHOOL.

Burglars broke into the Skinner elementary school, 1070 Jackson boulevard, and took five reels of educational film, a motion picture projector, a radio, and two typewriters, all valued at $295, school officials reported yesterday.

TWO DEMOCRATS TO CLAIM SAME U.S. SENATE SEAT

Old and New Governor Each Appoint Man.

Washington, D. C., Jan. 13 (AP).—A seating contest without precedent will be presented to the senate tomorrow when two West Virginians will claim the right to succeed Senator Matthew M. Neely, who resigned to become governor of his state.

There have been contests aplenty in the past, but, officials said, none involving exactly the same questions presented by this situation:

Tries to Clinch Appointment.

Neely took the oath of office as governor in a secret ceremony last midnight and immediately appointed Joseph Rosier to serve out the unexpired two years of his [Neely's] senate term. Previously retiring Governor Homer A. Holt had appointed Clarence E. Martin to succeed Neely.

In an effort to clinch this Holt issued a new appointment for Martin immediately after Sunday midnight—the hour when Neely's senate resignation was effective.

All the principals are Democrats. Rosier is president of Fairmont State Teachers' college, and a former president of the National Education association. Martin, a Martinsburg lawyer, is a former president of the American Bar association.

Must Go to Vote in Senate.

The senate itself is the final arbiter in any contest over seating.

When Rosier and Martin present their claims tomorrow the senate could immediately take a vote on which one to seat. The usual procedure, however, and the one expected to be followed, is to direct that the committee on privileges and elections investigate the situation and make a recommendation. Harley Kilgore, a Democrat, elected last November, is the other senator.

This committee, acting in another contest, decided today that protests against the seating of William Langer, Republican, of North Dakota, were "not sufficient." It recommended giving protestants 10 days in which to file additional evidence.

North Dakota groups opposing the seating of Langer had charged him with misuse of absentee voters' ballots and other violations of election laws.

BARRETT CALLS FOR HELP TO RID STATE OF CRIME

Springfield, Ill., Jan. 13 [Special.]—Immediately after moving into his offices in the Illinois Supreme court building this afternoon, Attorney General George F. Barrett issued a statement reaffirming his campaign pledges. The statement read:

"If we are to preserve our great nation, our state, our communities, our homes, our opportunities and the future of our children, and of those yet to come, it is our solemn obligation, as Americans, to uphold the law.

"The notorious alliance between crime and politics no longer can be permitted to pollute the very source of representative government. Vote frauds must be made physically impossible. The vote thief must be driven from Illinois.

"As attorney general, it will be my consistent policy to serve all the people of Illinois, not any select group. In this task I shall coöperate with all state's attorneys, sheriffs, and other law enforcement officers.

"I also wish now to call upon all civic and religious groups, and all honest citizens thruout the state, for their aid in my drive for clean, wholesome government in Illinois."

Tired Kidneys Often Bring Sleepless Nights

Doctors say your kidneys contain 15 miles of tiny tubes or filters which help to purify the blood and keep you healthy. If you get tired and don't work right in the daytime; many people have to get up nights. Frequent or scanty passages with smarting and burning sometimes shows there is something wrong with your kidneys or bladder. Don't neglect this condition and lose valuable, restful sleep.

When disorder of kidney function permits poisonous matter to remain in your blood, it may also cause nagging backache, rheumatic pains, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness.

Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, used successfully by millions for over 40 years. They give happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from your blood. Get Doan's Pills.

CONTEST RIGHT OF A. B. LANGLIE TO GOVERNORSHIP

Olympia, Wash., Jan. 13 (AP).—Washington's Democratic controled legislature, in its opening session today, decided to canvass the challenged gubernatorial vote by which Mayor Arthur B. Langlie, Seattle Republican, defeated former United States Senator C. C. Dill by 5,816 votes. The house and senate will meet jointly tomorrow to examine the vote. The inauguration is set for Wednesday.

Representative H. C. Armstrong, Democrat, Seattle, said he would move for appointment of a committee to investigate the election count and "evidence of fraud and irregularities that Democratic organization officials assert they have gathered."

Ratner Seated in Kansas.

Topeka, Kas., Jan. 13 (AP).—Payne Ratner, 44 year old Republican, was inaugurated today for his second term as governor of Kansas, in the face of a Democratic threat to press a contest of his right to be seated.

Ratner received an official margin of only 430 votes over William H. Burke, Democrat, in the November election. Burke led in the early counting, but Ratner forged into the lead with the receipt of absentee ballots.

U. S. AID NEEDED TO AVERT FAMINE, FINNS DECLARE

Says Half of Nation Will Lack Bread in May.

BY DONALD DAY.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

HELSINGFORS, Finland, Jan. 13.—Famine is fast approaching in Finland. Unless Finland can obtain the necessary credit in the United States to purchase foodstuffs and navicerts from Great Britain [certificates of prior inspection] to enable Finnish ships to bring cargoes to Petsamo, half of Finland's population will be without bread by next May. Minister of Supplies Vaino Kotilainen said today. He told THE TRIBUNE that Finland's situation is serious.

Finland, he said, has been negotiating since last November with the American Surplus Marketing administration in Washington, D. C., for a credit of $7,000,000 to buy American farm products.

Finland wanted to buy 4,000 tons of margarine fats, 7,000 tons of lard, 4,000 tons of pork fatbacks, 25,000 tons of wheat, 10,000 tons of wheat flour, 10,000 tons of oil cakes, and 9,000 tons of cotton.

Finland Could Use All.

Finland, he said, furnished proof that all of these products would be consumed in Finland. The amounts mentioned do not cover Finland's total needs, he said, but a minimum of what Finland must obtain if famine is to be averted. The Finnish minister in Washington, Hjalmar Procope, has told his government that the surplus marketing administration has turned down Finland's request.

Kotilainen declared that Finland, normally a country which exported large quantities of butter, cheese, and eggs, today cannot cover her own needs. He asserted categorically that Finland was not exporting foodstuffs of any kind to Germany, Russia, or any other country.

He promised that every ton of food imported from America would be consumed in Finland. He said the 35,000 tons of wheat and wheat flour requested only covered two months of Finland's normal consumption.

Affects Half of Population.

Estimating that half of Finland's population is agricultural and is provided with bread until the next harvest, the minister said the supplies now on hand for the remaining 2 million inhabitants would last until May.

In normal years Finland imported an average of slightly more than 130,000 tons of grain annually. She will need 424,000 tons this year.

ESPIONAGE LAW RULED VALID BY SUPREME COURT

Upholds Conviction of Two in West.

Washington, D. C., Jan. 13 (AP).—The Supreme court today upheld the constitutionality of the sweeping espionage act of 1917 which makes it a crime to obtain or transmit any "information respecting the national defense to be used to the injury of the United States or to the advantage of any foreign nation," friend or foe.

Two men, convicted in California of violating the act in 1938 by furnishing to Russia naval intelligence reports which they deemed "innocuous," contended that the statute was so broad that it might even proscribe the publication of crop reports by newspapers if a jury held that such information was connected with "national defense."

The court said, however, that the provisions of the act were "not simple prohibitions against obtaining or delivering to foreign powers information which a jury may consider relating to national defense." In that case, it added, the law might be invalid.

Statute Specific, Court Says.

"But we find no uncertainty in this statute," the decision continued, "which deprives a person of the ability to predetermine whether a contemplated action is criminal.

"The obvious delimiting words in the statute are those requiring 'intent or reason to believe that the information to be obtained is to be used to the injury of the United States or to the advantage of any foreign nation.' This requires those prosecuted to have acted in bad faith.

"When there is no occasion for secrecy, as with reports relating to national defense published by authority of congress or the military departments, there can, of course, in all likelihood, be no reasonable intent to give an advantage to a foreign government."

Reed Gives Opinion.

The opinion, by Justice Reed, emphasized that it was unnecessary "to prove that the information obtained was to be used to the injury of the United States," but that it was enough to show that it was "to the advantage of any foreign nation."

"No distinction is made between friend or enemy," it remarked. "Unhappily the status of a foreign government may change."

The defendants were Hafis Salich, a naturalized citizen of Russian birth who was employed by the naval intelligence service at San Pedro, and Mikhail Nicholas Gorin, a Russian employed by a Los Angeles tourist company. Salich was alleged to have sold to Gorin reports from the naval intelligence files on the movements of Japanese officials and civilians on the west coast. Gorin was sentenced to six years in prison and Salich to four, and each was fined $10,000.

The court's decision in this case was unanimous, with Justice Murphy, who was formerly attorney general, not participating.

In another case the court refused to review a Circuit court opinion which had upheld a labor board order directing the Sunshine Mining company of Kellogg, Idaho, to bargain collectively with a C. I. O. union and to embody any understanding reached in a signed contract.

The Sunshine company, the largest producer of silver in the United States, had sought a Supreme court review of the case. The Supreme court—as is customary—gave no reason for denying the petition. It merely said the petition is denied.

IT IS NOT A BILL TO HELP ENGLAND.

The American people today are being asked to believe that the war dictatorship bill is needed to make possible the aiding of Britain within the limits of the short-of-war formula.

Obviously that is not true. Without the enactment of the bill, or anything like it, we have been extending aid to Britain without stint. We have made over to Britain 50 destroyers, hundreds of airplanes, including Flying Fortresses; thousands of cannon, tens of thousands of machine guns, hundreds of thousands of rifles, together with a vast store of ammunition of all sorts. We are also giving Britain priority in the allocation of the products of our munitions industries. The bill is not required to convert America into an arsenal for Britain. That we are already.

If this help was thought to be insufficient congress might have been asked to increase it. If British funds were thought to be inadequate congress might have been asked to lend or give whatever additional sums are desired. Neither of these courses was adopted. The reason is obvious. This is not a bill to aid Britain short of war. It is a bill to put America into the war and to destroy the republican form of government in this country.

There is a small minority in America who want this country to declare war and send its conscripts to fight overseas. To a man these interventionists favor the war dictatorship bill. A recent Gallup poll, published a few days ago, indicated that only 12 per cent of the American people favor a declaration of war. In the nation as a whole 88 per cent wish to stay out. Even in the fire-eating south 83 per cent are of this mind, and in New England and New York, the capital of interventionism, the proportion who want to remain out of the war is 87 per cent.

The bill before congress is intended to satisfy the war lust of the 12 per cent and disregard the wishes of the 88 per cent. The war mongers value the provision of the bill which gives the President all the power he may need to order our navy and our air force to convoy our merchantmen, loaded with munitions, into the war zone. That in itself will be an act of war. The grant of power would not be in the bill if the power were not to be used and, if used, it will promptly result in what the diplomats call an incident. American lives and American vessels will be lost at sea. The subsequent developments are easily foreseen. Even a President devoted to maintaining peace could hardly succeed in doing so against provocations of this sort.

Much less than 12 per cent of the people, it can safely be assumed, favor the destruction of the republic, but almost every man who believes the American form of government and liberty are outmoded welcomes the bill. Naturally so, because if congress enacts it the dictatorship will have been achieved. Congress will have abdicated. It will have given away its right to be consulted in the making of alliances and, for all practical purposes, in the making of war. The President will have acquired the substance of the right to appropriate and, at the same time, will have been given any power he may now lack to seize industries and regulate private lives. That is dictatorship.

SMOKE.

Legislation is being prepared for submission to the Illinois legislature which is regarded by some as a means of interesting private capital in building neighborhood developments which will wipe out the so-called blighted areas in Chicago.

Most of our civic organizations are rightly concerned, not only because of the adverse economic effect of these areas upon the growth and prosperity of the city but because the dilapidated and decaying communities are breeders of crime and pestilence.

It is a curious fact that in all large cities, Chicago in particular, deterioration in property values and development of slum areas is always in communities adjacent to railroad tracks and switch yards. Any train passenger will know this is true from his own observation thru his Pullman car window upon entering the city. The smoke, soot, and cinders belched forth by soft coal burning locomotives are the primary cause of this.

What chance has the most beautifully planned and executed real estate campaign in the face of this seemingly unimportant fact? Universal electrification of the railroads is, no doubt, out of the question in the present state of their finances, but the use of the more efficient Diesel and Diesel-electric locomotives is certainly within the realm of possibility.

The railroads and the various civic organizations and private interests which are considering the problem should coöperate in the solution of this phase of it.

ANOTHER FORGOTTEN MAN.

A year ago Jan. 8, in the evening, the land blossomed out with dinner parties. In Washington the solvent diners-out and such as could make a touch paid $100 a plate, understanding that $98 went to The Cause and $2 for the food. Elsewhere The Cause got $24.25 and the customer six bits.

Mr. Robert H. Jackson, just nominated to be attorney general, spoke at Cleveland. He was, in a fashion, a candidate for President. Mr. P. V. McNutt, also in a fashion a candidate, spoke at Raleigh, N. C. Senator Burton K. Wheeler, then every inch a candidate, spoke in Denver. The big speaking was in Washington where the top prices were. John Garner, a candidate, listened to Mr. Roosevelt, not a candidate.

It was the occasion of the time honored Jackson day dinner of the Democracy, an institution established to raise the wind, financial and oratorical, and celebrate the glories of the republic, including the defense of New Orleans by Andrew Jackson, culminating Jan. 8. Mr. Roosevelt used to fancy himself as Andrew Jackson. A year ago he added parts of Washington, Jefferson, and Lincoln, all in the best tradition of the unconquerable western world.

What happened to the old custom this year? Not a word about Jackson that's appeared in print. Not even a hot dog eaten in his memory or a dime spent in his honor. In the name of bill No. 1776—numerical marvel for a bill to destroy the republic—are they too busy celebrating the second taking of Washington?

RESTORING AMERICAN TRADE ROUTES.

The opportunity is presented to the United States to become again one of the leading carriers of the world's goods. Right after the revolutionary war shipping became preëminent among the industries of this country. The American flag was carried all over the world. We insisted upon the freedom of the seas, and when the Barbary States interfered with our merchantmen we sent the navy and won the right to ship in the Mediterranean, free of tribute.

By 1830 the American merchant marine exceeded a million tons, about half that of the British. Thereafter shipbuilding proceeded rapidly. By 1850 our gross tonnage equaled that of Great Britain, and at the outbreak of the civil war American commercial ship tonnage was the largest afloat.

The civil war brought an end to the golden age of American shipping. While the north was fighting the south the British appropriated for themselves the sea routes which had been ours. They intrenched themselves and we were never able to get the business back. Even our own cargoes went in foreign bottoms, American ships carried 67 per cent of American cargoes in 1860, 36 per cent in 1870, 17 per cent in 1880, 13 per cent in 1890, 9.3 per cent in 1900, and 8.7 per cent in 1910. From preëminence we fell to insignificance.

The lack of American ships proved disastrous at the outbreak of the world war. The allies sent their own vessels to carry what they purchased from us, but tonnage for our trade with South America and the orient was unavailable. Nevertheless, we did nothing about it until we got into the war and needed ships to carry troops and supplies to France.

Then the American government seized 97 German ships and purchased a few others from neutrals. But that was a few hundred thousand tons and we needed millions. And so plans were made to build vast numbers of ships.

A nation which had let its shipping go to the dogs didn't have much in the way of shipbuilding facilities. The first step then was to build shipyards. We got our shipyards constructed before the war was over, but not many ships. But the contracts had been let, and the building of ships had been started. And so, tho we produced only 145 vessels of 814 thousand tons in 1918, the yards turned out 381 aggregating 2 million tons in 1919, 524 totaling 2.9 million tons in 1920, and 311 of 1.9 million tons in 1921.

That brought the war shipbuilding program to an end, and left us with a surplus of ships which, with foreign competition and depressed shipbuilding, busted our shipping companies. Decay and obsolescence will overtake a fleet if new vessels are not added from time to time. Taking account of a report that over 92 per cent of our fleet would be obsolete in 1942 if new ships were not added, congress adopted a plan to build 50 ships a year.

On June 30, 1939, the American merchant marine consisted of 1,398 vessels of 8.1 million tons. Sales to Great Britain and transfers to other registry reduced the total to 1,300 ships of 6.8 million tons by June 30, 1940. The new ships will raise this total considerably by the middle of this year. We have facilities for carrying on an increased trade.

The outbreak of the war and the neutrality act seriously restricted the operation of the American merchant marine. The Pittman law and the President's proclamation defining combat areas exclude our ships from a trade area with which 40 per cent of our commerce was carried on in 1937.

Neutral shipping did not open up at once to take the place of some of this business for the reason that the British have not until recently seriously disturbed their shipping services about the world, outside of the war zones. Latterly there has been a disposition to divert British ships from the Pacific to the life lines in the Atlantic.

It is natural for our merchantmen to take up the trade abandoned by the war powers. That always happens. Past difficulties of the American merchant marine have been due to high costs of building ships and requirements of larger crews than are necessary. Mass production of ships and labor saving on ship board could make it possible to compete against cheap labor after peace. If we get a substantial portion of the ship forwarding business, we would only be getting back what we lost during and right after the civil war.

MUSIC IN THE AIR.

[Cleveland Plain Dealer.]

We do our best to keep up with the newest wrinkles, and seldom are we caught napping as we have been in 1941.

It began a couple of weeks or so ago. Every time we went outdoors we noticed something strange. The normal rumble of the city had unnatural, nostalgic overtones. We caught ourselves going around humming "There's Music in the Air."

Then we found out—quite suddenly—that it was the automobile horns. We found it out when we were almost run down to the tune of "Merrily We Roll Along." Shortly after that a sweet voiced Klaxon warbled "The Campbells Are Coming, Hooray, Hooray!" And now the streets resound constantly to "My Darling Nellie Gray," "My Old Kentucky Home," and "What's the Matter with Father? He's All Right."

It has just come to us what this is all about. These are the same tunes we are now hearing over the radio. It's as clear as crystal—the ASCAP holds the copyright on the raucous sounds made by our old automobile horns, and somehow we were not notified.

A PROBLEM IN HISTORY.

Two young and ambitious historians are writing a biography of the late Ald. John [Bath House] Coughlin, and have found difficulty in determining the date on which the Bath made his debut as a troubadour with the song, "Dear Midnight of Love." When told to ask John Kelley, who wrote many ditties attributed to the Bath but not "Dear Midnight," these conscientious researchers answered, "We did and he could not remember, but referred us to you."

So we peered dimly thru the veil of dolorous years and said, "It must have been between 1901 and 1904, and the bound volumes of THE TRIBUNE'S files, which weigh about 50 pounds apiece, are available in the library, so go up to the 24th floor and wrestle with them."

But they continued to run around town asking questions, and finally came up with a date in 1899. We think that this is too early, because May De Sousa, who is supposed to have been the first singer of "Dear Midnight," made her debut in 1901, according to all the editions in "Who's Who in the Theater" that have carried an article about her. The young researchers believe that Miss De Sousa was trying to peel a few years off her own age in setting down that date, but we are confident that May, the daughter of a Chicago policeman, did not intend to gum up the evidence.

When and where did the De Sousa gal first cut loose with "Dear Midnight of Love"? And did any one sing it before her? These are questions that we toss out to the many old Chicago playgoers who read this column with their grapefruit.

"Where is the Grecian urn that John Keats immortalized in his famous ode?" we asked ourself last week. We soon discovered that an urn, decorated with a scene such as Keats described in the fourth stanza of the ode, is, or was, among the museum pieces in Holland house, London. It may not be there, or anywhere now, because Holland house has been almost completely wrecked by a German bomb.

SALUTE TO BADEN-POWELL.

Another expedition? One last trip?
But ere you leave—Attention! Scouts, salute!
Let us extend our warmest, firmest grip
In fond farewell. And rest assured the root
Of Peace, the love of God, the decency
You planted in ten million youthful hearts
Will ever thrive and grow that men may see
How well you knew the greatest of the arts.
You take the last long trail—uncharted, dim,
The vast Unknown can hold no fears for him
Whose good deed helps to make a brighter day.
And ever when Scouts meet and guidons gleam
Your monument will be in each youth's dream.

Triolets for the Girl Friend.

This is no complaint, as it comes from some one who has owned and enjoyed the Line Books from the first issue of 1924 up to now. ### CARBON MONOXIDE POISONING.

WHENEVER fuel of any sort is burned, unless the draft is fully adequate, a poisonous gas—carbon monoxide—may be produced. Unfortunately, it possesses neither color nor odor. Hence its presence may not be suspected until marked damage to the body has occurred. In fact, death is an all too common outcome, if enough is inhaled.

It has been estimated that at least 25,000 persons lose their lives each year from this cause. According to reliable data, in New York City alone—for every seven automobile deaths there are five from carbon monoxide. In the state of Ohio, in 1936, there were 518 such accidents with 62 fatalities.

Many of these disasters happen in the home because furnaces are improperly vented. Coal stoves and hot water heaters must be snugly attached to a flue and the damper must not be closed so tightly that escaping vapor can flood the sleeping and living rooms. Communities served by natural or illuminating gas report yearly a generous number of cases of asphyxiation due to leaky pipes—particularly about cook stoves or where valves do not shut off completely. Poorly ventilated automobiles are responsible for a substantial number of victims, and we all know that it is never safe to close the garage doors while the motor of the car is running.

Why is monoxide dangerous? Whenever it is inhaled for a long time, even in low concentrations, the blood will become saturated so that it will not be able to supply oxygen to the tissues. It has been found that .01 per cent or less of the gas will not be harmful, but double this amount will occasion symptoms a few hours later.

The organs suffering the greatest injury are the brain and the heart. If there is inflammation within the skull, vision is disturbed, attacks of vertigo are frequent, and convulsions may appear. The digestive tract is involved frequently—with loss of appetite, nausea, vomiting, and pain. The nerves and the muscles fail to coördinate and walking may be troublesome. The staggering gait may resemble intoxication.

In one family which kept an open gas grate burning thruout the night, every member was affected. The year old baby was seriously ill. The father and mother developed severe headache, which passed off shortly after they reached the open air. Because every one in the household had been in robust health, no grave aftereffects ensued. Later, tests of the sleeping rooms were made with the grate ablaze and nearly .04 per cent carbon monoxide was found.

In another city a cook in a hotel—accustomed to working long hours over a range—complained that he could detect the odor of escaping gas when about his daily routine. Later he observed dizziness, nausea, difficulty in swallowing, and violent pains in the head. Here again the manifestations were traced to loosely joined connections.

It may well be that we do not pay sufficient attention to ventilation during the colder months, or give enough care to the operation of our warming and cooking machinery. Chimneys must be of ample size and unobstructed so that all noxious substances—whether from gas, oil, or coal—will be carried to the outside. Our great-grandparents didn't have this problem. They made their fireplaces and chimneys large enough to permit free exit for all fumes.

VOTING AND FIGHTING.

Beloit, Wis., Jan. 11.—Your editorial today applauds the new plan hatched by American Legion executives to confine the military draft to boys from 18 to 21. Haven't you ignored the pertinent fact that this seemingly would make youngsters under legal voting age bear the whole brunt of conscription? What kind of democracy is it that would concentrate the compulsory military obligation on boys denied the right to have any voice in making the political decisions which produce the wars they are called on to fight?

It may be argued that boys 18 to 21 are too young to vote intelligently even if not too young to die bravely. It is obvious, on the other hand, as THE TRIBUNE has pointed out, that the most intense emotional agitation, in congress and out, for getting the United States into this war comes from people who, generally speaking, won't be out on the firing line themselves if they succeed in pushing us into full belligerency, because they are too old or because of other convenient prudential considerations.

It may be fine vicarious generosity for middle aged or elderly citizens to load the compulsory fighting burden on boys under voting age. But this distinctly was not done in the last war, and I am one member of the Legion who doubts the justice of the idea. Furthermore, I don't find anything in the record of rank and file action at recent Legion national conventions which would seem to give Legion executives a mandate to cook up a scheme limiting military conscription to unenfranchised boys. Certainly the Legion's defense resolutions adopted at its national convention in Boston last September reveal no such plan.

As a logical corollary to such legislation, shouldn't THE TRIBUNE advocate a bill to disfranchise overage war mongers?

1941 WILL REWARD FIGHTERS.

Chicago, Jan. 7.—One of THE TRIBUNE'S greatest of recent editorials appeared in the issue of Jan. 2, 1941. Its headline reads: "1941 Will Reward Fighters."

As I understand The Tribune's diagnosis, Chicago is suffering from community colitis, native pellagra, the sleeping sickness of remote control, and a 50 per cent shortage in intestinal yardage.

It required courage to tell the truth because some of us can't take it and because it hurts civic ego and panics private pockets. Some critics will not like it. Some will say that THE TRIBUNE is a "common scold" and has publicly washed a lot of civic underwear.

Our organized civic and commercial efforts have slumped because our old time leaders are dead or dormant, and our local statesmen lack all the vitamins from A to Z.

Time was when our giants in commerce and industry ganged up in organized crusades for trade and good will they broadcast Chicago's good name and built commerce at home and abroad. They repeatedly visited every section of the country, each delegate paying his own way, and each representing his city as a whole, and not as a booster of his own line of business. Also, and incidentally, they cleaned up a typical crime wave and solved the perennial traction problem in a stride by simple, direct big business methods.

Time was when Chicago killed its own snakes, raked its own leaves, financed local improvements without federal aid, and managed to prosper. For five straight years before world war No. 1 we averaged a million dollars per day in building permits—not counting public works and without FHA projects or the beneficent charity of Harold [WPA] Ickes. There were no blighted areas then. Never before the present era have we torn down skyscrapers to save taxes. Higher taxes have destroyed or decimated real estate values, especially downtown and in the best residential districts. We can harvest wild hay in fertile spots on State street if this sort of business recovery keeps up.

All true friends of Chicago will welcome The Tribune's call to arms. There is ever a fighting minority of congenital Americans in Chicago, born of militant spirit and pioneer background. The fighters can win again in 1941 as they did in 1921.

CHILD LABOR LAW.

Oak Park, Ill., Jan. 9.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—1. I would like very much to have the facts of the child labor law in reference to selling things. Is it illegal for boys or girls to sell something for [2] prize or [3] gift and money also [4] at Christmas time, only for a week, if they pay for their merchandise before they get it? Anything you have about this law I would be very interested in having.

Apparently this would not apply to your facts.

Police Officer Admits Raid and Kidnaping.

A St. Joseph county, Indiana, constable and two companions were locked up in the county jail in South Bend last night as members of a hijacking gang who kidnaped two truck drivers Jan. 4 in southeastern Indiana and stole 400 cases of whisky valued at $5,000.

Herbert W. Clements.

The constable is Herbert W. Clements, who a year ago was accused of operating a speed trap in German township in St. Joseph county. Held with him are Chester Manis, 23 years old, and his brother, Harry, 21, who are employed as drivers in a trucking business operated by Clements. The three were arrested yesterday thru a trap planned by Sheriff Steve Molnar of St. Joseph county and his deputies.

Constable Accuses Brothers.

Molnar said Clements admitted his part and named his employés as the two who helped him kidnap the truck drivers—Damon Coffee and Charles Moore, both of Evansville. Coffee was stopped near Versailles, in Ripley county, as he was driving the load of liquor up a steep hill. Moore, who was driving another truck close behind him with a load of merchandise, also was stopped.

The two drivers were bound, blindfolded, and placed in an automobile driven by one of the hijackers. The two other hijackers drove off with the trucks, and the third bandit followed in the car. The merchandise truck was abandoned in Osgood, five miles away. The liquor truck was driven to near New Carlisle—215 miles from Versailles—and unloaded. The hijackers then locked Coffee and Moore in the back of the truck.

Traced by Color of Car.

The two drivers attracted the attention of another trucker, who released them after Coffee poked a set of extra keys thru a slit in the door of the truck.

Sheriff Molnar learned that a man with a maroon colored car—the same color as the hijackers' car—was trying to sell liquor at a low price in St. Joseph county. He obtained the license number of the car, and it was traced to Clements.

Molnar and his deputies hid near Clements' home, a mile east of South Bend. Early yesterday they saw Clements and Chester Manis load several cases of liquor on a trailer, and seized them while they were driving down the highway. Harry Manis was arrested when he appeared later at Clements' home.

Molnar said 345 cases of the whisky were recovered, some in Clements' home. He said the three would be questioned about other hijackings in Indiana.

$1,500,000 WPA BUILDING SAGS ON FOUNDATIONS

New York, Jan. 13 [Special].—The $1,500,000 administration building built by the WPA at the New York Municipal airport at North Beach, Queens, has sagged so badly on its foundations that the city administration today found it necessary to conduct a tour to refute reports that the lavish structure is all but coming apart at the seams.

This is the latest of a series of revelations concerning defects at the huge airfield which cost American taxpayers in the neighborhood of $50,000,000. Other complaints have found fault with the macadam runways, and a special congressional committee reported the huge project was started "without assembling of necessary technical and supervisory personnel."

It was estimated today that it will cost at least $15,000 to correct the conditions that have caused the administration building to settle unevenly.

FARMERS FIGHT MILK INSPECTION FEE PLAN OF CITY

Representatives of the 16,000 dairy farmers in the Chicago milk shed yesterday planned an attack on the city council's proposed ordinance to shift the $400,000 annual cost of dairy inspections from the taxpayers to the producers. The council will hold a public hearing on the measure tomorrow.

The bill provides that for each 100 pounds of milk [46.5 quarts] produced, dairy farms would pay a fee of 1¼ cents; country receiving plants, ¼ cent, and city pasturization plants, ½ cent. Milk companies would pay an annual fee of $5 for each truck or wagon, and independent vendors would be assessed $15 per year.

Research Expert Tells of Need for Increased Lake Diversion

Need for greater diversion of water from Lake Michigan into the Illinois waterway was stressed yesterday by Dr. Floyd H. Mohlman, director of laboratories for the Chicago sanitary district. He testified before Monte M. Lemann, special master in chancery for the United States Supreme court, who is hearing evidence on the plea of Illinois for a two year temporary increase in the rate of diversion.

Dr. F. H. Mohlman.

Concluding a report on the recently completed 10 day experiment in flushing the waterway and cleaning out an estimated million cubic yards of malodorous sludge in Brandon pool, at the edge of the Joliet city limits, Dr. Mohlman said, "I don't see how conditions can be bettered unless there is an increase in the present flow of 1,500 cubic feet per second."

Foresees Greater Need.

"The need for relief of sludge conditions at Brandon pool is going to be as great—and possibly greater—this year as last. The only way to make an improvement is to raise the present rate as requested in the state's petition."

The lower rate, cut from 5,000 cubic feet per second, was put into effect Jan. 1, 1939, by the Supreme court on the plea of other lake states. The sanitary district's southwest sewage treatment plant was not then completed and in the early months of 1939 sediment piled up in the canal. Subsequently the plant was put into operation, but the reduced flow failed to carry out the waste, causing offensive odors and health hazards.

In his report, Dr. Mohlman noted that the concentration of oxygen in the pool water was increased considerably when the rate of flow was raised to 10,000 cubic feet per second during the 10 day test.

Deposits Are Computed.

Tests for suspended solids, to show the amount of sludge carried along in the current, disclosed that 27,067 tons passed the Cass street bridge, near Brandon pool. Altho most of this was deposited in the pool, 7,512 tons passed thru the pool, whereas only 800 tons would have passed thru with the normal rate of diversion, Dr. Mohlman said.

Altho the increased velocity of water flow failed to flush the sludge laden Brandon pool, Dr. Mohlman reported that about 94 times as much organic sludge was carried out of the pool as would be normally transported in a dry weather winter day with 1,500 cubic feet per second diversion.

OFFICERS PLEDGE CO-OPERATION ON BACK TAX PLAN

Some Board Members Oppose Job Boost.

County Treasurer John Toman and Sheriff Thomas J. O'Brien announced yesterday they would coöperate with other county officials and the county board in making effective the proposed special bureau for the collection of back taxes.

Judges of the Circuit court, who set the number of employés in county fee offices, refused last week to authorize the new bureau. Circuit Judge Harry M. Fisher said Sunday, however, that the judges might reconsider the plan if county officials would give assurance the proposal was not just an empty gesture. Judge Walter J. La Buy, chairman of the judges' committee on help, said the question could be reopened if the county board favored the bureau.

Oppose Employment of New Staff.

Several county commissioners asserted, however, they were opposed to adding the 42 additional employés who would operate the bureau. They said Toman should be able to collect back taxes with the facilities of his present staff.

The commissioners were to hold their first meeting on the 1941 budget yesterday, but postponed the session until today because the four Republican members of the board were attending the inauguration of state officials in Springfield.

"We have budget requests from department heads totaling 23 million dollars, without the tax bureau, and our revenues are estimated at 5½ millions below that," said Commissioner Dan Ryan, acting chairman of the county board finance committee. "In view of this deficiency, which will require cuts in many departments, the treasurer ought to use his present staff to collect taxes."

1941 Requests Analyzed.

An analysis of the requests from department heads for 1941 appropriations was given out by County Controler Michael J. Flynn. The budget of $23,099,000 is only $6,000 less than last year's record budget, which included more than one million dollars for election expenses.

Some of the departmental increases requested, compared with actual appropriations for 1940, are shown in the following table:

| | 1941: requested. | 1940 appropriation. |
|---|---|---|
| Juvenile court | $2,323,904 | $2,279,088 |
| Juvenile Detention home | 375,094 | 346,206 |
| Bureau Public Welfare | 960,197 | 905,122 |
| County hospital | 4,934,711 | 4,545,643 |
| Oak Forest Institutions | 1,401,970 | 1,280,251 |
| Sheriff's office | 1,072,910 | 1,053,690 |
| Clerk Superior Court | 243,273 | 222,944 |
| County Assessor | 977,864 | 920,700 |
| Zoning board | 35,680 | 11,960 |
| Civil Service commission | 103,680 | 61,012 |

Department heads requested $23,205,460 last year and were granted $22,170,961 when the 1940 budget was adopted.

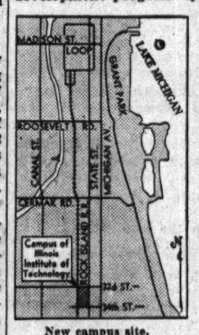
ILLINOIS TECH TELLS 3 MILLION EXPANSION PLAN

Six Blocks Acquired for South Side Campus.

BY THE REV. JOHN EVANS.

Inauguration of a 3 million dollar development program by the Illinois Institute of Technology on the old Armour Institute of Technology site at 33d and Federal streets was announced yesterday at a meeting of 100 civic and industrial leaders in the Chicago club. Illinois Tech, now called the largest engineering school in the country because of its 7,000 students, was formed last July when Lewis institute of arts and sciences was merged with Armour institute.



New campus site.

The announcement of the new program was made by Dr. Henry T. Heald, president of the Illinois institute, and James D. Cunningham, chairman of the institute board. They revealed that during the last two years six blocks of properties between 32d and 34th streets and State street and the Rock Island railroad tracks have been acquired.

Cites Engineering Demand.

Wilfred Sykes of the Inland Steel company, chairman of the institute's board committee on policy, told the meeting Chicago's continued industrial development makes it necessary for the city to have a great engineering school.

"Over 20,000 engineers are employed in the Chicago industrial area," Sykes said. "The increase in the rate of employment of engineers in Chicago exceeds that of any other city in the United States, and the number of engineers in Chicago in comparison to the total number of industrial workers exceeds that of any other city."

Single Campus, Ultimate Aim.

Dr. Heald said the institute's expansion program, already under way, will provide for 2,500 full time day students on the new campus and 4,500 night and part time students. He added that the long range plan envisions a single campus equipped for the students of both the Armour engineering schools and the Lewis institute of arts and sciences, now widely scattered over the city. Lewis institute will continue at its present location, 1951 Madison street, until the new campus is completed, he said.

The institute president displayed stereopticon slides and motion pictures showing how cramped are present institute buildings, and how the newly acquired campus properties constitute a major slum clearance project for the near South side.

SIX HANDBOOK OPERATORS FINED.

Six handbook operators paid fines of $5 and cost of $8.50 each yesterday following arraignment before Judge John T. Zuris in South State street court.

MYSTERY KNIFER STABS WOMAN IN BACK, AND FLEES

Miss Lillian Lally, an Englishwoman, who recently returned to Chicago from London, was stabbed in the back last night in front of her home at 1124 Farwell avenue.

Miss Lally told police she was about to enter the vestibule of the building when an unidentified man stepped from behind the hedge, plunged a knife into her back, and fled. Her brother-in-law and her sister, Mr. and Mrs. Bernard Regan, with whom she lives, ran to her aid when they heard her scream. Regan is an elevated company employé.

Miss Lally, who is 33 years old, received first aid from Dr. W. E. Keesey, 6205 Broadway, and was removed to the Illinois Masonic hospital. Examination showed that the weapon, a rusty pocket knife with a 2½ inch blade, had penetrated a half inch. Her fur coat is said to have saved her from a deeper wound. Miss Lally said she knows only a few people in Chicago and has no enemies. Police could not explain the attack.

Klarkowski Transferred to Criminal Court Bench

Circuit Judge Stanley J. Klarkowski yesterday was transferred to the Criminal court bench by the Circuit court's executive committee, acting on the request of Chief Justice James F. Fardy of the Criminal branch. Judge Klarkowski fills a vacancy existing in Criminal court since September. Judge William V. Brothers, head of the Circuit court chancery division, will hear the motions now pending on Judge Klarkowski's docket in that court.

RIVERS PARDONS 2 RICH GEORGIA HOLDUP KILLERS

Governor Acts on Eve of His Retirement.

Atlanta, Ga., Jan. 13 (AP).—Gov. E. D. Rivers closed the record on a college boy "thrill" killing today by pardoning Richard Gray Gallogly and George Harsh, sentenced to life imprisonment in 1928.

Harsh has been free on parole since Thanksgiving, but today's action brought Gallogly his first legal liberty since his arrest in the autumn of 1928 shortly after Drug Clerk Willard Smith was shot to death in a holdup.

In the trials, the state sought to show that the two young Oglethorpe university students—Gallogly then was 18 years old, Harsh 21—killed in climax to a series of crimes committed not for money, but for excitement after ordinary college pranks had palled. Gallogly is a member of a wealthy family long prominent in Atlanta business and society, while Harsh's parents were a wealthy Milwaukee couple.

Governor Leaves Office Today.

Rivers, who leaves office tomorrow, announced his decision to an applauding crowd that jammed the executive chambers. When he opened the hearing, Rivers read into the record a lengthy attack on James M. Cox, former governor of Ohio and present owner of the Atlanta Journal which has been conducting an editorial campaign against the executive's pardoning practices.

Last Friday Rivers announced he would consider a new appeal by Gallogly—from whose family Cox bought the Journal in 1939—only if the newspaper would publish affidavits from members of the prisoner's family and officials of the Journal saying no fee was involved in the governor's action.

The Journal printed the requested affidavits on its front page Saturday, but along with them was an editorial signed by Cox, renewing attacks on River's pardoning policies.

Two Juries Disagreed.

Gov. Rivers pointed out two juries failed to convict Gallogly. He recalled the state prison commission in 1936 recommended clemency which Eugene Talmadge, then governor, refused, and said Gallogly did not fire the fatal shots. Rivers declared Harsh's recent parole affected Gallogly's plea and said he felt Gallogly was "not any more guilty than Harsh."

Harsh was convicted and sentenced to death for the slaying. Gallogly was tried twice, but mistrials resulted. Later, Gallogly pleaded guilty and was given a life sentence. At a clemency hearing in 1939 Gallogly said he pleaded guilty to save Harsh from the electric chair. In a letter read at that hearing by Solicitor General John Boykin, Harsh denied the assertion. Harsh was given life imprisonment, the same penalty given Gallogly.

A. F. L. SEES JOB GAINS; AGREES TO RELIEF CUTS

Washington, D. C., Jan. 13 (AP).—Congress learned today that the American Federation of Labor estimating current unemployment at 8,000,000, is willing to have relief appropriations reduced in view of quickening defense hiring but would insist on "adequate provision for those unable to find jobs in industry."

The estimate indicated the A. F. of L.'s belief that unemployment has declined about 20 per cent in the last 12 months.

[The census bureau reported Jan. 6 that data compiled during the decennial census last spring showed 5,110,270 persons had neither public nor private jobs. At the same time Secretary of Labor Frances Perkins estimated that employment increased 1,100,000 from November, 1939, to November, 1940, and that the defense program would open up jobs for 5,000,000 to 6,000,000 during the next 18 months.]

The A. F. of L.'s newest estimate was contained in its legislative recommendations to congress, made public yesterday.

SEIZE 2 PAROLE VIOLATORS FOR QUIZ IN HOLDUPS

Marquette police said last night they expected to solve several west side holdups as a result of the arrest of two parole violators. The two are Stanley Tryanowski, 22 years old, 2632 Cermak road, and John Ross, 22, of 2944 Michigan avenue.

Police said Tryanowski was paroled last May after serving seven years in Pontiac for robbery. Ross was paroled from Pontiac three months ago after serving five years for burglary. Both were listed as parole violators for failure to report to parole authorities.

They were arrested yesterday by Sergt. Roger O'Dea and his squad at Fairfield avenue and 21st street.

GIRL, 3, IS KILLED BY CAR AS SHE RUNS IN STREET

Judith McClanahan, 3 years old, 1440 Thorndale avenue, was injured fatally yesterday when she ran into the street near her home and was struck by the automobile of Dr. George F. Glaser, 3172 Pine Grove avenue.

The girl, only child of Mrs. Mary M. McClanahan, died in Edgewater hospital. Dr. Glaser told police she appeared suddenly from between two parked cars and that he was unable to stop in time to avoid the accident.

Charles Eaton, 82, who was homeless, died in Illinois Central hospital soon after being struck by a car driven by William McLaury of Antwerp, O. The accident occurred in Jackson park near the midway.

Eldred Watters, 33, of 6415 Kimbark avenue, died in Chicago Memorial hospital of injuries suffered Jan. 6 when the truck in which he was riding overturned near Bryan, O.

William Jones, 54, colored, 318 East 38th street, a WPA watchman, was killed when struck at Kilpatrick avenue and Irving Park road by a car driven by Gale Best, 4938 Berenice avenue.

Up to 4 p. m. yesterday 41 persons had been killed in traffic accidents in Cook county since Jan. 1. Of these 29 died in Chicago, where 785 were injured during the same period.

THREE MOTORISTS GET JAIL TERMS FOR TIPSY DRIVING

Three motorists charged with driving while intoxicated were sentenced by Judge Leon Edelman in Safety court yesterday. They are Thure Johnson, 48 years old, 9237 South 54th avenue, Oak Lawn, 10 days in the Bridewell and year's loss of driving privileges; John H. Clark, 31, colored, of 5408 South Michigan avenue, 10 days in the County jail and one year's suspension, and James Yearby, 25, colored, of 431 Bowen avenue, 30 days in the Bridewell and a year's suspension.

GUARD WORKERS AFTER RIOT OF C. I. O. PICKETS

5 Policemen Injured; 20 Strikers Arrested.

Saginaw, Mich., Jan. 13 [Special].—Four hundred night shift employés of the Wilcox-Rich division of the Eaton Manufacturing company went to work at 4 p. m. today under protection of state police after a morning clash between workers and C. I. O. pickets which resulted in injury of five policemen and two strikers.

By night police and state troopers had arrested 20 pickets on rioting charges and said they would obtain felony warrants against every man who could be identified as having taken part in the disorder.

Governor Takes Action.

In Lansing, Gov. Murray D. Van Wagoner announced he had authorized use of as many state troopers as necessary to protect the Saginaw plant and those who wanted to work. He also called a conference in Detroit with R. J. Thomas, president of the C. I. O. United Auto Workers, and a spokesman for the Eaton company.

The Wilcox-Rich plant is engaged in filling national defense orders for automotive valves, valve seats, and piston rings. Three hundred C. I. O. auto workers walked out last Nov. 13 over a dispute with the A. F. of L. auto workers over a closed shop contract.

Hearing on a petition for a plant election was conducted two weeks ago after an agreement between the C. I. O. and the Eaton company for suspension of the strike. The company agreed to take the strikers back pending a labor board decision.

Walkout in Detroit.

Until this morning those who cared to work were not molested. Picketing was ordered after C. I. O. leaders charged that the company had not kept its word to reëmploy all those who went out Nov. 13. The strike order for this morning also included the Eaton company's Detroit plant, and several hundred employés walked out there this afternoon without disorder.

Patrolman Milan V. Plavsic was the only person requiring more than first aid treatment as a result of this morning's brief scuffle. He remained in a hospital tonight for treatment of cuts on his head.

In Cleveland, O., J. O. Eaton, chairman of the parent company, said the dispute was caused by factional bitterness between the C. I. O. and A. F. of L. for control of plant employés in Saginaw.

Isabel Fiske Will Be Bride in the Spring

BY JUDITH CASS.

FROM Washington, D. C., where Mrs. David Fiske and her daughter, Miss Isabel, are visiting Mrs. Fiske's sister, Mrs. Wirt Robinson, comes an announcement from Mrs. Fiske of the engagement of her daughter to Harry Homer Hightower, son of Mrs. Thomas Jefferson Hightower of Atlanta, Ga. Miss Fiske's father was the late Dr. David Fiske. She is a niece of Dr. and Mrs. George Foster Fiske of Chicago.

Miss Fiske was educated at the Roycemore school in Evanston and Randolph-Macon college in Ashland, Va. She is a member of the Evanston Junior league. She and Mr. Hightower plan to be married in the spring. He is a graduate of the Virginia Military institute and is in business in Jackson, Mich.

Another interesting engagement announcement is one that Mr. and Mrs. John H. Roe are making. Their daughter, Marion Louise, is engaged to Chauncey Laur.e Griffith, son of John F. Griffith of Bellingham, Wash. Miss Roe attended the University of Toronto and was graduated from the University of Chicago.

Mr. Griffith attended the Western Washington College of Education and was graduated from the Eastman School of Music. He teaches music at the Francis W. Parker school in Chicago. The wedding will take place this spring.

Smyth-Fox Nuptials Today.

The marriage of Miss Judith Fox to John M. Smyth Jr. will take place at 4:30 o'clock today in the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Clarence A. Fox of Winnetka.

The ceremony will be performed by the Rt. Rev. Msgr. Francis J. Magner, bishop-designate of Marquette. The couple will have only two attendants for the small family ceremony. Miss Jean Fox will attend her sister as maid of honor, and Nelson Smyth of Evanston will be his brother's best man.

After a wedding trip to Nassau the couple will reside in Evanston, where the senior Smyths make their home.

Mrs. George A. Richardson leaves today for the Richardsons' ranch in southern California. Mr. Richardson plans to join her later.

Donald F. McPherson, president of the Chicago Council on Foreign Relations, will preside at a luncheon-meeting today in the grand ballroom of the Palmer House. Also at the speaker's table will be Mrs. McPherson, Mr. and Mrs. Clay Judson, John V. Farwell, Mr. and Mrs. William P. Sidley, and Mrs. Barrett Wendell, and Louis Fischer will be the speaker. His subject will be "Stalin and Hitler."

North Shore Wellesley Circle to Hear Alumna.

The North Shore Wellesley circle will meet at 2:30 o'clock today in the home of Mrs. Sackett Howard, 643 Walden road, Winnetka. Alice Hughes Mezedith, an alumna of Wellesley, will discuss "Palmistry, Its Interest and Its Possibilities."

Two dozen new members are being welcomed by the junior board of the Northwestern University settlement at a tea today in the new home of Mrs. William L. Taylor Jr. of Northbrook.

Invited to join the board and to meet the officers at tea are: Mrs. Wendell Fentress, Mrs. J. Hayden Macdonald, Mrs. Lowry Kennedy Grulee Jr., Mrs. Barton Cameron, Mrs. Harold Bloomfield, Miss Barbara Boettcher, Mrs. C. Bradford Carpen-

They will live in Chicago.

Tells How Red-Nazi Pact Opened Eyes of Vassar Students

Charles Gordon Post, professor of political science at Vassar, discussed the effects of recent events upon the minds of his students yesterday at a meeting of the Chicago Vassar club in the Racquet club.

"The soviet-German pact was one of the best things that ever happened to Vassar co-eds," he said. "It brought them down to earth with a bang."

Women will never amount to a row of pins in politics until they have learned to use their minds instead of their emotions, Mrs. Louis Watermulder told the club.

"For 25 years," she said, "young people have been told that politics is dark and dirty and to be avoided. There is no darkness but ignorance. Women are carrying on the work for honest politics in this city and they've found that the principles of Christian charity work better than anything else."

Consecrations of 2 Bishops to Be Feb. 24

BY THE REV. JOHN EVANS.

Feb. 24 has been set for the consecration of two bishops in Chicago, unless late changes should be required. One of the rites will make the Rev. Dr. Wallace Edmonds Conkling of Philadelphia, Pa., the successor to the late Bishop George Craig Stewart of the Episcopal diocese of Chicago. This service will be held in St. James church, Wabash avenue and Huron street.

The other consecration, a few blocks away at Holy Name cathedral, will elevate the Rt. Rev. Msgr. Francis J. Magner of Evanston, to the Catholic episcopate as bishop of Marquette, Mich., with Archbishop Samuel A. Stritch, of the Chicago archdiocese, the chief consecrator.

The Rev. Dr. Conkling, on whom yesterday was conferred the honorary degree of doctor of sacred theology by Bishop Frank A. McElwain, head of Seabury Western Theological seminary, Evanston, will conduct a quiet hour for the clergy of the Episcopal diocese this morning in St. Christopher's church, Oak Park. He explained yesterday that the date for the consecration could not be finally confirmed until his election is approved by majorities of all bishops and standing [executive] committees of all dioceses.

The Episcopal bishop elect, who, at 44 years old, is one of the youngest men ever elected to such an important see as Chicago, said yesterday that Feb. 24 had been chosen because it is the 41st anniversary of the consecration of the late Bishop Charles Palmerston Anderson, who at the time of his death in 1931 was presiding bishop of the Episcopal church. Feb. 24 is the feast of St. Matthews.

The Rt. Rev. Henry St. George Tucker of New York, presiding bishop of the Episcopal church, will be the chief consecrator for Dr. Conkling. At least three bishops are required in services of consecration of either a Catholic or an Episcopal bishop. Bishop Elect Conkling was elected to the Chicago post on Nov. 28, in the church where he will be consecrated.

Bishop Elect Magner was notified of his elevation on Dec. 24, by Archbishop Amleto Giovanni Cicognani of Washington, D. C., papal delegate to the United States.

Looking at Hollywood

by John Chapman

Hollywood, Cal., Jan. 13.—Time was when a movie star went traveling he was simply on vacation. Now he's going to the inauguration or on a good will tour some place. Twentieth Century-Fox, for instance, plans to send Tyrone Power to South America to "offset Nazi efforts to exclude American films from South America." In the last year or two no Hollywoodian has gone to our neighbor continent just to have a good time, or to holiday some place he's never been before, or because it's about the only place left where one can go abroad with safety. It's always either for good will or to observe conditions. Wesley Ruggles, who happened also to be on his honeymoon, went down there to observe conditions. Dozens of actors have good willed from Cristobal to Cape Horn, offsetting Nazis with their autograph pencils, which is just fine, of course. But I am still willing to bet a peso, a reis, a milesimo, or a medio real that the best good will ambassadors to South America or even North America are good movies.

Julius and Philip Epstein have been assigned by the Warners to make a screenplay of the Kaufman-Hart "The Man Who Came to Dinner." . . . The group theater's Harold Clurman will arrive this week to take over his job as assistant producer on the 20th Century-Fox lot. . . . John Ford, who shot "Tobacco Road" in brief time, expected to have the rough cut finished in time for a showing to executives last night. The quick shooting record, however, still belongs to Wood Van Dyke, who took a fortnight's leave from the marine corps in order to bang thru "Rage in Heaven" on the Metro lot. Then he clanked back to the marine base. . . . Rouben Mamoulian took over a bull ring in Mexico City Sunday for some crowd shots for "Blood and Sand." Thirty thousand Mexicans were invited, which made the place the largest bull ring south of a producers' table at a studio commissary. . . . Add good will notes: C. Gable and C. Lombard have driven themselves to Mexico in a dump truck loaded with provisions, with no other purpose than to have some fun hunting. . . . Walter Pidgeon is one of those actor chumps who sometimes fall for oil land salesmen. He bought in on some property in Texas—and now the outfit has 16 producing wells!

Event of the week-end was the luncheon on the "Ziegfeld Girl" sound stage for the national convention of college presidents. And maybe the prexies didn't pop Jerry Colonna eyes at the babes Metro has lined up for the picture. . . . Young Bill Orr, working in "Thirty Days Hath September" at Warners', has been entertaining his visiting grandpop. The old gentleman, however, has paid only one visit to his grandson's stage and spends the rest of the time in the studio's laboratories, which he finds more interesting. He is Eugene Thomas Turney, noted inventor. . . . Warners won't send "Sergeant York" to the Cumberlands on location. They'll do the outdoor stuff on their ranch in the valley here and save $125,000. Which should be fair enough because Los Angeles county has as many hillbillies as the Cumberland mountains. More, I'll bet.

Jack Oakie certainly must know as much about movie comedy as anybody you can think of, and he was talking with your correspondent about it the other night. The subject of stealing scenes came up and he made the observation that the ablest scene-stealer is a dead pan comic—a guy who just stands there and doesn't move. This was interesting because, in the theater, a scenestealer is usually a fly catcher—one who wiggles or mugs.

"The guy with the dead pan who just stands there," said Oakie, "will catch your attention on the screen every time. And then if he mugs or does a take at the end of a line he gets the laughs. Joe Penner came to me once for some advice"—Joe had died that day and we were talking about him—"and I asked him what was wrong. He was working in a picture with a dead pan comic, not Ned Sparks but one like him, and he wasn't getting the laughs.

"So I told him, 'Keep him off balance, never let him get set. Paw him and push him and you'll get the laughs.' It worked, too. That's the way I work. Keep 'em off balance."

Observation: Los Angeles is the only full-grown city where headline writers still use the word "solons" when they are stuck with something about congress. . . . In his first picture, "Barbary Coast," Brian Donlevy wore a coat from wardrobe which Clark Gable had once worn—so donning something of Gable's has become a superstition with him.

THE STAGE

"Blossom Time," the perenially popular operetta based upon the character of Franz Schubert, and employing Schubert's music as arranged by Sigmund Romberg, will open a limited engagement at the Grand Opera house next Tuesday. Everett Marshall will sing the role of Schubert. The most frequently revived of all operettas, "Blossom Time" was last heard here in the fall of 1938.

Who Is This Girl?

By Helen Topping Miller

[Copyright 1941: By Helen Topping Miller.]

SYNOPSIS.

INSTALMENT II.

ANOTHER NIECE.

Mac remembered the gossip about Harp Greenlee was that he had spent money that should have gone for windmills and tanks and a new fence, to build a fancy room on his adobe house on the ranch—a room with a tiled bath and a chaise longue with ruffles, and lamps with rose colored shades—and on the various women who had draped themselves on that chaise longue—too many women of whom one Gertrude had been the last—or had she?

Mac studied the beautifully madeup faces in that room, the white shoulders, the diamonds, and wondered.

He was fiercely loyal to Harp Greenlee. Harp had been like a father to him for four years. He had turned over all his western operations to McCullough, two years before, altho there had been older men who coveted that responsibility. But even loving the old man as he did, Dan McCullough could not help seeing that something fundamental and challenging and strong in Harp was slowly disintegrating. In a few more years he would be only one more fattish, iron gray New Yorker.

"Take Bee into dinner, Mac," Harp brought up the woman who had been introduced as Mrs. Abney. "She wants to ask you something."

"Ever since I heard you were coming—from San Mateo," Mrs. Abney said, as McCullough pulled out her chair, "I've been prodding Harp to give me a chance to talk to you. I want to know about your country. I think I know—some one, out there."

Her face, McCullough noted, was oddly youthful under a carelessly brushed back wave of silvering hair. Her eyes were dark and slow and grave, her brows delicate, her mouth gentle and only a little tinted. She spoke slowly, in a careful manner, as tho for a long time she had been thinking, perhaps, in another language.

"Abney," Mac repeated her name, lighting a cigaret for her, "I know a man of that name—"

"He's still there, then? Francis Abney?"

"That's the name. He paints pictures."

"O, he is still painting then?"

"Paints Indian kids, and women with ollas on their heads. He painted a Navajo with a flute not long ago and some man from a New York gallery bought it. So you know him?"

"Quite well—or I did, some years ago. He was a—sort of connection. I've been living in Paris for several years. I'm on a fashion magazine. So I haven't heard of him in quite a long time. I'm glad he's still painting."

"Still painting and still drinking," Mac could have told her, but he said instead, casually: "My judgment on art isn't expert or educated, but I like what Abney paints. Tourists buy his pictures sometimes."

"He could have been famous," she said, her face very still. She had, Mac thought, the most beautiful eyelids he had ever seen on a woman. "But I don't think he wanted it. That sort of thing bored him. Any responsibility irritated him."

"He doesn't care much for people now. He lives in a jacal that he fixed up, Mexican house, you know, mud walls and a thatched roof. He whitewashed it and painted the door bright blue. He has an Indian boy and a paint horse and he likes to ride on the hills, all alone."

"Yes," she said, slowly, "he would ride alone. Now, you must talk to that girl on your left, Mr. McCullough. She's a relative or a ward of Harp's, I think. I'm a little vague about just who she is."

And that was when Mac turned and found himself looking into the blue eyes. That was when it began.

He said, "Storm—is that really your name?"

And she, smiling up at him, answered, "It's the only name I have. You're from San Mateo, aren't you?"

"Yes, I'm from San Mateo. Live here, do you—in New York?"

"I live here—here in this house. That's why you didn't see me earlier. I was fixing this table."

Mac looked down the expanse of shining linen, set with silver and crystal, at the great bowl of black and jade grapes in the middle, and at Harp's thickening fingers, turning a wine glass so that diamonds and rubies shimmered on the table.

"I see," he said, evenly, "you live here."

But his voice changed a little. She lived here—in Harp's apartment—and she could not be more than 19. Her face was flower fresh and a little naive, with a sprinkling of gold freckles across the bridge of her nose.

"Relative of Greenlee's, are you? he asked, knowing with dull certainty that that could not be true. He knew Harp's history, knew that he had no family anywhere, knew the ancient joke that went the rounds of the herder's huts and the bunk house at San Mateo when Harp brought women to the ranch.

"Niece of mine," was what Harp always said, brazening it out.

This girl called Storm looked at him, with eyes wide open and trustful. Eyes that kept a look over from childhood, where no hurt or disillusion lived—yet.

"He says that I'm his niece," she said, "but between the two of us, I don't believe it. But I've been here since June and I can't break him down. Once he told me that the family Bible was destroyed in the Galveston flood."

"Galveston was blown away in 1900," said Mac, a little stiffly.

"Too many years ago. I wouldn't be in that Bible, even if it hadn't been lost, would I? Tell me about San Mateo. Harp is always promising to take me there. But somehow it's always too hot or too dry or the northers will be blowing, or something."

"He ought to take you," Mac felt his eyelids narrowing and his mouth drawing dry and grim. There's a room in Harp's house out there—built especially for you, I think. Anyway, it has mirrors and ruffles all over it."

"It wasn't meant for me, then. I don't care for ruffles. But I do like horses. I learned to ride once—and I was so very small that I can't remember where it was. Except that there were a lot of rocks all around. They put me in a convent when I was 5, and I've been there ever since till last June, when Harp took me out."

So Harp was taking them out of boarding school now, was he? Mac felt a quick, hot flare of anger toward the loud voiced man who sat at the head of this rich table. The man who had made him and been a father to him. And a friend.

"Haven't you a mother?" he asked bluntly almost harshly.

She shook her head. "I lost my mother, long ago. Do you always scowl like that at people, or is it the desert sun? San Mateo is in the desert, isn't it?"

"Was I scowling? I'm sorry. No, San Mateo isn't in the desert. It's in rough country, part of it, and part of it lies in a green river valley. But west and south of us the country is all pretty wild. Ragged, dry hills, all the way south to the Rio Grande. It smells of sage brush and the sun on the cedars, and sometimes when the wind blows from the south we get a drift of the curious, exciting smell of Mexico—tobacco and wood smoke, goats and garlic—with a strange, sort of secret age about it, a smell you never forget."

"And the wind—the wind blows always." She seemed to be talking, almost to herself. Mac saw her hands, slender and strong, turning the stem of her glass, but not lifting it, saw the look of dream in her face. A lovely face, that a man would fight for, he was thinking, fight to keep the pain out of it, and shame and hurt and sorrow—a man who was young and stung with quick hot blood, and eagerness for life—a man with dreams and an ideal, any man but Harp Greenlee. "How do I know about the wind?" she mused on, turning up her lashes to look full at him. "I couldn't know, could I?"

"You have a good imagination," he said dryly. "It does blow always."

He was feeling a tightness in his throat that hurt like the devil. This girl was not acting. She was as young, as untouched, as delicately lovely as she seemed. A child—dancing on the raw, ugly edges of danger and dreaming about the wind. Seeing only the flowers growing there, and nothing of the thin foul smoke that seeped up from the murky crater below.

"She doesn't know why she's here!" he was thinking. "With silk on her body and pearls around her neck!"

He turned to Mrs. Abney abruptly.

"You were asking about the Navajo," he began, without preamble.

"Was I?" She lifted her perfect brows. "I had forgotten."

[Copyright: 1941: By The Chicago Tribune.]

The best food in the world comes to American tables, sometimes with the world's worst coffee. Many families do not know what a good cup of coffee should taste like, having accepted inferior brew served to them regularly as a matter of course.

Restaurants, at least the best of them, have mastered the art of brewing perfect coffee, but not more than one housewife in ten makes clear, flavorful coffee of standard, dependable strength.

Part of the trouble is due to inaccurate measurements. The old "heaping tablespoon" isn't exact, by any means. A "heaping tablespoon" may be anywhere from 1¼ to 2½ tablespoons or more. Another common fault is the use of coffee which has been exposed to air long enough to lose aroma and flavor. Only fresh coffee will give results worth drinking. The coffee maker has a great deal to do with good or bad coffee, too. While good coffee may be made even with the old-fashioned pot, newer and more scientific equipment is easier to use successfully. Any kind of coffee maker must be kept scrupulously clean.

RULES FOR MAKING COFFEE.

1. Use a good brand of fresh coffee, and a grind suited to your equipment. A fine grind works better for drip and vacuum pots than does the regular percolator grind, and vice versa.

2. See that the coffee maker is scrupulously clean before using. Scald it before making coffee. Never let coffee stand overnight in the pot.

3. Measure accurately. The standard proportions are 2 level tablespoons of coffee per full half pint measuring cup of water. Less or more coffee than that may be used, of course, for a family which likes stronger or weaker than standard coffee, but measurements should always be the same.

4. Brew coffee for the length of time required for the particular method being used. Don't over percolate coffee, or let the water stand in the upper bowl of a vacuum coffee maker for longer than two or three minutes.

5. If you must reheat coffee [it's better to make as much as you'll need for one drinking instead of an oversupply] don't let it boil.

6. Serve coffee freshly made. Don't make it ahead of dinner time, thinking to save bother later. You'll sacrifice quality if you do.

Wright College to Join in Vocational Survey

William H. Conley, dean of Wright Junior college, announced yesterday that the school has been selected as one of eight junior colleges in the United States to engage in a three year study of vocational education. The selection was made by the General Education board of New York City which has set up a $100,000 fund for the study.

Numerology
By Evelyn Holmes

Jan. 14, 1941.

Universal day—Shop and visit friends. Be optimistic.

Vocations—Those born on the 14th of any month have five for a vocation number, but with the combination of one and four behind that erratic five. Thus they should be in the entertainment field, in politics, selling, or use their inventive ideas in science. The one gives them the pioneering ideas and ability to lead and stand out as individuals, and the four gives them more stability than the five alone would have. It makes them willing to work harder for success and to have an enduring quality which brings them more success than their talent alone. Excellent examples of the 14 vocation are Stuart Erwin, Jack Oakie, and Jessica Dragonette. In other fields is Albert Einstein, as were Fahrenheit, Samuel Crowther, and Talleyrand.

Street Frock or House Dress

WOMAN'S AND MISS' FROCK.

This versatile and handsome design may make either a street frock or a house dress, depending upon the fabric selection. Princess lines, buttoned down the front, are universally flattering, and so trim they fit into almost any daytime social pattern.

Style No. 2701 is designed for sizes 14 and 16, and 36, 38, 40, 42, 44, 46, 48, 50, and 52 inch bust measurements. Size 36 requires 3¾ yards of 39 inch material, with ⅛ yard of contrasting for short-sleeved dress; 4¼ yards with ⅛ yard contrasting for long-sleeved style.

Address orders for Clotilde patterns to Chicago Tribune, P. O. Box 537, Grand Central annex, NEW YORK CITY, including 10 cents in stamps or coin (coin preferred — wrap it carefully) for each pattern ordered. IMPORTANT! Be sure to state clearly the number of the pattern and the size desired, and write your name and address plainly.

Artist Will Speak at Preview Tonight.

The Woman's Athletic club will hear Henry C. Wolfe discuss "Is Russia the Key to Europe?" this morning at 11:30 o'clock. Luncheon will be served after the talk and members may invite guests.

The first postholiday meeting of the Evanston Town hall will bring Mr. Wolfe, foreign affairs expert and author of "The Imperial Soviets," to the platform of the Woman's club of Evanston at 8:15 o'clock this evening. The speaker has chosen the topic, "Power Politics and Russia," including the current situation in the Balkans as well as Russia's rôle in the present world crisis.

Mrs. George A. de Gripenberg, wife of the Finnish ambassador to Great Britain, will show a film, "Finland Fights," and discuss her recent experiences in that country this afternoon at 4 o'clock at a tea which the English-Speaking Union is giving at the Arts club. Frank A. Hecht, vice president of the union, will introduce Mme. de Gripenberg. Mrs. Herbert Norton is in charge of arrangements for the tea. She will be assisted by Mrs. Edwin Sims, Mrs. John J. McDonough, Mrs. Frank Woods Jr., Mrs. Thomas I. Underwood, and Mrs. Stanley Wanzer.

During her short stay here Mme. de Gripenberg will be entertained at two parties by her friend, Mrs. Bartle Bull, whom she met in England several years ago, and by Mrs. Bull's mother, Mrs. Jacob Baur. Tomorrow evening they are giving a cocktail party for the visitor at the Baur home and they will give a dinner party for her on Thursday evening.

The Chicago College club will entertain at tea today following the symphony concert. Soloist at the concert in Orchestra hall will be Emanuel Feurmann, violoncellist.

Picturesque Story Book farm, the old Julian Rumsey farmhouse on the country estate of Dr. and Mrs. William P. Finney at Lake Geneva, Wis., will be the scene of a series of rummage sales, starting Saturday. The sales will be sponsored by the Lake Forest woman's committee of Druce Lake camp. Heretofore these benefit sales have been held in Mrs. Arthur T. Aldis' hayloft in Lake Forest, but because of the annual drive for the Lake Forest hospital, now going on there, and a Druce Lake benefit scheduled for the end of January in the north shore town, the committee decided to move the rummage sales to Lake Geneva.

Mrs. Ralph E. Milman of Lake Forest is in charge of the sales. "Let us not forget our own underprivileged children in our sympathy for the children of other nations," said Mrs. Milman in giving a pep talk to her committee, which consists of Mrs. John S. Broeksmit, Mrs. David Dangler, Mrs. McPherson Holt, Mrs. Lawrence W. Scudder, Mrs. William F. Peter, Mrs. Albert R. Brunker and Mrs. Albert B. Pattou. Tomorrow

Good Morning!

Love and navy discipline—or, perhaps I should vice versa that—navy discipline AND love—make a gentleman and a sailor out of one hard-boiled riveter in this jolly little saga of life aboard a United States naval training ship.

The picture charmed the audience of which I was one. I can't say that it's radically different from many films of like tenor, but its imitations are of the sort of thing that's been proved popular.

Young Mr. Cagney as a jeering landsman and Pat O'Brien as an officer of the United States steamship Arizona come to blows on land over the rag, bone, and hank of hair whom Cagney had thought all his own. . . . Taken off guard, the riveter bites the dust—and joins the navy to get even with his conqueror. . . . AND falls in love with the latter's sister—which further complicates matters.

From here on the going is plenty tough for four people. For the rookie who takes the bit in his teeth, hates, and is hated; for the officer whose duty it becomes to testify against the former and be responsible for his court martial; for the girl who loves both brother and sweetheart dearly, and for Droopy, the rebel's pal, who of all the folks acquainted with "Chesty" is the only one to really have the lowdown on the regular guy who lives beneath the maddening exterior.

Events transpire excitingly and believably, with many a leavening stretch of humor. The final scene is uproariously funny.

Cagney and O'Brien team well in their sort of Capt. Flagg-Sergt. Quirt ["What Price Glory"—remember?] feud. Gloria Stuart is adorable as the girl in the case. Other clever bits are contributed by Frank McHugh, Maude Eburne, George Irving, Willard Robertson, and Dorothy Tree.

See you soon.

New Contrasts Brighten Dark Winter Attire

BY REA SEEGER.

Bits about town to overcome a winter mood of doldrums. Costume accents that will magically transform any dark and slightly dated costume are new gloves, bags, blouses, belts, hats, and footgear in flattering new colors.

The first rush of gleaming patent leather handbags is in. The black affairs are in particularly appealing means of high lighting your winter coats.

Next, the fascinating new shades of smooth kid and calfskin bags. They're wide, large and handsome, smartly simple in outline with only the effective contrasting stitching for trim. In tangerine, green, scarlet, and saddle beige, they're knockout buys for black, brown or navy costumes.

What we unhesitatingly recommend as the most beautiful and subtle doeskin golves are in the newest color called by some castor. It's one of the shades from blonde color promotion. This castor shade is like nothing else in the fashion spectrum, with the exception of the sable shade achieved in the slick sable dyed jobs on furs.

The fur of your coat sleeve will blend right into the classic slip-ons for street or the lovely long evening gloves with white buttons at the wrist. This color is especially effective with all green tones, ideal for the cerise, burgundy, and blue-reds so popular, and is also the perfect finish with all shades of beige.

And, while it may prove difficult just now to wear or match these gloves with footgear, it's no trouble at all to find the same castor tint in hosiery and new hats and bags. Footwear will arrive soon. Castor, or sable, goes as well with light as with dark street shades of brown, burgundy, green, old gold, as with black.

Handsome Quilt Pattern

BY NANCY CABOT.

The "Bride's Bouquet" quilt pattern is one of the most attractive of the many patchwork designs. It is singularly easy to piece, since it is on the order of a star motif. The flower effect offers an excellent opportunity to utilize patches from the scrap bag. The pattern illustrates arrangement of patches, blocks, material, and color suggestions, together with detailed descriptions of stitching.

According to CULBERTSON

[Copyright: 1941: By Ely Culbertson.]

Certain bidding conventions ask this specific question of partner: "Have you more than a minimum opening bid? If so, bid again; if not, please pass!"

It should not be difficult for the partner to act as requested. His one and only problem is to decide what constitutes "more" than a minimum. It is obvious, I think, that the possession of a mere queen or other plus value is not sufficient overage; nothing smaller than, and perhaps nothing as small as, an extra half-trick should be considered. Let's take up the case of the following deal:

South, dealer.
Both sides vulnerable.
Rubber bridge.

NORTH.
♠ A K 10 6
♣ Q J 10

♦ Q 10 9
♣ K 8 5 4

SOUTH.
♠ Q 7 2
♥ A Q 8 4 3

♣ A 7

| South | West | North | East |
|---|---|---|---|
| 1 heart | Pass | 3 no trump | Pass |
| 4 hearts | Pass | 5 hearts | Pass |
| 6 hearts | Pass | Pass | Pass |

Altho declarer found a very fair distribution of cards, he was unable to fulfill his ambitious contract. West opened the diamond ace and, on the strength of East's nine spot, continued with diamonds. The king won and the outstanding trumps were quickly drawn. Then the club finesse was negotiated. Naturally, however, East was not so obliging as to cover the club queen, hence altho declarer avoided the loss of a club trick, he could find no place upon which to discard his third diamond. As a matter of fact, he had the gall to be disappointed when the spade suit failed to break and afford him that discarding opportunity.

It is scarcely necessary to point out that the contract itself had been at fault, being substantially too high. North's three no trump bid should have been allowed to stand and he would have made 11 or 12 tricks, depending on East's opening lead and the subsequent defense.

It is this three no trump response that forms the subject of today's discussion. It was precisely the right response on North's holding and it was too bad that South could not coöperate with an equally correct action, a simple pass. North had four honor tricks, including plus values, and a distribution more favorable for no trump than for suit play. As mentioned previously, the jump to three no trump in response to a suit bid of one asks the specific question of partner whether he started with a minimum opening or better than a minimum. In the former case, altho the combined count may be as high as seven honor tricks, the distributional shortcomings of the combined hands usually make a slam a bad gamble.

In the above hand, South's only value over the minimum, "two and a half honor tricks with a five card suit," was the spade queen, and surely that card was not likely to be of sufficient importance to warrant one full extra bid. To prove how delicately adjusted a correct three no trump response is to the various degrees of opening bids, a slam contract would have been a perfectly legitimate risk if, in addition to his actual honors, South had also held a lowly card such as the diamond queen.

Due to the favorable position of outstanding honors, it would not have been fatal for South to rebid his heart suit at the four level, but his acceptance of North's following slam invitation was carrying the pitcher to the well once too often.

Many players have the mistaken notion that a three no trump response to an opening bid is an absolute stop signal, that the bid is for game and game only. This, of course, is absurd. Any one holding the strength for such a huge bid as this can scarcely foresee the combined potentialities of the hands. Thus, it is not a stop signal in any sense, but it most decidedly does demand added values from partner [over his original bid] to warrant a slam attempt.

On the House

We are likely to be snow-conscious for several weeks and a hundred pound bag of calcium chloride is a good investment. Sprinkle it on the icy surfaces of walks and steps to soften ice and make it easy to shovel. If you would take away the slippery quality from ice but not remove it, mix calcium chloride with 10 parts of sand or cinders. Any chloride you don't use up this winter you can use in summer to keep dust down.

LOUISE BARGELT.

Symphony Has Solo Piece on Kettle Drums

BY EDWARD BARRY.

Something new in this reviewer's experience was the featuring of a tympani [kettle-drums] soloist at last night's Great Northern theater concert of the Illinois Symphony orchestra. The tympanist was Ben Vitto, his vehicle a Capriccio for Tympani and Orchestra by the 28 year old American composer, Galen Holcomb. Ralph Rose conducted.

Since this capriccio is intended to describe the phenomena connected with the publication of a metropolitan newspaper, there is work aplenty for the kettledrums. Their thunder suggests the thunder of the city, their hectic rhythms the hectic rhythms of metropolitan life. There are also in the piece themes and instrumental colorings descriptive of a newsboy's cry, of the roar of presses, and of the tragedies with which it is a newspaper's lot to deal.

Mr. Vitto punished his three drums competently. Whether he was engaged in working up a huge, slow thudding meter or merely executing neat rhythmic flourishes he functioned with a sureness and smoothness which it was a delight to watch. And he has developed to a virtuoso point that forward leap onto the drums [to still their vibrations] which every tympanist must learn or die.

Another feature of the program was the performance by Fritz Siegal and Herman Clebanoff, former concertmaster and concertmaster, respectively, of the Illinois Symphony orchestra, of the solo parts of Bach's D Minor Concerto for two violins. They played it cleanly, vigorously, and with a consistently bright tone.

Excerpts from Ernest Bloch's early opera, "Macbeth," and Howard Hanson's "Nordic" Symphony [also an early work] rounded out the program. The Bloch music, which had never before been played here, displayed the thoughtfulness and gravity and reserve which we have learned to associate with its composer's later works.

With this concert Mr. Rose's long engagement as guest conductor came to a temporary end. He has won the respect of his audiences by his taste, his technical experience, and his modesty of demeanor.

THRU THE LOOKING GLASS

It's amazing to notice nowadays how many women who aren't beautiful, if you go by classic standards, are delightful to look at. And it's surprising to see the number of women of whom the catty gals can truthfully say, "She'd be very attractive if she'd just organize her grooming program a little better."

You'd think the almost incredible success of the first group would be the unfailing spur to the second group. No doubt about it, grooming is the answer.

And in grooming, the only sound foundation for success lies in being well scrubbed and sweetly scented. If you haven't exquisite cleanliness of person and clothing, nothing else matters much. But if you do have that brushed, radiantly clean air about you, you have an edge even on your better dressed competitors.

There is no better incentive to the kind of extra special cleanliness we speak of than the possession of bath glorifiers. They can be luxurious without being expensive. Good soaps, for instance, are in the pearls of little price class. And bath powders, feathery and fragrant, are inexpensive. So far as colognes are concerned, you can virtually name your own price. All three are important, psychologically and in other ways, to the formation of the habit of exquisite cleanliness.

Dusting powder tops off the bath to perfection, no matter how hurried it is. It films and scents the skin delicately and is just about invaluable when you must quickly slide into snug girdles.

If you know you're not as neat as you should be, stock up on bath trimmings. You'll change.

Don't Neglect Resolution to Take Exercise

[Copyright: 1941: By News Syndicate Co. Inc.]

Today we want to remind you of all of those noble New Year resolutions you made—remember? Are you following them thru with the same firm resolve which prompted you to make them? We hope so, but knowing how easy it is to forget to do things which require a little sacrifice and effort, we want to prod your memory—and perhaps your conscience.

Have you been doing your exercises faithfully each day? You can't expect to get good results, you know, unless you do. It was easy for you, no doubt, to make good resolutions when every one else was doing so, for enthusiasm is a contagious thing. But now that you're "on your own," as it were, how are you doin'? The chances are, unless you're an exceptionally strong willed woman, you find it difficult to adhere to a daily exercise schedule.

So, because we realize that "misery loves company," we have a suggestion to make to you. Why don't you round up a few of your woman friends who also want to exercise off excess fat and "race" them to see who can do it the fastest? In this way, when you get together to compare notes, if another woman has accomplished more than you have, you'll feel more or less out of the running, unless you can talk about your accomplishments, too.

There is one exercise that is a trusty slimmer for the "vital" parts of the body. For the hips, waist, thighs, and legs do the bicycle exercise. Lie on your back, raise your legs high [balance with hands under hips] and let your heels, not your toes, rotate as tho pedaling a bicycle up a steep hill.

CHRISTOFORIDIS DEFEATS BETTINA FOR N. B. A. TITLE

GREEK'S ATTACK IN 8TH ROUND STAGGERS MELIO

Ex-175 Pound King Rallies Too Late.

Cleveland, O., Jan. 13 (AP).—Anton Christoforidis, 23 year old Greek, tonight won the National Boxing association's recognition as the worldlight heavyweight boxing champion when he pounded out a decision in 15 rounds over Melio Bettina of Beacon, N. Y. The battle drew 8,499 fans who paid $20,462.

Anton Christoforidis.

The bout was given championship rating by the N. B. A. after it declared Billy Conn had forfeited the 175 pound championship by failing to defend it. Christoforidis, scaling 168½ pounds, spotted the New Yorker five and a half in the weights.

Give Winner Six Rounds.

The Associated Press score sheet gave Christoforidis six rounds, Bettina four and five even. The decision was unanimous, both judges and Referee Joe Sedley voting for the European champion.

Christoforidis started slowly tonight and failed to take any of the first four rounds. Bettina seemed to grow overconfident and ceased forcing the going. Christoforidis then warmed up and started the drive that nearly brought him a knockout.

Forced to Alter Style.

Bettina rallied in the tenth and got an even break the rest of the way.

SALICA SAVES TITLE

Handicapped by a completely closed left eye for two-thirds of the fight, Salica won the decision, a verdict which brought cheers from a capacity crowd of 9,000.

An accidental head-on collision in the fourth round almost cost Salica the fight and his title, and forced him to fight with only one eye after the fifth. Only a rally in the last three rounds saved the title for Salica.

Leo Rodak Is Beaten by Everett Rightmire

Providence, R. I., Jan. 13 (AP).—Everett Rightmire, Sioux City, Ia., lightweight, won a unanimous decision over Leo Rodak of Chicago in a close 10 round bout tonight before 1,500.

St. Ambrose Wins from Loras, 36-17, for 3d Victory

Davenport, Ia., Jan. 13 [Special].—The St. Ambrose college basketball team won its third Iowa conference victory tonight, defeating Loras college of Dubuque 36 to 17.

In the Wake of the News

BY ARCH WARD.

FRANCIS XAVIER REAGAN of the Pennsylvania Reagans can look forward to an exciting winter. . . . During the next few weeks he will decide among a $5,000 offer from the Athletics, a $7,500 proposition from the Red Sox, and a promise from the Yankees to meet all other bids. . . . Reagan, a catcher, passed up a seven year medical scholarship to enter professional baseball. . . . Herbert Maack, Columbia university's football captain elect, was on the field every minute of the games with Syracuse, Wisconsin, Navy, Brown, and Colgate. . . . The neon sign over Pete Zivic's saloon in Pittsburgh reads: "Pete Zivic, Oldest and Smartest Zivic." . . . Tom Harmon wore out 24 jersies last season, an average of three a game. . . . If you see a little man wearing a green suit and a furtive look, notify Jim Gallagher, general manager of the Cubs. . . . Jim isn't interested so much in the suit as he is in the fifth of Scotch which was lifted by the same burglar. . . . Mitchell Hopkins, Philadelphia football and basketball official, has insurance against a fifth down incident. . . . He carries his whistle hooked around one finger and moves it on every down. . . . Each club in the Pacific Coast league has promised to introduce at least four amateur players to professional baseball in 1941. . . . Bobby Bragan and Art Mahan, Philly infielders, have taken a pledge to forego dancing this season. . . . Both were so leg weary from nighttime rug cutting they "couldn't get off a dime" in the waning weeks of the 1940 campaign, according to officials of the club. . . .

Friends of Manager Fred Haney of the Browns who advised him against purchasing Outfielder Walter Judnich from Kansas City last winter are happy now that Fred wouldn't listen to them. . . . The quondam busher led the American league in fielding last summer with a .989 average and batted .303. . . . The New York football Giants will return to Superior, Wis., for their preseason training next August. . . . Included in the list of trees and plants, some 3,000,000 of which adorn the Santa Anita racing plant, are considerable numbers of globulus compacta, laurus nobilis, schinus terebinth folious, cocos plumbosa, and 160,000 pansy plants, not to mention 220,000 specimens of orange and yellow calendulas. . . . None of which probably will affect the odds on Challedon in the $100,000 handicap.

Earle Lookabaugh, 50; Joe Chamaco, 37.
Welker Cochran, 50; Len Kenney, 34.

TODAY'S MATCHES.

1 p. m.—Tiff Denton vs. Herb Peterson.
2:30 p. m.—Allen Hall vs. Irving Crane.
4 p. m.—Art Thornblad vs. Joe Moriarity.
9:30 p. m.—Jay Bozeman vs. Paul Lewin.

BY CHARLES BARTLETT.

Mr. Earle Lookabaugh, the silver thatched billiard professor of the Illinois Athletic club, looked real nice in his tuxedo along about 8 o'clock last evening as he stepped into Bensinger's arena. But that was about all the knowing guests would grant him, for he was playing no less than Senor José Chamaco, the Mexican jumping bean, in the third match of the world's three cushion tournament. Mr. Lookabaugh is a fine fellow, but he didn't have a chance against the talented José, said the smarties.

Mr. Lookabaugh thought otherwise. Out of world competition since 1936, Earle played like a champion thruout the most interesting battle of the first day of the 31 day marathon and handed Chamaco a 50 to 37 drubbing for the first big upset of the show. The contest required 54 innings, with Chamaco having the match high run of five, against three fours and four threes for Lookabaugh.

Cochran Starts Off Right.

Welker Cochran, the San Franciscan who has held the title three times and who is the only man ever to win it on his first attempt, won his opener from Len Kenney of Chicago, who is, like Lookabaugh, making a return after several years' absence. The score was 50 to 34 in 50 innings, the match ending just before midnight.

Two veterans, Otto Reiselt of Philadelphia and Jake Schaefer of Cleveland, last year's runnerup, won the afternoon matches. The brisk Reiselt, who lost his first three matches last year, defeated newcomer Paul Lewin of Chicago, who sells cemetery lots and headstones in his spare time, 50 to 36, in 50 innings.

Schaefer withstood a tardy challenge by Clarence Jackson of Detroit, who is heading for his 60th birthday, to win, 50 to 43, in 59 innings. Altho defeated, Lewin had the satisfaction of scoring the high run of the matinée bracket, a seven in the 38th frame. Jackson, trailing Schaefer by 15 points at one time, rallied to come up within five points at 42 to 47.

The afternoon sessions today will go on a three-a-turn basis, beginning at 1 o'clock, 2:30 o'clock, and 4 o'clock, with the two evening battles scheduled for 8 and 9:30 p. m. No intermissions will be given in the afternoon matches but evening recesses will be called after one player has scored 25 points.

Hoppe to Play in 10 Days.

The tournament will continue thru Feb. 12, with each man playing his 17 rivals once to make an aggregate of 153 matches. Willie Hoppe, the 18th and most important gent in the ensemble, will be among the missing for some time, but reports last night from St. Luke's hospital, where he has been confined since Friday with an acute respiratory infection, indicated that he probably will be released by the end of the week and will be able to play within 10 days.

It took Lookabaugh and Chamaco only 18 innings, when Earle scored the 25th billiard, to arrange an intermission last night. At that juncture the Chicagoan led, 25 to 19. The score had been tied three times in that period. Earle went to the front by scoring 13 billiards from the 13th to the 18th, to offset a small batch of

DODSON SHOOTS 71; WINS PLAYOFF IN OAKLAND GOLF

Oakland, Cal., Jan. 13 (AP).—Leonard Dodson, the Ozarks' contribution to golf, won the triple tie playoff for $1,200 top money in the Oakland Open $5,000 tournament today—and made good his boast he had never been beaten in a battle after the regular competition.

The one-time Springfield, Mo., caddy, now professional at Kansas City, carded a one over par 71 on the rain soaked Sequoyah course to outscore Ben Hogan of White Plains, N. Y., and E. J. [Dutch] Harrison of Little Rock, Ark. Hogan posted a 74 and Harrison a 76.

Tied at 276 for the regular 72 hole competition which ended yesterday, the three started out in drenching rain and a wind that whipped umbrellas inside out. Some 200 spectators followed the players in weather that drove waterfowl to cover.

Despite such adverse conditions, Dodson played the first 12 holes in exactly par, eventually going a stroke over on the 13th and 14th but finishing with a sensational birdie 4 on the 18th when even a par or bogey would have won for him. He had taken a two stroke lead on the 17th. He was out in 35 and home in 36, compared to the 35—35—70 requirements called standard golf for the course.

FERRIER'S 71 LEADS

Tied for runner-up honors were Dick Chapman of Greenwich, Conn., the national champion, and Earl Christiansen, Miami policeman, both had 73's.

Fourth and fifth places went to George Daweon of Chicago, with a 74, and Sanford Rissman of Miami Beach, who carded a 75. William Reed of Indianapolis snared a 77 for sixth place and last year's winner, Gus Novotny of Chicago, shared seventh with three others.

Illinois Wesleyan Noses Out St. Joseph's, 56 to 55

Illinois Whips Michigan, 47-41; Ohio State Swamps Maroons

Champaign, Ill., Jan. 13.—Illinois won its second Big Ten game with a 47 to 41 victory over Michigan here tonight before 5,619. The Illini won without difficulty, altho Jim Mandler, Wolverine sophomore center, was a thorn in their side thruout. Mandler scored six baskets and two free throws for 14 points.

After the opening minutes Illinois took the lead, holding a 24 to 15 margin at the end of the half. Michigan won the second half by a fast finish, 26 to 23.

Walter [Hoot] Evers, Illinois forward, after being held to comparatively few points in his first two conference games, broke loose tonight to account for 18 points on six baskets and six free throws.

OHIO BEATS MAROONS

Columbus, O., Jan. 13 [Special].—Ohio State's basketball team won its third straight Big Ten victory tonight, defeating the University of Chicago, 67 to 38, before 3,654. It was Chicago's first conference game. Ohio State, which had previously beaten Northwestern, 46 to 40, has now handed the Chicago district's Big Ten teams their first defeats.

Dick Fisher of Ohio State was the game's high scorer tonight with 17 points on eight field goals and one free throw. Capt. Joe Stampf of the Maroons was only one point behind Fisher, getting four field goals and eight free throws. Ohio State led at the half, 20 to 14.

List of Eligibles Is Cut to 37 for Hambletonian

Goshen, N. Y., Jan. 13 (AP).—Thirty-seven 3 year old colts and fillies are eligible for the 15th renewal of the $40,000 Hambletonian, which will be raced at Good Time Park in August, Will Gahagan, secretary of the Hambletonian society, announced today.

The 37 trotters, representing 29 owners, were kept eligible as of Jan. 1 when their owners made a payment of $250 on each. E. Roland Harriman, master of the Arden Homestead farm of Goshen, has four candidates, one more than Lawrence F. Sheppard's Hanover, Pa., farm.

BADGERS WHIP PURDUE, 48-42, IN OVERTIME

Wildcats Suffer 2d Loss, 52-32.

Bloomington, Ind., Jan. 13 [Special].—After getting away to a slow start, Indiana's national collegiate basketball champions hit their stride in the second half and routed Northwestern, 52 to 32, here tonight. It was the second victory for Indiana and the second setback for Northwestern in their two Big Ten games. It also was the Hoosiers' 22d consecutive triumph on their home floor.

Coach Dutch Lonborg's big Wildcats set the pace midway in the first half and led by margins of from one to four points until a one handed basket by John Logan, Indiana sophomore forward, closed the gap with a 19 to 19 tie as the period ended.

Hoosiers Rally in Second Half.

Jay McCreary and Paul [Curly] Armstrong, senior forwards, led an Indiana rally in the second half which saw the Hoosiers gradually pull away.

A total of 33 fouls, 18 called on Indiana and 15 on Northwestern, slowed the tempo of the game. The Hoosiers made 20 baskets out of 63 attempts and Northwestern connected with 10 out of 57.

Indiana will take a two week layoff for final examinations, resuming its campaign Jan. 27 against Michigan at Ann Arbor. Lineup:

BADGERS WIN, 48-42

Trailing, 22 to 17, at the half, and once by 10 points in the second period, the Badgers tied the score at 33 all with four and one-half minutes of the regular game remaining. Two more times in the struggle that followed the score was tied before the final gun left the teams deadlocked, 38 to 38.

Baskets by Gene Englund, Johnny Kotz, and Bobby Alwin gave Wisconsin a quick lead in the overtime period before Forrest Sprowl dropped in a side shot for the Boilermakers. Two more baskets by Guard Ted Strain clinched the battle for Wisconsin, altho Sprowl again found the range before the game ended.

Veterans Turn Tide.

The turning point for the Badgers came when two veterans, Alwin and Charlie Epperson, who had lost their jobs to sophomores, were sent into the game. Alwin promptly perked up the attack with three baskets and added another in the overtime period. Epperson got three points and performed excellent rebound work on defense. Kotz and Englund led the Badgers' scoring with 12 and 11 points, respectively, while Sprowl and Don Blanken topped Purdue with 18 and 14 points.

Blanken's free throw with a half minute to play sent the game into overtime after Kotz single handedly had kept Wisconsin in the running

WEBB JOINS SOX CONTENTED LIST; FIVE MORE TO GO

M'Cullough Balks at Cubs' $6,000 Offer.

BY IRVING VAUGHAN.

[PICTURE ON NEXT PAGE.]

The list of unsigned White Sox was shaved down to five names yesterday when Jim Webb, the Mississippi Skeeter, reported favorably. His signed agreement, mailed from Meridian, Miss., reached the desk of Vice President Harry Grabiner, leaving only Pete Appleton, Clint Brown, Larry Rosenthal, Joe Haynes, and Rookie Warren Martin among those who either can't spare the time to scribble their signatures or are grief stricken over the club's wage offer.

Cub activity during the day was confined exclusively to the catching department. Al Todd, here to visit a friend, called at the club's offices but, according to General Manager Jim Tim Gallagher, there was no discussion of wages. Bob Scheffing came in from Robertson, Mo., to furnish proof that he had recovered from a finger injury. And Clyle McCullough, who experienced a good season at Buffalo, broadcast from his Nashville home that he had rejected his contract.

McCullough Wants $1,500 More.

McCullough, who probably boosted an appraisal of himself after reading he was the prospective first stringer and that Diz Dean had been given $10,000, has spurned a $6,000 bid. He wants $7,500. Whether McCullough's protest is a new complaint or one of the two Gallagher found in last week's mail isn't known. However, the fact that only nine have signed appears like evidence that the holdout fever will break out violently among Jimmy Wilson's boys within the next few days.

Scheffing was ordered to report here because the club had heard thru the baseball grapevine that a finger on his right hand had stiffened up as the result of being split by a foul tip last season. His demonstration of finger wriggling satisfied the Cub bosses. One of five catchers on the Cub roster, Scheffing was acquired from the Rochester club in the annual draft. Rochester has filed a claim for his return, so he will go there in event the Cubs find they can't make use of his services.

Fat Men Report Feb. 1.

The White Sox Fat Man's club, an exclusive organization made up of Taft Wright, Julius Solters, and Eddie Smith, will hold its first meeting here Jan. 30 or 31. They were scheduled to report at Hot Springs, Ark., Feb. 1 to take up their reducing exercises, but have been ordered to come here for a weighing in.

Failure to include Clint Brown in the Fat Man's club is a fairly strong hint that Manager James Dykes is washed up on his one time relief specialist. Brown's tendency to pick up poundage distressed Dykes no end thruout last season and more than a few harsh words were exchanged on the subject after it became evident that Brownie had lost much of his pitching skill.

Schambergers, Jolly Jacks Roll 1,113 Tie

What is believed to be one of the highest tie games of all time was bowled in the North End Traveling league last night when the Schamberger Schlitz and Curtiss Jolly Jack teams each scored 1,113 in the final game of their match. The Schambergers won the rolloff to take the odd game and hit a season's record total for the circuit of 3,240. The league also saw a 300 game, Clifford Klein of the De Luxe recreations turning in a perfect score in the middle game of a 737 series. His other games were 221 and 212. Scores:

SMILIN' JACK—ESTIMATED CRUISING RANGE

DATES SET FOR GOLDEN GLOVES EXAMINATIONS

BY WILFRID SMITH.

Three dates for preliminary examinations of Golden Gloves boxers were set yesterday in preparation for Chicago's novice tournaments and the city championship bouts. One of these, Jan. 27, previously had been agreed upon tentatively. On that evening the amateur boxers of the Catholic Youth organization who expect to compete for Golden Gloves will report in the C. Y. O. gymnasium.

Other examinations will be held in Trafton's gymnasium Jan. 30 and Feb. 3. Boxers who send in their entry blanks immediately will be requested to report either at the C. Y. O. or on Jan. 30. They then may choose the novice section in which they wish to compete. Boxers examined Feb. 3, with few exceptions, must enter the north side tournament, since programs for the south side meet then will have been printed.

Dates for Novice Tourneys.

North—Feb. 10, 11, and 12; Loyola gymnasium, Loyola avenue and Sheridan road.

Experienced boxers who will compete in the Chicago city championship bouts may be examined on any of these three dates. The city championships will be decided Feb. 17, 18, and 19 in the Chicago Coliseum. These eight winners then will be eligible to represent Chicago in the 14th annual Tournament of Champions in Chicago Stadium.

The novice boxers who win qualifying medals in the north and south side tournaments — the number of qualifiers in each weight depending on the total entry—will be permitted to compete for city titles if they wish. In addition to gold qualifying medals, each contestant will be awarded a Golden Gloves button.

The city champions will receive Golden Gloves. This 14 carat glove is identical with the award for winners in the finals of the Tournament of Champions except that it has no diamond in the palm. Runnersup in the Coliseum tournament will receive silver gloves.

43 Cities to Send Teams.

Forty-three cities from 13 states will send their championship teams to compete with the eight Chicago boxers in the Tournament of Champions in the Stadium Feb. 24, 25, and 26.

Reserved seats now may be purchased for the finals of the Chicago championship bouts in the Coliseum Feb. 19. Admission is $1.65, and checks or money orders should be made payable to the Chicago Tribune Charities, Inc. Mail your requests to the Golden Gloves Ticket Manager, Tribune Tower. General admission on the final night is $1.10. This also is the price for the opening nights of the city tournament, Feb. 17 and 18.

HARMON TO GET SILVER FOOTBALL MONDAY NIGHT

Ann Arbor, Mich., Jan. 13 (Special).—Tom Harmon, Michigan's great half back, who was voted the most valuable player in the Western conference, will receive THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE Silver football trophy, emblematic of that honor, next Monday night, H. O. Crisler, Wolverine coach, announced today. The award will be presented between the halves of the Michigan-Minnesota basketball game in the Yost field house by Wilfrid Smith, Tribune sports writer.

Harmon became eligible for the Western conference award when he was elected Michigan's most valuable player for the second season by his teammates. He is the third Michigan man to receive the silver football since the award was established in 1924. In 1926 Benny Friedman was voted the most valuable football player in the conference and in 1932 Harry Newman was honored.

IOWA WINS, 41-34

Minneapolis, Minn., Jan. 13 [Special].—Minnesota and Iowa leveled off to a .500 standing in the Big Ten before 8,000 spectators tonight as the Hawkeyes surprised the Gophers with a 41 to 34 setback. It was the first victory for Iowa and the first defeat for Minnesota.

Milt Kuhl offset the Gophers' final, desperate rush by scoring six field goals and a free throw for 13 points. Don Chapman added 11 points to Iowa's total.

After the score had been tied four times in the second half, Kuhl took charge. His field goal and free throw made the score 33 to 30 and Iowa never was behind again. Summary:

WARD WINS WHEN DUBS IS INJURED IN EIGHTH ROUND

Gene Ward, rugged Chicago lightweight, was awarded a decision over Harvey Dubs last night in Marigold Gardens when the Windsor, Ont., boxer was refused permission to come out for the ninth round because of a badly cut forehead. Dubs, who was ahead on points when the end came, received the injury in a head-on collision in the eighth round.

Billy Seward, Ingomar, Mont., 135 pound fighter, made it three knockouts in a row over Sammy Scully by stopping the Chicagoan in the second round of a scheduled five round semiwindup.

Attendance was 1,203 and receipts were $1,438.20.

ILLINOIS TECH BEATS WHEATON QUINTET, 44-41

Illinois Tech's basketball team defeated Wheaton college, 44 to 41, in the 108th Engineers armory yesterday afternoon. Illinois Tech trailed at the half, 25 to 23. Capt. Henry Sliwa, however, opened the second half with a step-in shot to tie the score and Wheaton never regained the lead.

Wheaton lost the services of Gordy McCarrell, who had scored nine points, when he went out at the end of the half with a wrenched shoulder.

Lookabaugh Wins, 50 to 37, from Chamaco

10 off of the powerful Chamaco's cue. Joe was in his usual muscular form, punching the balls with such force that an object ball leaped off the table after a run of four in the 17th.

The second half of the match was in direct contrast to the first, scoring being cast aside for a mutual demonstration of defensive tactics, in which three safeties were employed. The colorful Chamaco appeared to have lost all of his point making skill, collecting only 10 billiards in 30 frames from the 19th thru the 48th. This is not Joe's kind of billiards, no more than the fact that he made all of those 10 singly. He couldn't put two billiards together in the same frame until the 49th, when he ran 5.

Lookabaugh Finishes Strong.

Lookabaugh ran smack into a sour streak himself, eking out only two points in the 10 innings from the 26th thru the 35th. A 2-1-2 finish, however, clinched the argument for Earle, leaving José to conduct a Mexican monolog in double talk. Yesterday's summaries:

BRUIN, GOODYEAR SCORING STARS MEET TOMORROW

Two of the outstanding scorers of the National Basketball league will attempt to match shots tomorrow night when the Chicago Bruins oppose the Akron Goodyears in 132d Regiment armory, Madison and Rockwell streets. Ben Stephens of the Goodyears has scored 144 points in 13 games for an average of 11. Wibs Kautz of the Bruins has counted 97 in nine contests to average 10.7 points.

Each has a half interest in the league's individual scoring record of 21 points in a single game which Stephens set earlier in the season and Kautz tied recently against the Hammond team.

Kautz has been laboring under difficulties due to injuries received while playing against the Firestones and Goodyears in Akron during the Christmas holiday season.

Seven Norwegians Forget War for Norge Ski Meet

Seven young men who temporarily are without a country but have lost none of the zest for sports competition came to Chicago yesterday. The visitors, outstanding ski jumpers and members of the Norwegian unit of the royal air force, now in training at Toronto, Canada, came here to compete in the Norge Ski club's 35th annual jumping tournament at Fox River grove Sunday afternoon.

All of the group learned skiing in Norway and participated in the leading contests of their homeland until the Nazi invasion. Lieut. Stein Sem is in command of the delegation which includes Rolf Berg, Erling Jorgensen, Inar Strand, Erik Paulset, Kaare Anthonsen, and Finn Jespersen.

C. Y. O. Enters 23 in Annual I. A. C. Boxing Tourney

The Catholic Youth organization yesterday entered 23 of its best boys in the 11th annual Illinois Athletic club amateur boxing tournament Jan. 21, 22, and 29. It is the first batch of entries submitted by the C. Y. O., which won the team trophy last year. However, additional C. Y. O. entries are expected by Johnny Behr, I. A. C. sports director, before the deadline Saturday.

The C. Y. O. entrants include four flyweights, two bantamweights, three featherweights, five lightweights, three welterweights, three middleweights, one light heavyweight, and two heavyweights.

Among the 112 pound candidates are Raymond Murray of 4515 Champlain avenue, and Richard Kinebrew, 5744 Indiana avenue. The 118 pounders include Fred Dawson, 4850 Calumet avenue, and Berlin Hadnott, 5110 South Dearborn street; the 126 pounders, Anthony Bausone, 4345 Monroe street, and Henry Nichols, 616 North Ridge avenue; 135 pounders, Al Reasoner, 4348 Langley avenue, and O. D. Thomas, 1226 Blue Island avenue; Joe Dugo, 622 South May street, and James Hunt, 3804 Wentworth avenue.

O'Dell Sparks, 72 East 57th street, and Jesse Hoskins, 56 East 31st street, are among middleweight competitors; Hubert Hood, 106 West 59th street, among the light heavyweights; David Brown, 318 East 56th street, and Valley Coleman, 4759 Indiana avenue, among the heavyweights.

Application blanks can be obtained at the I. A. C., 112 South Michigan avenue; C. Y. O., 31 East Congress street, and Central A. A. U., 538 South Clark street.

Jesse Robinson, flyweight representative of Acme Steel, will meet William Johnson of the Savoy Athletic club, in a five round amateur bout in Savoy arena, 47th street and South Park way, tonight.

SCHMELING'S JOB AS PARACHUTIST MAY COST TITLE

BERLIN, Jan. 12 (AP).—Intensive training in Germany's parachute corps has prevented Max Schmeling, former world heavyweight boxing champion, from defending his title as European champion against the Viennese, Heinz Lazek.

Military authorities disclosed today that Schmeling had been denied an army furlough to accept the challenge of the Viennese, whose recent victory over Precio Merlo of Italy made it obligatory under International Boxing union rules for Schmeling to defend his title before Jan. 15.

Man o' War's Son Wins Feature at Hialeah Park

Miami, Fla., Jan. 13 (AP). — War Bugle, a son of Man o' War and owned by the Circle M ranch of Mr. and Mrs. E. S. Moore of Sheridan, Wyo., scored a popular victory today in the Indian Creek purse at Hialeah Park. The bay colt rallied in the stretch to beat the Shady Brook farm's Agricole by a half a length in 1:24 2-5 for the seven furlongs. Remote Control, owned by Warren Wright's Calumet farm, was third, four lengths behind.

SPREE BY HAWKS, LO PRESTI GRABS THE FANS' FANCY

Victory Enthusiasm Wipes Out Riot Hunger.

BY EDWARD BURNS.

Chicago's hockey fans turned from riot hunger back to hockey enthusiasm yesterday as they reflected that the Blackhawks haven't lost a game in four tries since Sammy Lo Presti became their goalie. Their new string consists of a tie with the Boston Bruins, followed by victories over the New York Rangers, Montreal Canadiens, and the Detroit Red Wings.

Tonight Paul Thompson's lads will leave for Montreal, where they will engage the Canadiens again Thursday night, then return to Chicago for a battle with the Boston Bruins Sunday night.

In their next home game, next Sunday night's meeting with the Bruins, the Hawks probably will play to a near capacity house.

Crowds Reach Saturation Point.

The boys in the counting room forecast that the new world attendance record of 19,386 probably will stand for all time. The Chicago Stadium is the biggest hall in which hockey is played and Chicago is the best hockey town in the world. Sunday night the place was packed to absolute capacity under a hockey setup and several thousands were turned away. Until bigger stadiums are built and better hockey towns are developed there simply can't be a larger crowd. So far as is known, no architects are drawing plans for a sports structure bigger than the Stadium and the 19,386 paid total is expected to stand forever.

The record crowd unquestionably was attributable to the smokeup of hoodlumism as staged by Manager Jack Adams and Giacomo Orlando of the Red Wings here on Jan. 1. The fact that Adams and Orlando discreetly refused to put on an encore Sunday night is perhaps to their credit. Anyhow, the Red Wings' next appearance at the Stadium will not be until Feb. 27.

Break Detroit Jinx.

The crowd, despite its response to the Orlando bad man buildup, seemed happy with the Hawk victory, first in five games this season with the Wings. Thousands bought tickets for the impending Bruin game, tho the Bostonese feature no beeg, bad men, much as they are capable of playing a bruising game when their tremendous scoring machine starts clicking.

Those who like scoring like the Bruins. The Boston line of Milt Schmidt, Porky Dumart, and Bobby Bauer last year finished in that order in the individual scoring at the top of the league list. And this year Bill Cowley, another Bruin, is leading the league in individual point scoring.

Goalie Paul Goodman, who lost his job after Lo Presti made good while subbing following Paul's injury in a game at the Stadium, left Chicago yesterday, saying he was retiring from hockey. When he was paid off by Bill Tobin, president of the Hawks, he also received a good will bonus.

KAYES SPORTS WIN.

The Kayes Sports defeated the East Chicago Forazts, 46 to 38, in the feature game of the Windy City twip bill last night in St. Philip gym. In the other contest the Masons nosed out the Palmer House Panthers, 22 to 21.

Austin Fives Beat McKinley in Two Games

ECUADOR ROUNDS UP LEFTISTS AS TWO DIE IN RIOT

30 Hurt; Put Blame on Communist Agents.

QUITO, Ecuador, Jan. 13 (AP).—Many arrests were made today and strong forces of military police were held in readiness for new outbreaks following a bloody clash in which two rioters were shot dead, 17 others wounded, and 13 policemen hurt.

Authorities blamed communist agents for the disorders, which started with a demonstration thru the capital's streets and ended in the stoning of the presidential palace yesterday. The attack was dispersed by a tear-gas barrage and gunfire.

Among those arrested were Bolivar Leon and Walter Andrade, socialist leaders, and Moises Bautista, Arturo Cardenas, Vidal Torres, Daniel Alcocer, Carlos Quiroz, and Manuel Cazares, described by police as "extreme leftists."

President's Palace Stoned.

For three hours demonstrators paraded to demand the freedom of Ecuadorian army flyers imprisoned on charges of complicity in an abortive revolution on Jan. 12, 1940, on behalf of Velasco Ibarra, defeated presidential candidate in last year's election.

President Carlos Arroya del Rio was unhurt, altho rooms of his palace were showered with fragments of glass from smashed windows.

The demonstration broke out as this little South American country, the southernmost of those to whom the United States looks for help in protecting the Panama canal, began calling up reservists for training.

Halt President's Speech.

As the president addressed about 15,000 packed into a stadium a shout arose demanding freedom for the jailed aviators. The president walked off the platform.

Most of the crowd scattered peacefully, but some rushed the president's automobile in an unsuccessful attempt to halt it. Then the demonstrators marched to the palace to repeat their demands. Unanswered, they hurled stones thru the windows. Police opened fire.

Splitting into small groups, the crowd moved on the prison to free the aviators. Stopped there by police, they spread thru the streets, beating and stoning police, smashing police station windows, and looting stores.

J. C. DAVIS III. FUNERAL TO BE HELD THURSDAY

Funeral services for James Carey Davis III., young soldier and member of a prominent Chicago family, will be held at 10 a. m. Thursday in Our Lady of Mount Carmel Catholic church. Burial will be in Calvary cemetery. He lived at 2828 Sheridan road.

J. C. Davis III.

Mr. Davis, 22 years old, was a member of the Black Horse troop now in training at Camp Livingston, La. He and three other soldiers were fatally injured Saturday in an automobile accident north of Alexandria, La. The body of the fourth, Marshall Ritter of Milwaukee, was recovered yesterday from Saline Bayou into which their car plunged.

Mr. Davis was a grandson of the late James C. Davis, vice president of the American Steel Foundries, and of the late William J. Henderson, president of Butler Brothers. His father, James C. Davis Jr., is dead. Surviving are his mother, Mrs. Stuart R. Plattenburg, wife of the treasurer of the Travelers Insurance company, and a sister, Miss Janet Davis.

OBITUARIES

Dudley Buck.

Dudley Buck, operatic tenor and voice teacher and son of the late American composer of the same name, died yesterday in Fairfield, Conn., according to word received here. Mr. Buck, who was about 70 years old, had made many concert and opera appearances in the United States and England. Ten years ago he came to Chicago to teach music. He died while visiting a sister. Services will be held tomorrow in New York City.

Dr. Robert Wilson Morris.

Dr. Robert Wilson Morris, assistant surgeon at the Illinois Central hospital, died in the hosptial yesterday of a heart ailment. He was 64 years old. Dr. Morris had been connected with the hospital for 35 years. His home was at 4355 Greenwood avenue. Surviving are his widow, Katharine C.; a daughter, Jane, and three sisters, Mrs. Lewis R. Oatman, Mrs. Ernest H. Carson, and Miss Janet R. Morris. Services will be held at 2 p. m. tomorrow from the Kenwood church, 46th street and Greenwood avenue.

Walter G. Poehlmann.

Masonic services for Walter G. Poehlmann, village trustee of Morton Grove, who collapsed and died of an apparent heart attack Saturday, will be held at 2 p. m. today from the public school auditorium in Morton Grove. Mr. Poehlmann, who was 42 years old, was a lifelong resident of the suburb. His home was at 6300 Lincoln avenue.

Warren Henley.

Warren Henley, gypsum merchandise manager for the Certainteed Products corporation, died yesterday in his home at 3270 Lake Shore drive. He was born in Lawrence, Kas., 56 years ago. Surviving are his widow, Carolyn; a son, Albert; two daughters, Elizabeth and Jane, and his mother, Ellen. Funeral services will be held at 8 p. m. tomorrow in the chapel at 5501 North Ashland avenue. Burial will be in Lawrence, Kas.

FAMED INVENTOR CARLETON ELLIS DIES IN FLORIDA

New York, Jan. 13 [Special].—Carleton Ellis, 64, world famous inventor, chemist, author and lecturer, of Montclair, N. J., died in Miami, Fla., last night while en route to Nassau, Bahamas, on his annual winter visit.

One of the nation's most prolific inventors, he held nearly 800 patents, a number exceeded only by Thomas A. Edison and John O'Connor. Among recent inventions was a substance for fireproofing warplanes against incendiary bullets. He worked extensively in the field of edible oils, fats, waxes, synthetic resins, paints, varnishes, petroleum products, and gasoline manufacture.

Mr. Ellis received numerous medals and awards for his inventions. He was a graduate of Massachusetts Institute of Technology.

Surviving are his widow, Mrs. Birdella Wood Ellis; two daughters, Mrs. Edward Heydt of Madison, N. J., and Mrs. John Ordway, Springfield, Mass.; two sons, Carleton Ellis Jr. of Chicago and Bertrand Ellis, and a sister, Miss Gertrude Ellis.

Family of Four Burns to Death in Detroit Suburb

Detroit, Mich., Jan. 13 (AP).—A family of four burned to death in their beds early today as fire destroyed the home of Leon Pelton near the Wayne-Washtenaw county line. State police, digging in the ashes of the frame dwelling, found the bodies of Pelton, 35, an automobile plant foreman; his wife, Mary, 32; their daughter, Dorothy, 13, and a son, Gerald, 12.

OBITUARIES

HOG PRICES RISE 25 TO 40 CENTS; LAMBS ALSO UP

Increases Cause Further Mark Up in Meats.

The advance of live stock and meat prices, underway since late in 1940, continued yesterday at an accelerated pace. Practically all classes of stock reached new peaks for the winter season. Increased costs of meat animals forced packers and retail butchers to lift prices again.

Advances of 25 to 40 cents carried hogs to the highest point since the "war market" of September, 1939. Top loads reached $8.10 a hundred pounds, showing 35 cents advance for the day and a gain of $1.85 in four weeks. Prices for the session averaged 30 cents higher, at $7.75, equaling the highest January average since 1938. A year ago yesterday the top and average prices were $6 and $5.60, respectively.

Receipts Fall Sharply.

Offerings of hogs were small at all leading packing centers, which last week handled about 13 per cent fewer than during the same week of last year. The 11 principal markets received 86,000 yesterday, a decrease of 22 per cent from a week earlier and 21 per cent below a year ago.

Packers paid the highest January lamb prices in four years, and the most for cattle for this month in 11 years. Slaughter lambs were bought up quickly at 25 to 35 cents advance over last week's closing quotations.

Most steers and yearlings sold strong to 15 cents higher than at the close of last week.

Meat Holdings Larger.

Cold storage holdings in the United states of all meats, exclusive of lard, aggregated 868,436,000 pounds on Jan. 1, the largest stocks since May, 1937, the department of agriculture reported yesterday. Lard holdings were the largest on record for Jan. 1.

AUTOMOTIVE EQUIPMENT.

My attention was drawn recently to Electric Auto-Lite when I read an advertisement of the offering of its new debentures. I am interested in buying some of its stock. Can you give me a description of its business and a report of its operating results? —E. J.

Answer: The Electric Auto-Lite company, Toledo, O., is the foremost independent manufacturer of automotive electrical equipment. It also makes more than 400 different parts and appliances used in automobiles as well as household utensils, appliances, moulded plastics, and other products.

About 50 per cent of the company's total sales goes to the Chrysler corporation. Hudson, Packard, Nash, Studebaker, Willys-Overland, and Ford take an additional 35 per cent. Replacement batteries and miscellaneous products comprise the remainder of the sales volume.

The company has operated profitably in the 18 years of its existence. Low operating costs and diversification of output aided it in weathering the economic stresses of the early thirties. The current business revival and national defense orders contributed to boost 1940 net income to the highest level since 1929, it was estimated.

Net income in the first nine months of 1940 was $3,948,679, equal to $3.30 a share. In the corresponding period of 1939 net income was $3,850,734 or $3.22 a share.

| | Net income. | Earned per share. | Dividends per share. |
|---|---|---|---|
| 1935 | $2,908,797 | $2.20 | $0.30 |
| 1936 | 4,510,491 | 3.51 | 2.60 |
| 1937 | 4,206,614 | 3.43 | 2.60 |
| 1938 | 1,836,150 | 1.53 | 1.00 |
| 1939 | 5,653,840 | 4.72 | 3.00 |

The company paid $3 a share in 1940 on its 1,197,194 shares of $5 par common stock. Dividends were paid on the stock in every year since 1922 except in 1934. The company has outstanding $8,000,000 in funded debt, consisting of 2¼ per cent debentures due in 1950.

TOTAL DIVIDENDS.

Answer: The company paid a total of $1,227,843 on its stock in the last seven fiscal years ended Sept. 30.

SPICER.

ENGLAND READY TO SELL PART OF ASSETS IN U. S.

May Turn 850 Million to War Purchases.

Washington, D. C., Jan. 13 (AP).—One of the largest lump transfers of American property in history was indicated today in an announcement by Henry Morgenthau Jr., secretary of the treasury, that American investment trusts were negotiating for the purchase of the United Kingdom's "direct" investments in the United States.

A few minutes before making the disclosure at a press conference, the secretary said Sir Frederick Phillips, undersecretary of the British treasury, "informed me they [the British government] are ready to do business." Proceeds of the sales, the secretary said, will be used to pay for war purchases before President Roosevelt's lease lending plan takes effect.

May Reach 850 Millions.

Morgenthau said he was unable to estimate the amount of property involved, but a recent federal reserve board estimate of these assets was $850,000,000."

[Thus it was indicated that the acquisitions, altho vast, would cover only a part of the total British investments in this country, which have been variously estimated at $4,000,000,000 to $7,000,000,000. "Direct" investments comprise land and factories directly owned by British citizens. In addition the British have been selling readily disposable securities in a comparatively small but steady stream.]

Some legislators have demanded that Britain dispose of all her assets in the United States before seeking loans. Senator Burton K. Wheeler [D., Mont.] said today that he had been advised by Harry L. Hopkins last summer that British assets in this country aggregated $14,000,000,000 then. Wheeler said these assets now total at least $7,000,000,000, and added that Britain should exhaust her credit before asking any "loans, leased equipment or gifts."

Heads Tri-Continental Corp.

The secretary said he had given Sir Frederick the name of Cyril Quinn of New York, the representative of one "very large group of investment trusts." He said a second group of investment companies was to see him tomorrow and also would be introduced to the British, and that any other groups interested in the purchase also were welcome.

David Schencker, head of the Security and Exchange commission's investment trust division, who has participated in the Quinn-Morgenthau conferences, said Quinn was chairman of the Tri-Continental corporation, largest of the first group of companies. He said he understood that the second group is headed by the Lehman corporation of New York.

No Fixed Policy, He Says.

Altho saying the administration "has no fixed policy" on the question of requiring the British to dispose of American investments before taking advantage of President Roosevelt's "lease-lending" bill in order to obtain munitions in this country, the secretary said his actions today "speak louder than any comments."

The secretary said today's negotiations dealt only with investments held in the United Kingdom, and did not apply to the rest of the British empire, where at least $1,000,000,000 more American property is owned.

WARD STOCK IS SOLD

New York, Jan. 13 (AP).—A block of 80,000 shares of Montgomery Ward & Co. common stock was sold over the counter after the close of the New York Stock exchange today in what brokerage circles said was a continuation of British liquidation of American securities to raise dollar exchange for war purchases.

The stock, worth about $3,120,000 at current market quotations, was offered by the investment firms of Dominick & Dominick and Lehman Brothers at $39 a share, the closing price on the exchange.

Gold Impotts Set an All-Time Record in 1940

Washington, D. C., Jan. 13 (AP).—The department of commerce said today that gold imports set a new record of $4,749,467,000 in 1940. Receipts swelled by large British empire transfers were about $1,200,000,000 larger in 1940 than in 1939, the previous peak.

After reaching a monthly high of $519,983,000 in July, however, gold imports tapered off to a 15 month low of $137,178,365 in December.

Most Sold to Treasury.

Altho most of the gold that was shipped here was immediately sold to the United States treasury, some of it was deposited for foreign governments in central bank accounts in the Federal Reserve banks. Such "earmarked" deposits increased from $1,163,004,000 to $1,807,673,000 during the year. December contributed $7,416,551 of this gain.

The annual figures for individual countries were not made available, but Canada was named as the source of the bulk of 1940 gold imports. Gold coming from Canada, however, included metal from all parts of the British empire and France, before the French surrender.

December Imports Listed.

In December, principal shipments were $80,390,063 from Canada, $14,994,359 from Australia, $7,445,954 from India, $13,262,161 from Japan, $8,247,333 from Argentina, $2,814,390 from Colombia, $1,206,342 from Peru, $1,100,650 from Chile, $3,268,482 from the Philippine Islands, and $1,635,346 from South Africa.

Last year's silver imports dropped to $58,433,000, compared with $85,307,000 in 1939. December silver imports were $4,689,757, including $2,389,868 from Mexico, $714,702 from Peru, $643,553 from Japan, and $450,001 from Canada.

GOLDBLATT WILL PAY DIVIDEND IN COMMON STOCK

Directors of Goldblatt Bros., Inc., yesterday declared a stock dividend on the common stock of three shares for each 100 shares held. The last payment was 15 cents cash on July 1, 1940. There are 720,780 shares outstanding.

Payment in cash of the regular quarterly dividend of 62½ cents on the preferred stock was approved also, but the payable and record dates will not be announced until later.

Cash dividends of 15 cents each were paid in the first two quarters of last year, but the third quarter disbursement was postponed, the board announcing that it desired to maintain a stronger current position in consideration of the store improvement program, which will continue in 1941. These factors decided the present action of the board in paying the third and fourth quarter dividends in stock instead of cash, Maurice Goldblatt, president, said.

LEISERSON ASKS MEDIATION LAW AS DEFENSE AID

Washington, D. C., Jan. 13 (AP).—Dr. William M. Leiserson of the labor board proposed today that instead of imposing "no strike" legislation on the defense industries the government call labor and management together to consider adopting mediation machinery similar to that of the railway labor act.

Leiserson suggested that the plan might serve as the basis for voluntary coöperation in handling disputes in defense industries.

Leiserson, in expressing his opposition to antistrike legislation in an interview, said:

"'No strike' laws do not prevent strikes. They only make them illegal and that does not help defense."

PREDICT STEEL RATE WILL TOP 100% BY SPRING

New York, Jan. 13 (AP).—Steel ingot production at a rate exceeding 100 per cent of capacity was forecast today in the industry. Some experts thought this level may be reached before spring.

Giving weight to predictions was announcement by the American Iron and Steel institute that plants this week were operating at an average of 98.5 per cent capacity. This indicated production of 1,540,000 tons, the largest for any week in history.

The rate last week was 97.2 per cent, a month ago 96.8 per cent, and a year ago 85.7 per cent.

BANKS' BUSINESS LOAN VOLUME INCREASES FOR 15TH WEEK IN ROW

The 15th consecutive weekly increase in the amount of loans made to business and agriculture by member banks of the federal reserve system was reported yesterday by the federal reserve board.

Such loans outstanding at the close of business last Wednesday totaled $5,031,000,000. The increases as compared with a week earlier and a year earlier, respectively, were $13,000,000 and $668,000,000.

Following are the principal assets and liabilities of the federal reserve system's member banks as at the close of business Wednesday [last six ciphers omitted]:

GRAIN EXCHANGE OFFICES ARE WON BY O'BRIEN, CAREY

Philip Ray O'Brien, heading the regular ticket was elected president of the Chicago Board of Trade yesterday without opposition. Peter B. Carey, the slate candidate for first vice president, defeated C. D. Sturtevant, nominated by petition, 469 to 141.

Harvey S. Austrian was elected second vice president. He had no opposition. Members balloted on six men for the five seats vacant on the board of directors for three year terms. The successful candidates, all on the regular ticket, were T. C. Rodman, Robert Burrows, L. D. Godfrey, C. S. Gordon and Earle M. Combs Jr..

PROPOSES PUBLIC OWNERSHIP OF STEEL INDUSTRY

Washington, D. C., Jan. 13 (AP).—Public ownership and operation of the iron and steel industry was proposed to congress today by Representative Usher L. Burdick [R., N. D.].

He introduced a bill to set up a national iron and steel board to operate the industry after its acquisition from present owners by negotiation or "by the processes customary to the exercise of the right of eminent domain."

Owners, creditors and security holders of the industries would be compensated with securities of the board. The need for such legislation, Burdick said, was demonstrated by "the present chaotic system of private ownership and the inequitable distribution of the wealth created thereby."

Retailers Told 'Sacrifice' Will Be Made by All

New York, Jan. 13 (AP).—The "surpassing urgency" of defense production clearly demands personal and business sacrifices, Donald M. Nelson, purchasing chief in the new office of production management said tonight.

Donald M. Nelson.

Nelson spoke at the opening of the 30th annual convention of the National Retail Dry Goods association. He declared that the future of democratic government for perhaps hundreds of years might depend upon the degree of success attained by the office of production management at Washington.

Calls Need Unlimited.

"We might as well decide right here and now," Nelson said, "that unless every industrialist, every business man, and every wage earner is willing to subordinate his own short-term interest to the long-range interests of all of us, then this program will fall short, for the 'surpassing urgency' referred to by the office of production management clearly demands personal and business sacrifices."

The requirements of military and naval equipment for "ourselves and our friends" were limited, Nelson said, by only the total capacity of every mine, factory, and mill in the country to produce such equipment. This is an all-out effort."

Lauds Price Stability.

Another speaker, Walter Morrow, executive secretary of the retailers advisory committee of the national defense council, said that government-business-counsumer coöperation had prevented unjust increases in the cost of living, despite large spending on arms production.

"For the first time in history," Morrow said, "we have witnessed a great emergency develop with expanding productive effort without an immediate upward price spiral in consumer goods. Whatever develops in the future, this is astonishing."

Frank M. Mayfield, president of the Retailers association and head of the St. Louis department store of Scruggs-Vandervoort-Barney, told the delegates to expect a large increase in the public's purchasing power during 1941—but to prepare for a reduction in the amount of goods they can sell the public.

"Sooner or later, we will have to curtail the production of consumer goods," he warned. "Defense has to be paid for."

BANK ELECTIONS

P. E. Crouch, cashier of the National Bank of Hyde Park, was made vice president and cashier at the annual directors' meeting yesterday. He fills the place left vacant by Lawrence K. Schnadig. All other officers and directors were reëlected.

Directors and officers of the Avenue State bank, Oak Park, and the La Grange State Trust and Savings bank were reëlected last night at annual meetings of the stockholders and directors.

FOOD INDUSTRY SETS UP PLAN DESIGNED TO BAR EXCESSIVE COSTS

Washington, D. C., Jan. 13 (AP).—Donald M. Nelson, director of the division of purchases of the office of production management, announced today that the food industry had adopted a 4 point program designed to stabilize prices to the public and to protect the government from excessive costs in feeding the armed forces.

The agreement calls for:

"Continuance of competitive bidding as the basic procurement policy;

"Eligibility of any responsible vendor to submit bids;

"Purchase of supplies so far as possible in carload lots, F. O. B. destination point. This may serve to equalize army business among suppliers in all parts of the country;

SENIOR SHARES OF KAUFMANN STORES OFFERED

Public offering of 33,530 shares of 5 per cent preference stock of Kaufmann Department Stores, Inc., was made yesterday by a banking group headed by A. G. Becker & Co., Inc., and Merrill Lynch, E. A. Pierce & Cassatt. The stock was acquired from various holders and did not represent financing by the company. The offering price was 104 and accrued dividend.

White, Weld & Co. head an underwriting group which will offer today $12,000,000 of 2¾ per cent first refunding mortgage bonds of the Consolidated Gas, Electric Light and Power company of Baltimore. The bonds, which mature Jan. 1, 1976, are priced at 103½ and accrued interest.

2 ROADS TO ADD $569,000 YEARLY BY WAGE ORDER

Pay raises totaling $569,000 annually will be given employés of the Illinois Central and Rock Island railroads when the railroad carrier industry wage order goes into effect March 1, Thomas O'Malley of the United States department of labor announced yesterday.

The wage order, affecting low paid employés, such as track workers, red caps, and dining car waiters, will fix a minimum rate of 36 cents an hour for employés of trunk lines and 33 cents an hour for short lines. It will raise the wages of 70,000 employés $7,000,000 yearly, O'Malley said.

WILSON PROFIT RISES DESPITE BOOST IN TAXES

Fiscal Year Income Tops 3.6 Millions.

Despite increased taxes, Wilson & Co., meat packing conern with main offices in Chicago, realized a consolidated net income of $3,624,645, or 84 cents a share, in the fiscal year ended Oct. 26, Edward Foss Wilson, president, announced yesterday. In the previous year, net profits totaled $3,201,638, or 62 cents a share. The latest profit was largest since the 1936 fiscal year.

Edward Foss Wilson.

Sales for the year amounted to $280,000,000, compared with $273,000,000 in the preceding year. The provision for United States and foreign income taxes was $1,244,561.

"Taxes were appreciably higher than they have been in previous years," Wilson said in the report to stockholders.

Taxes Equal Net Earnings.

"The amount of all taxes—federal, state, and local—was approximately equal to the net earnings of the year after providing for all such taxes. No provision for federal excess profits tax was required in respect to this year's earnings."

Wilson reported a slight increase in the marketings of cattle and lambs over the previous year, while hog volume was 22 per cent larger. The hog marketings, he said, were at normal levels for the first time since 1933.

Altho shipments to European countries were restricted, Wilson said that the company's South American plants and the meat export business in Australia and New Zealand continued operations on a profitable basis.

Wilson said that it was the directors' policy to continue to pay up the back dividends on preferred stock as soon as posisble in order to resume payments on the common stock.

Celotex Sales Set Record.

Celotex corporation had a net income of $747,628, or 94 cents a share, for the fiscal year ended Oct. 31, Bror Dahlberg, president, announced. Net profits of the previous year totaled $741,756, or 93 cents a share.

Net sales, totaling $13,817,501, were the largest in the corporation's history, with the increase over sales of the previous year amounting to $1,499,565. Dahlberg said that the sales were primarily thru regular commercial channels.

American Airlines' Planes Carry 870,930 During Year

American Airlines, Inc., carried 870,930 revenue passengers in 1940, compared with 541,757 in 1939, Charles A. Rheinstrom, vice president, announced yesterday.

Chicago Bomb Parts Factory Will Be Built

BY AL CHASE.

Four million dollars' worth of bomb fins and practice bombs will be made in Chicago by the Rheem Manufacturing company. They are to be manufactured in a half million dollar plant, work on which will start this week. The new factory, scheduled for production of the bombs by April 1, will add about 250 to the company's pay roll, according to W. H. Innis, manager. It now employs about that number in its plant at 3425 South Kedzie avenue.

The new plant will be built on a 40 acre tract bounded by 75th street on the north, Kedzie avenue on the east, 77th street on the south, and Homan avenue on the west.

Will Comprise Two Buildings.

It will consist of two one-story brick units, covering 150,000 square feet. Brown & Matthews, Inc., of New York designed the buildings and will be the general contractor.

The site was purchased from Edward Tadrowski for $6,000 plus accumulated back taxes, assessments, and penalties, the amount of which was not disclosed. Robert A. Elliott took title for the company.

The ammunition orders received from the government by the Rheem company are for practice bombs, similar to regular bombs in size and appearance but filled with sand and used for target practice, and for the "fins" or ends attached to regular bombs to keep them nose-down when dropped from a plane.

Has Seven Other Plants.

Altho the Rheem company has its home offices and plant at Richmond, Cal., five other plants in various cities of this country, and one in Australia, all of the four million dollar bomb order will be made in Chicago, Ennis said.

The company's regular line of products is steel barrels, pails, and containers of various kinds, boilers, and gas and electric water heaters.

STUDEBAKER'S SALES REPORTED BEST SINCE 1928

Paul G. Hoffman, president of the Studebaker corporation, reported yesterday that the company's factory sales and domestic retail deliveries of passenger cars and trucks during 1940 were the highest for any year since 1928.

Despite a curtailment of export business, factory sales during the year totaled 119,500 passenger cars and trucks, compared with 114,196 in the previous year. Under normal conditions, the export sales account for approximately 15 per cent of the total volume, Hoffman said.

During the year 106,157 Studebaker passenger cars and trucks were delivered to buyers by domestic dealers compared with 91,403 units in 1939

The Ford Motor company announced that its sales of trucks and commercial cars in December totaled 15,866 units, the largest number for any December since 1925.

$15,500,000 CAR PROGRAM BEGUN BY RAIL AGENCY

Pacific Fruit Express to Build, Repair.

Pacific Fruit Express company announced a $15,500,000 car purchase and equipment program yesterday, and the government placed additional national defense orders, including some to Chicago companies.

Pacific Fruit Express, refrigerator car operator jointly owned by the Southern Pacific and Union Pacific railroads, purchased 1,000 new refrigerator cars and prepared to spend $11,000,000 on rebuilding and repairing 3,000 it now owns.

The new cars will cost about $4,500,000. Orders for their construction were placed with Pacific Car and Foundry company of Renton, Wash.

Plan Extensive Reconstruction.

During the first half of 1941, 2,000 of the old cars will be reconstructed and equipped with latest type air brakes, the company said. Repairs of a less extensive nature will be made on 1,000 other cars. About 16,500,000 board feet of Douglas fir and 1,800,000 square feet of plywood will be required for the work.

"Improvement of the car fleet for shipping of perishable products will make it possible for producers of fruits and vegetables in the west and southwest to reach more distant markets," an official said in announcing the project.

The navy department awarded a $2,000,000 contract for construction of two mine layers. Willamette Iron and Steel corporation, Portland, Ore., received the contract on a cost plus fixed fee basis.

Chicago Firms Get Orders.

Zapon-Brevolite division, Atlas Powder company, enamel lacquer, $1,068; Acme Steel company, flat steel strapping, $1,269; American Brake Shoe and Foundry company, American Forge division, forgings, $4,400; Diamond T Motor Car Company, trucks, $3,885; Wall Chemicals division of Liquid Carbonic corporation, acetylene, $1,027; General Box company, packing boxes, $13,329; Agar Manufacturing corporation, filler strawboard, $1,024; Cromwell Paper company, box liners, $1,570; United Pressed Products company, molded face forms, $48,750, and International Machine and Tool Works, Inc., dies, $2,790

The navy department announced award of these contracts to Chicago companies:

STOCKS LOITER AT CROSSROADS OF INDECISION

Most Can't Decide Which Direction to Take.

New York, Jan. 13 (AP).—Stocks generally loitered at the crossroads today. The majority never was able to decide which direction to take. A few rails, utilities and specialties put up a show of resistance but minor declines were plentiful at the close. The Associated Press average of 60 issues was unchanged at 44.9. Transfers were 474,770 shares, compared with 751,670 last Friday and were the smallest for a full session since Dec. 3.

Steels all but ignored an upturn in this week's mill operations to the highest rate on record. Motors lagged despite feverish production and large sales. Carriers were bolstered by reports of mounting traffic. Earnings prospects buoyed individual stocks in other categories.

The virtually unbroken advance since the first of the year, brokers suggested, caused some customers to stand aside on the idea a technical recession might be in the offing. Others appeared reluctant to extend commitments pending outcome of the expected battle in congress over the bill broadening the President's powers to aid the democracies. A little better brand of war news helped stocks at London.

Chicago Stocks.

Price trends were mixed on the Chicago Stock exchange yesterday, with 29 issues advancing, 32 declining, and 27 finishing unchanged. Transfers totaled 22,000 shares.

New highs for 1940-'41 were established by five issues, including Eversharp at 3, up ⅛, and Miller & Hart at 11¾, up 1½, two of the volume leaders. The others were Allied Products A at 23, up 1; Cudahy Packing preferred at 91, up 6, and Harnischfeger at 7½, up ¼.

New York Bonds.

New York, Jan. 13 (AP).—Buying of corporate bonds, particularly rails, was resumed on a fairly broad scale today and many sold at the highest prices of the war period. The advance extended the sharp rise of the corporate list since publication of the $17,500,000,000 federal budget for the next fiscal year, implying further industrial expansion and higher taxes.

Lower rated rails, especially, appeared to attract widespread demand on the assumption they would escape some of the impact of higher taxes while standing a good chance to improve interest coverage as the boom in war industry increases traffic.

In the foreign division, gains of 1 to 3 were registered in Canada 3¼s, Argentine 4½s, Australia 5s, and Belgium 7s. Minor changes up and down ruled in the United States treasury list.

Bank Stocks.

Harris Trust shares rose 10 points to 320 bid yesterday in Chicago bank stock trading. Chicago Title and La Salle National advanced 2 points, and Continental Illinois and Industrial National common, half a point each.

SUPREME COURT GRANTS REVIEW OF WALLACE SUIT

Kansas City Rate Issue Up for Fourth Time.

Washington, D. C., Jan. 13 (AP).—The government was granted a Supreme court review today of a decision holding invalid an order issued by Henry A. Wallace as secretary of agriculture reducing the maximum fees permitted commission agents at the Kansas City stockyards between 1933 and 1937. This was the fourth time that the case had been before the Supreme court.

Wallace, who becomes Vice President on Jan. 20, issued the order on June 20, 1939. It was invalidated by a three judge federal court in western Missouri, which also directed that $586,093 of impounded funds be restored to the commission men.

Plea Previously Rejected.

Wallace contended the money should be returned to the farmers and stockmen who had paid rates higher than those he prescribed.

In previous decisions the Supreme court has held that Wallace did not give the commission men a "full and fair hearing" in 1933 before ordering the rate reduction for the first time. It was held that Wallace relied too much on subordinates who had served as "active prosecutors" of the litigation.

A new rate schedule became effective on Nov. 1, 1937, by consent of the commission merchants.

Refused NLRB Order Review.

The Stewart Die Casting corporation of Chicago failed to get a Supreme court review of a labor board order requiring the reinstatement, with back pay, of 154 employés allegedly discharged for affiliation with the United Automobile Workers of the C. I. O.

The company contended the reinstatement requirement made no distinction between those employés who engaged in a strike in 1937 and those who did not.

The court upheld a Pennsylvania tax on the equitable interest owned by a resident of the state in securities outside the state, when the legal title was held by nonresident trustees and the income sent to the Pennsylvania resident. The opinion applied to Carol Harriman Stewart of Chester county, Pa., a member of the Harriman family of New York, who said her mother created two trusts in 1917 and 1926 in New York, under which the daughter was to receive the income for life.

NEW METALLIC FINISH SHOWN IN FURNITURE SHOW

Buyers at the International Home Furnishings Market in the Merchandise Mart yesterday showed special interest in a new metal plating development that gives housewares and home appliances a color finish that changes under various lighting conditions. Developed by the Chromium Corporation of America and Manning Bowman and Co., the process consists of the electro-plating method for finishing metal.

Lawrence H. Whiting, president of the American Furniture Mart, where the National Home Furnishings show is in its second week, reported that the cutting off of various types of wood from abroad because of the war would be no handicap to the furniture industry. He said this country and South America could supply the wood, with plastics and other synthetic materials finding more use in the industry.

People and Events

Sterling E. Peacock, vice president of N. W. Ayer & Son, advertising agency, is the new president of the Chicago Better Business bureau, succeeding Percy Wilson, vice president of Marshall Field & Co., who served for two terms. James S. combination lifting and clam shell crane, $9,150.

The Crane company, Chicago, was given a $64,327 navy contract for valves, in which the Henry Valve company, Chicago, will share to an unannounced extent.

The navy awarded an $18,724 contract for steel flanges to C. J. Rainear & Co., Philadelphia, in which the Taylor Forge and Pipe Works, Chicago, will be the source of supply.

Supplies Reinforced Bars.

Laclede Steel company, Madison, Ill., will be the source of supply for $20,529 of reinforced bars, the contract for which was awarded by the bureau of reclamation at Denver, Colo., to Laclede Steel company of St. Louis, Mo.

Illinois Glove company, Champaign, received a $1,174 order from the war department for horsehide gloves.

The treasury procurement division announced $4,157,800 in contracts for household equipment to be used in the national defense housing program. The largest order, for $1,311,250 of electric refrigerators, went to the Nash-Kelvinator corporation, Detroit, Mich. Two Chicago companies were included in the many sharing in the contracts: Stewart-Warner corporation for $6,711 of electric meters, and Federal-Huber company, $61,395 for lavatory fittings.

Shipyards Contracts Let.

The maritime board announced it had let contracts for building of three shipyards to cost $14,233,000.

The Continental Can company announced the award of a contract for the construction of a new can making plant at St. Louis, Mo., to the Austin company. Construction will start at once. The factory, which will increase existing facilities in St. Louis and East St. Louis, is part of a three year $25,000,000 plant expansion and improvement plan recently approved by the company's directors. Plans call for a one story factory with 320,000 square feet of space.

DAIRY AND POULTRY PRODUCTS IN STORAGE

Butter in storage in the United States on Jan. 1 was the third smallest in a decade at 41,590,000 pounds despite a sharp drop in demand during December and a total of only 26,008,000 pounds moving into consumer channels, the United States department of agriculture reported yesterday.

TO THE HOLDERS OF
The Electric Auto-Lite Company
4% Debentures Due 1952

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN that, pursuant to the provisions of Section 2 of Article Three of the Indenture dated as of February 1, 1937, between The Electric Auto-Lite Company and Central Hanover Bank and Trust Company, Trustee, The Electric Auto-Lite Company has elected to redeem and hereby calls for redemption on February 8, 1941 all of the $9,000,000 aggregate principal amount of the above mentioned 4% Debentures due 1952 presently issued and outstanding. On February 8, 1941 the above described Debentures will be due and payable at the principal office of Central Hanover Bank and Trust Company, 70 Broadway, New York, N. Y., and all interest thereon will cease to accrue from and after said date. Said Debentures are required to be presented, together with all interest coupons maturing subsequent to February 1, 1941, for redemption and payment at said principal office of Central Hanover Bank and Trust Company. Except as hereinafter provided, the interest coupons maturing February 1, 1941, appurtenant to said Debentures, will be paid apart from the Debentures to which they appertain. Debentures registered as to principal when presented for payment must be accompanied by appropriate instruments of assignment and transfer in blanks properly executed by the registered holder thereof and with signatures properly guaranteed.

The Debentures will be payable at 104% of the principal amount thereof, together with interest on such principal amount accrued to such redemption date in the amount of seventy-eight cents (78¢), in the case of the Debentures of the denomination of $1,000, and thirty-nine cents (39¢), in the case of the Debentures of the denomination of $500 (in each case exclusive of the amount of the interest coupons appurtenant thereto maturing February 1, 1941).

THE HOLDER OR REGISTERED OWNER OF ANY DEBENTURE MAY OBTAIN PAYMENT OF THE REDEMPTION AMOUNTS (TOGETHER WITH THE AMOUNT OF THE INTEREST COUPON APPURTENANT THERETO MATURING FEBRUARY 1, 1941, IF PRESENTED TOGETHER WITH SUCH DEBENTURE) AT ANY TIME ON OR AFTER THE DATE HEREOF UPON PRESENTATION OF SUCH DEBENTURE FOR REDEMPTION AND PAYMENT AS AFORESAID.

BUSINESS DONE BY CHECK UP IN FIRST 1941 WEEK

The Federal Reserve board reported yesterday that banks in 274 cities thruout the country cashed $10,701,000,000 of checks in the week ended Jan. 8, compared with $10,608,000,000 a week earlier and $8,427,000,000 last year.

In the seventh [Chicago] federal reserve district, business done by check declined 3.2 per cent during the week, but was 29.3 per cent larger than a year earlier. The total for 158 banks in 41 clearing house cities in the district was $1,586,570,000, compared with $1,638,204,000 the week before, and $1,226,595,000 last year.

For the 13 weeks ended Jan. 8, debits to deposit accounts totaled $18,332,978,000 in the seventh district, against $16,532,689,000 a year earlier, a gain of 10.9 per cent.

FEDERAL BUYING CHECKS DROP IN BUTTER PRICES

The government reëntered the Chicago wholesale butter market for relief supplies yesterday for the first time since last July, causing a rush to cover short sales of futures on the Chicago Mercantile exchange. The Surplus Marketing administration purchased 300 tubs of 92 score at 29¼ cents a pound.

The purchase lifted the price ¼ cent after it had sagged a full cent to the lowest since Nov. 1. Butter prices have been falling since mid-December and are 6¼ cents a pound under the three year peak set a month ago.

Before the SMA action, butter futures had dropped 0.45 to 0.75 cent a pound. Final prices were still 0.05 to 0.20 cent down. January deliveries showing the smaller loss at 29.70 cents.
